TO gather up the memorials of them who have gone before us, to reconstruct their living portraits is a work of time, of patience, and of unremitting toil; but once completed, the ancestral line will stand out clearly before us, the images of our fathers will tenderly live in our minds, and we shall reverently cherish their memories, as will likewise the generations to come.

From Family History and Its Uses,
By REV. EDMUND F. SLAFTER.

Foreword

When the compiler began to look up the different members of the various branches of this name who were strangers to her and her search, she had to make an explanation which ran something like this: The first I remember of being interested in this subject, was that, as a high school girl, I overheard an aunt (by marriage) ask my grandfather for data as to the Revolutionary ancestors of her children. This seems to have made an impression on me, for the next summer I asked my grandfather about those ancestors. Though I had heard him talk about his people for hours, it seemed to me, he said, "My child, I have forgotten"; but questions brought out a few facts which are the nucleus of my genealogy.

After I had been graduated and had taught a few years I went to live with a maternal aunt. Her husband, being a Maine man, was a born genealogist. He started me making a chart or pedigree, as it is called in Scotland where I am writing this. A few letters were written to ask for dates and information, then a snag was struck which was not cleared away until about twenty years later.

After my hearing became defective and I was forced to give up teaching, I took up the family history again at intervals until after my father's death. Since then my time has been devoted to travel and research and compiling the family history.

Most of the data have been gathered from the record offices of the localities of the original settlements in the United States and by visits to the families of the name who contributed copies of their family or Bible records. There is much that was gathered by some who have now passed to the Great Beyond.

The main settlements were made in New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, and North and South Carolina, these settlements having been made before the Revolution.

My ambition was to connect these lines into one genealogy and to trace it back to the origin in the MacDonald Clan. However, there are at least four generations missing between HUGH, first Chief of Sleat, and the earliest records and traditions to be found.

Just when they left the Islands is impossible to tell, but no doubt it was at the time of the diminishing of the power of the MacDonalds. From there they migrated to the mainland of Scotland, into Wigtownshire, Ayrshire, and Renfrewshire, and also to Ireland. The records for the Highlands do not begin until late, therefore we find earlier dates in Ayrshire than in Argyleshire and the Western Islands.

Probably from Cantyre there was a very early emigration to Southwestern Scotland, and from these emigrants the Wigtownshire and Ayrshire people have come. In Bradley's Guide to the Lowlands there is the following: "The most picturesque bit is at Scaur Bridge, half-a-mile beyong Penpont. On Tynron Doon, two-and-one-half miles further, tradition has it that Bruce abode for some time after murdering the Red Comyn at Dumfries." And in the Life of Burns which is printed in an early edition of his poems, there is quoted, from a letter by a Mr. Ramsey to the editor, the plot of a drama which Burns said he was going to write. It concerned Bruce and a shoemaker whose name was Robert Macqueechan. (In some parts of the South of Scotland, McQuistan is still pronounced Macqueechan by the country people.) In Tynron, Dumfriesshire, is Farm Maquiston, noted for its Ayrshire cattle.

In the Register of the Great Seal of Scotland, 1500 to 1600 or later, the documents are in Latin and the spelling of the prefix is "Mak." P. H. Mackerlie, in Lands of Galloway, says: "Mac is son of, in direct legitimate line. The letter 'k' not being in the Irish and Gaelic alphabets, 'c' is used as it sounds hard."

Mr. James B. Johnston, M.A., B.I., in the preface to The Scottish Macs, Their Derivation and Origin, seems to clear up some of our puzzles. He says: "Mac, of course, is the usual spelling of the Gaelic word for 'son.' Scots Gaelic is one of the 'k' or 'q' or 'c' group of Celtic languages. A great many of our Scottish Macs are first recorded in Ireland, where early records are far more abundant; and, through lack of evidence, it is often difficult to know whether a particular Mac-name is really Scots at all, or only a late importation from Erin's Isle. Communication between Ulster and Argyle or Galloway was both early and continuous. Many a name which, to the ordinary ear would sound pure Irish, turns up fairly early in Galloway or Ayr, which makes one cautious about dogmatizing. It is to be borne in mind that the 'c' in Mac has a habit of attaching itself to the next syllable. For the study of our early Macs at first hand, probably as enlightening as anything are the first two volumes of the Great Seal (Registrum Magni Sigilli Regum), which cover the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries or thereby, and give to us in their indexes a large variety of helpful forms."

The compiler had been, before she saw Mr. Johnston's book, following a name which appears in Wigtownshire in the Great Seal, as early as 1460, and which seemed to be an early version of our name. In the Scottish records the lineage could be traced for some six generations, then the line broke up and we were no longer able to verify it as being the same one we were able to pick up later, farther west in Wigtownshire, and to carry down to the present time.

Mr. Johnston went on to say in his preface that: "The copious index to the Annals of Ulster, compiled say about 1300 or later, also often throws a flood of light upon obscure spots. The forms are Irish, but that is next door to Scottish Gaelic—the race is the same."

He had worked out, in his book, this regarding the name McQuisten found in Ayr and Greenock—"from old Gaelic Huisdeinn; Gaelic Huisdean; 'Hugh,' really from Norse Eysteinn, common in place-names. In Manx now Coistain for MacCoistain." Huisdean or Uisden, pronounced in Gaelic, Wisdon—Mac Wisdon easily became MacQuiston. He had found in the village of Farr, in 1542, Kennedy M'Hustan, which he thought was probably the early form of our name; and in 1664, Don. McHoustone in Fincastle, Pitlochry.

The form McHutcheon was used in Wigtownshire, but we were not able to identify the name sufficiently to carry on the line until we came to Gilbert in Ayrshire. In the older records the old-fashioned "s" made like an "f" was used. The endings tein, tene, tine, ten, tin, and ton seem to have been used at random, and often the different endings were used with reference to the same person. Capital and small "q's" were both used.

In spelling the names of the Scotch families we have endeavored to set forth the spelling as found in the old records and to show the changes as they appeared. The ending "ton" seems to have been used quite early, and is now the most common one.

We can follow the development from the spelling McUistine to Macquistan; it is noticed that mcCuiston, found in Campbeltown, is also found in Ireland.

I am often asked why most of our families in the United States use "Mc" when in the early records the ancestor's name is spelled "Mac." I can only point out that there was a period of shortening and "purifying" names of excess letters. One hundred years ago the "Mac" names were more often written "M'," that is, M and an apostrophe instead of Mac. Now most of them, both in the United States and in Scotland, use Mc.

It has been difficult to note each individual variation of the name in the United States, and though an effort was made to follow the changes we doubt if we have been accurate at all times.

The record of the Scotch families is as complete as it could be made in the comparatively short time spent on this side. I have tried to include all detail for the assistance of anyone who may take up the search later.

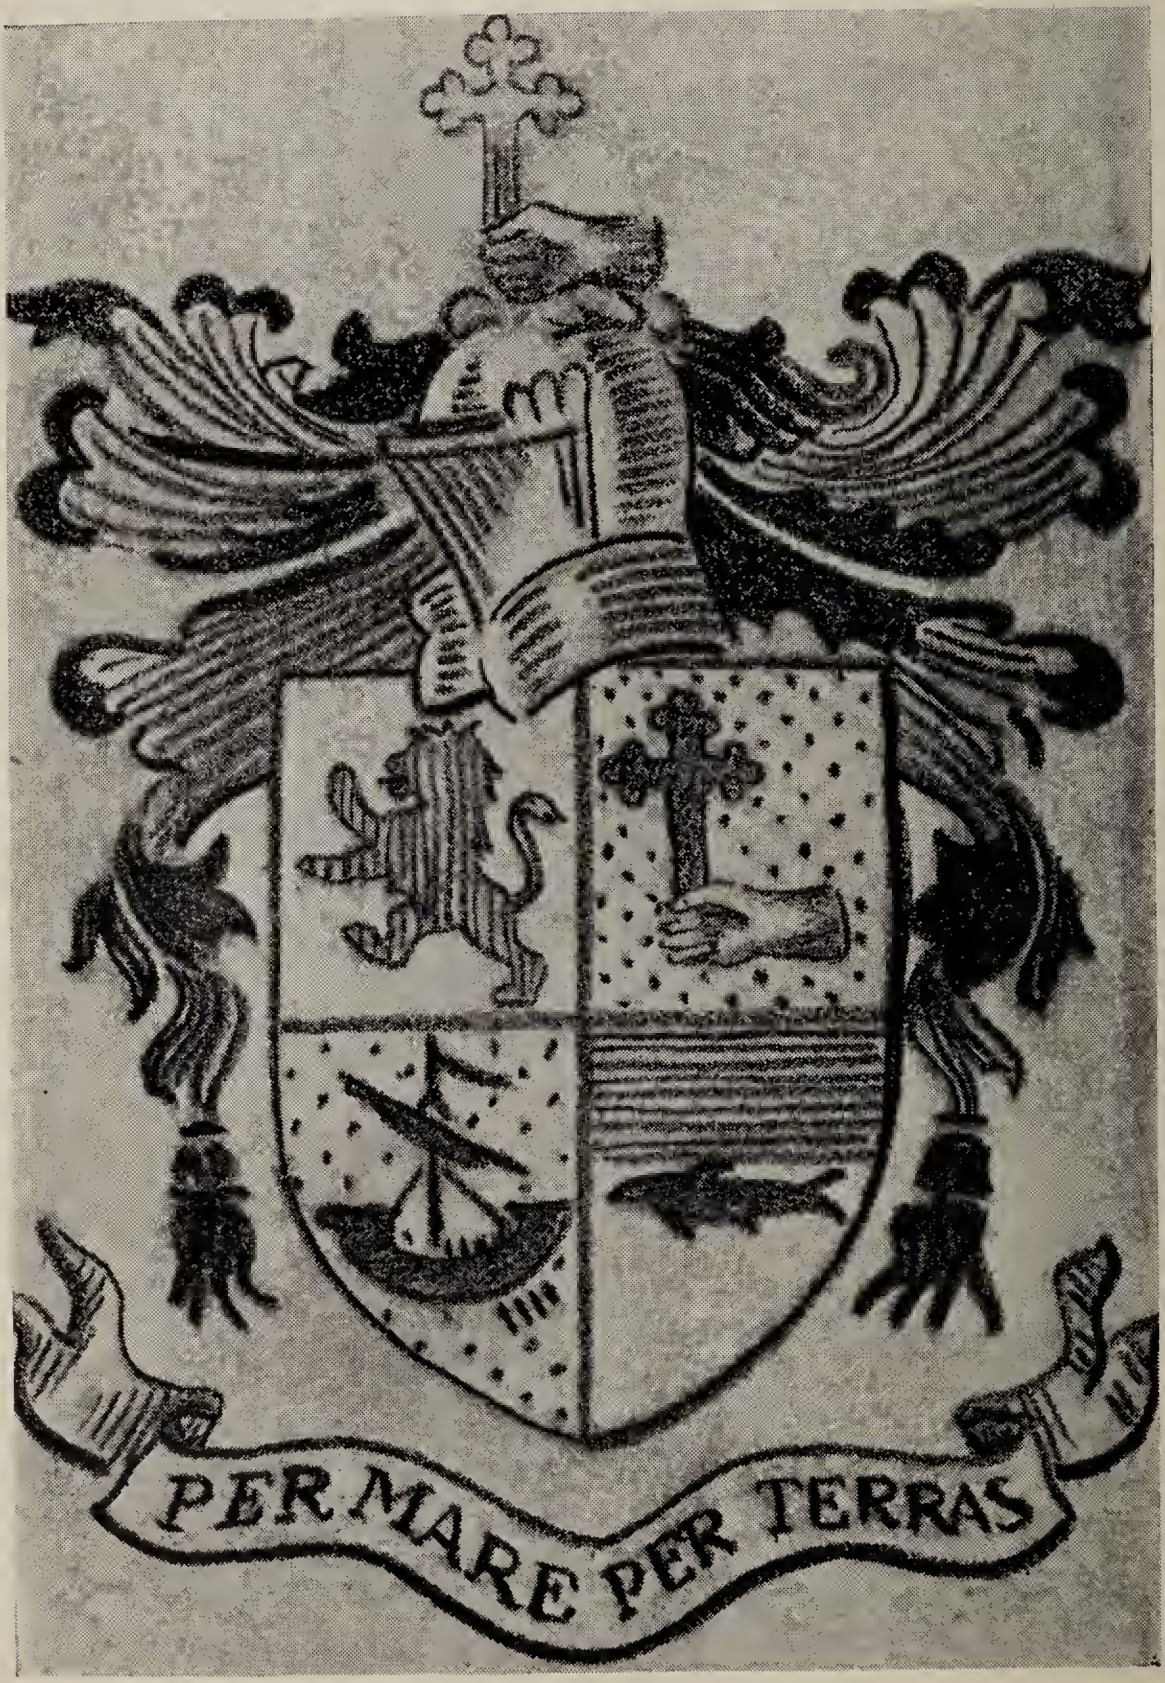
The early lines to the United States came by way of the North of Ireland; but the Irish record, which might have been of value, was destroyed with the burning of the Public Record Office in Dublin during the riots of 1921-2. Some data were found in Dublin Castle of Arms with the aid of Mr. Thomas U. Sadlier, also in the Historical Room of the Presbyterian Church House in Belfast with the aid of Miss J. Craig, the custodian. There are a few families residing in the counties of Londonderry and Antrim and in the city of Belfast.

There are more families in Scotland, mostly in Ayrshire and Glasgow, but no one could produce any very early record. Those families visited contributed their family records. The data from the Old Parish Registers were extracted by myself with the permission of Mr. H. Johnson, the chief clerk, and from the old records with the assistance of Mr. John Macleod and his sons. In all instances the usual fees were paid.

Edinburgh, October 1927. LEONA B. MCQUISTON.

P. S. So much material has accumulated that the daughters' grandchildren must be omitted from this volume. I hope that the many years of work and the many dollars spent in gathering the information will prove to be a benefit to the family as a whole.

Louisville, Ky., October 1937. L. B. McQ.



PER MARE PER TERRAS

THESE ARE THE ARMS OF CLAN MACDONALD OF SLEAT, OF WHICH McQUISTON IS A SEPT.

Origin of Name

From The Clans, Septs and Regiments of the Scottish Highlands, by Frank Adam. W. and A. K. Johnson, Edinburgh. 1908.

HEWISON, MACHUTCHEON, MACQUISTAN, etc.—These are all forms of the name Huistein or Hugh, and are derived from the name of Hugh, the progenitor of the MacDonalds of Sleat, who were otherwise known as the Clan Huistein.

Clan—MacDonald of the Isles and Sleat.

Highland Appellation—Clann Donuil Shleibhte.

Origin of Chief was—Celtic.

Heraldic Description of Armorial Bearings—Arms: Quarterly.

1, Argent, a lion rampant gules.

2, Or, a hand in armour holding a cross crosslet fitchy gules.

3, Or, a row galley (or lymphad) the sails furled sable.

4, Vert, a salmon naiant in fess proper.

Crest: A hand in armour holding a cross crosslet fitchy gules.

Supporters: Two leopards tenne, collared or, armed and langued gules.

Motto: "Per mare per terras." (By sea and land.)

COAT OF ARMS: A lion rampant, for the marriage of John of Isla with the Princess Margaret Stewart. A cross crosslet fitchy for Lordship of the Isles. The galley in the coat of arms of the chief of Sleat is supposed to represent the ship in which the three Princes Colla sailed over from Ireland to Scotland. Very early seals of the Lords of the Isles depict the galley with rowers in it.

From The Highland Clans of Scotland, by George Eyre-Todd.

MacQuistan—a sept of the Macdonald Clan.

NOTE: Sept, noun. A clan, race of family from a common progenitor; used of races or families in Scotland and Ireland (Olgivie).

Introduction

One of the more conspicuous characteristics of civilized man is a notable and well defined disposition to inquire diligently into all matters pertaining to the time, place, and nature of his origin. This propensity is laudable, but it is often pursued with an industry and zeal which frequently lead to abnormal results. When unduly cherished, it becomes a sort of obsession that generates a sickly pride which is positively repulsive and ultimately distinctly harmful.

The fear of such a possible result—the dread that the idle, the curious, the simple, and the silly, who in some measure are to be found in every large family, will be disposed to drag out, parade, and possibly strive to make merchandise of family heritage or clan distinction—has made the writer pause long and thoughtfully before accepting the honor and assuming the responsibility of writing this introductory chapter. It is not here intentionally intimated that the family to whose history this book is devoted is by any means ignorant of its ancestral heritage. Yet it is a fact nevertheless that the information possessed by most of its members is of a nebulous sort, derived in considerable measure from tradition. A real need for authentic information is recognized, for unhappily tradition is neither a wise counselor nor a safe leader. The purpose uppermost in the mind of the compiler while preparing the matter for this book has been to take nothing for granted, to accept no tradition however flattering or romantic which was not consonant with reason and supported by sustaining facts. The writer of these introductory lines is actuated by the same high ideal.

Perfect candor, therefore, requires that the statement be made that the family to whom this book is devoted cannot now be absolutely identified with the great Macdonald clans by a perfect chain of ancestral links. While this is true, it may also be said with perfect fairness that there are so many marks and evidences of unquestioned identity that there can hardly be a legitimate doubt of any sort in the mind of even a casual reader of the more authentic histories of the Highland Clans.

The large family now to be found in almost every quarter of the world and variously known and designated as Macquisten, McCuistion, McQuesten, McQuiston, and more than a dozen other forms are all one. They are certainly descended from Hugh of Sleat and are by virtue of that fact members of Clan Uisdein. This is known by the fact that all these names and many more such as Houston, Hutchison, and others too numerous to mention mean the same as Uisdein—that is, the sons of Hugh. All Scotch historians, recognized as authorities, so far as the writer has been able to read or learn, agree perfectly as a matter of fact that Clan Uisdein are descendants of Hugh, Son of Alexander, Earl of Ross, and Lord of the Isles. The home of this clan, or the headquarters, as we would say, during the earlier years of its history as a separate organization was the fort of Dunskaich, South of Sleat. Hugh of Sleat (pronounced Slate) died in 1498, but the year of his birth is not definitely known though it is believed to have been during 1460.

While this in a general way will suggest the time and origin of the family known as MacQuiston, etc., its forbears can be distinctly traced to a period far more remote. This family is simply a branch of what is now known as Clan Donald and is also commonly known as the MacDonalds of the Isles. This latter designation does not unchanged reach back to the almost prehistoric past where the great Clan family is lost sight of in the shadows of departed years.

Clan Donald, the strongest and most powerful of all the great Highland Clans, traces both its origin and history back to Conn-Ceud-Chatchach, or Constantinus Centimachus, "Conn of the Hundred Fights," who was one of the greatest heroes of antiquity and Ard Righ or Supreme King of Ireland, in the second century of our era. His court and capitol were at the ancient city or center at Tara in what is now known as County Meath in Ireland. The old site is yet visited as a place of interest; its earthworks and the ruins of its ancient palace are still traceable after the lapse of nearly two thousand years.

The Irish historians tell us that the fourth in descent from Conn was Eochaid Dubhlin, also a King of Ireland, who married a Scottish Princess by name Aileach. They tell us that she was the daughter of the King of Alba, "a mild true woman, modest and blooming." This royal couple had three sons all named Colla, but each had another name attached. This name is thought to mean a strong man.

These three Princes all received extensive land grants or settlements in Scotland probably through their mother, who came from that country. The oldest of these three brothers gave up his grant after a residence there covering a period of some fifteen years and returned to Tara. It may have been to succeed his father. The two brothers who remained became the nucleus of what was in ancient times called the Clan Colla.

In the eighteenth generation from the Colla brothers came a ruler who stands out in history in rather bold relief. This king was the well known historic character Godfrey MacFergus. His title was Toshach, meaning Ruler of the Isles. This would seem to indicate that the Clan Colla had grown strong enough to assert kingship over all, or at least a large portion of, the Hebrides or Western Isles.

But from A.D. 880, and some think even an earlier period, the Vikings from the North began with greater or less frequency to rule the inhabitants of these Western Isles. From 880 through several centuries there was a continuing story of ceaseless warfare with literally hundreds of bloody battles, which sometimes almost exterminated the participants in these bloody forays.

This work of extermination had turned so heavily upon the descendants of Godfrey MacFergus that his descendant Gilledomnan then ruling was forced to flee for his life and took refuge in Ireland, the land of his ancestors. His daughter married Harold Gillis, the King of Norway. Gillebride, a brother of the girl, made a desperate effort to recover the lost possessions of his father, but he was not successful and was finally driven to take refuge in a cave, where he lived for years. Among his sons was one called Somerled who was celebrated alike for his personal charm, strength, and courage. It is he around whom historians have woven many of the most romantic achievements which it has ever fallen to the lot of any man to accomplish. The story of his life is one of the most heroic to be found in all literature. The marriage of Somerled to Ragnhildis, the daughter of Olave the Red, whom he won by strategy, gave the world through their children the great MacDonald Clans.

In this noble race is mingled the best blood lines of antiquity. In the race of Somerled there are the noblest streams of the Celt, the Vikings, and the Scot. It is small wonder that Sir Walter Scott, the prince of the romantic and heroic in song and story, called his last great poem "Lord of the Isles." In it he refers to the then reigning Lord of the Isles in the two following quotations:

> "The heir of mighty Somerled,
> Ronald, from many a hero sprung,
> The fair, the valiant and the young,
> Lord of the Isles whose lofty name
> A thousand bards have given to fame.
> The mate of Monarchs, and Allied
> On equal terms with England's pride."
>
> "Fill me the mighty cup, he said,
> Erst owned by royal Somerled;
> Fill it, till on the studded brim
> In burning gold the bubbles swim.
> And every gem of varied shine > Glow doubly bright in rosy wine."

The failure of the loyal Scots in their endeavor to restore Bonnie Prince Charlie to the throne of his fathers was the last straw which broke the camel's back. All hope was now gone. Repressive laws were passed which made the wearing of the Clan tartan a crime punishable by imprisonment and banishment. This shattered the Clan system as a living institution and thousands of noble Highlanders sought refuge in foreign lands.

The scattering of the Clans through the Disarming Act and other repressive measures together with the scattering of great numbers by religious persecutions, constitute some of the saddest chapters to be found in all history. These forced dispersions and oppressions have left many Clansmen without deeded links to fully and perfectly establish Clan identity. Though exiles and refugees in many lands, these noble Scots, these "children of the mist," still love and revere the home land of their fathers, and if possible even more the Kilts and Tartans worn by their loved Clan in the long ago.

Such a heritage is a proud possession for any family, but one entirely too sacred to unfold for the purpose of parade or show. It should only be used about the family fireside as a source of inspiration and for the promotion of laudable ambitions in each rising generation.

1. "THOMAS M'QUESTIN, born 1769; died the 28 Oct. 1814, aged 45 years at Balwhirn," is the information on his tombstone. William of Dyrock, Prestwick, the historian of this part of the family, wrote the compiler in 1923: "Rumor has it that our ancestors did come from the North of Ireland, landing at Ballantrae." Thomas was, no doubt, the son of some of the family who went to Ireland from Scotland at an earlier date. William wrote also: "My father told me of a brother of his who went to America eighty years ago; his name was Archibald or Archie." When the compiler talked to William in 1927 he said it was a cousin, not a brother. The Archibald in the 1840 Census for Preble County, Isreal Township, Ohio, may be the one. This Archibald was never placed nor traced.

Thomas' farm "Hecklebirnie" is now a part of the parish of Tradunoch. He married Helen Hunter, born 1769; she died 1 July 1847, aged 78 years. They are buried in the churchyard of Kirkmichael, parish of Maybole. Issue, born in that parish:

Mr. John Drynan of Knockiebay, who made the speech at the presentation of easy chairs given by the congregation of New Luce, United Free Church, to Mr. and Mrs. M'Quistin. "During his fifty years' connection with the church, Mr. M'Quistin has filled every position but that of minister. His longest term was as precentor; in addition he was nine years on the old Parish Board, thirty on the Parish Council, twenty-four on the School Board, and six years on the Educational Committee; and at seventy-two or so he is still going strong. He is tall, wiry, and firm-eyed. His reminiscences in returning thanks would have been better worth broadcasting than most of the matter put over today." The editor speaks of the wife of "Balniel" as a Mother in Israel, on whose lips is the law of kindness to all around. He describes Balniel, the house, as "a plain solid [stone] farmhouse, in a scant belt of trees on the ridge, with the upland moors behind it, and the vale of Luce in front and below." Issue:

Emigration to Ireland and America

Very little contact between the American immigrants and either Scotland or Ireland can be found. The best we can do is to give an outline of the conditions of the period between the time of the decline of the MacDonald Clan and emigration to the American Colonies.

Very early—before the birth of Hugh who became first Chief of Sleat—some of the MacDonald Clan went into Ireland. The leadership of the Clan descended from John, first Lord of the Isles, through his son, Donald, who died in 1420. The second son, John Mor, was the ancestor of Sorley Buidhe (or Buy), and this line of "McDonnals" became the Earls of Antrim. Archibald, a grandson of Hugh, first chief of Sleat, is first on record as going to Ireland to help his kinsman Sorley Buidhe MacDonald, whose tomb may be seen in the ruins of the church, Bonnie Margy, at Ballycastle. George Hill in The MacDonnells of Antrim says: "Donald Gorm of Sleat sent aid in the way of soldiers to the Earl of Antrim whose territory embraced the parish of Bellymoney. This was in 1641." We have no information that anyone in our name went to Ireland with these soldiers.

Our traditions, many of them, refer to the Plantation of Ulster which took place about this time. To explain this let us refer to history:

> "The reign of James I. began in 1603. On the death of Elizabeth, the last of the Tudors, James VI. of Scotland became king of Great Britain under the title James I. Elizabeth had carried out, during her time, the rigorous and unrelenting policy of her father, Henry the VIII, in harassing and persecuting her Catholic subjects, and especially the Irish portion of them. By this means the spirit of rebellion was fostered, not subdued, in that unfortunate island. The Irish conspirators and rebels, Tyrone and Tyrconnel of Ulster and others, having either fled from their country or having been slain in the several contests in which they were engaged, a very large section of the Province of Ulster, covering six counties, equal to half a million of acres, reverted to the crown. It became very important to James, to repeople this deserted territory, not only with loyal subjects but with those of the Protestant faith. Therefore, in the early part of the 17th century, he parceled out that part of Ireland to Scottish and English subjects, to settle on as crown tenants, at a nominal rent. This is known in history as the Plantation of Ulster."

The following list of the Scottish Undertakers of the Londoner's Plantation made by the King and his Council in London in 1610, is taken from the Register of the Privy Council of Scotland.

> "3010 acres, Haberdasher's Hall: Sir Robert MacLellan of Bombay, lessee; strong castle, no bawn; able to produce 80 men with arms. 3010 acres, Clothworker's Hall. Sir Robert MacLellan, lessee: stone castle. 3010 acres, Skinner's Hall; Lady Dodington, widow of Sir Edward Dodington, deceased, lessee; 2 strong castles and stone bawns; 2 villages of 12 houses each; 7 free-holders, 8 lessees, 12 cottages able to produce 80 men with arms."

Douglas' Scots Peerage gives us this:

> "Robert Maclellan of Bombie (made Sir Robert by 1607) was one of the Adventurers for the Plantation of Ireland. In 1610, September 19, he was granted the Rosses, County Donegal, erected into a manor, to be held as the Castle of Dublin, in common soccage. In 1625 he had a commission to raise 50 horse and 100 foot for service in that country. These he later conveyed to John Murray, afterwards made Earl of Annandale. He took also Ballycastle, County Londonderry, an estate belonging to the Haberdasher's Company, extending to 3210 acres, for sixty-one years, and the clothworker's estate in the same county, for a similar term. Created Lord Kircudbright, 25 June 1633, died 1638-9. His second wife was a daughter of Hugh, Vicount Montgomery of the Great Ards."

In the list with Sir Robert MacLellan was James Hamilton, Earl of Abercorn. He was the power of the Hamiltons in Renfrewshire and was the agent of James I. at Dublin. He and Hugh Montgomery, the Lord of Braidstone in Ayrshire, settled the O'Neill lands in the north half of County Down. Both were Ayrshire men. Hamilton belonged to the family of Dunlop; Montgomery belonged to a family having numerous connections throughout North Ayrshire and Renfrewshire, and to them he turned for assistance. His principal supporters were his kinsmen, Thomas Montgomery and John Shaw, son of the laird of Wester Greenock. The emigrants began to cross, May 1606.

The following bit of history was given the compiler while visiting the village. Dungiven, in Irish Dun-geimhim, the "munitio pellium," a fort of hides, of Colton's Visitation, fell, by a quaint chance, to the Skinner's of London at the Ulster Plantation. The Skinner's Castle and bawn stood at the head of the main street of the town, opposite to the Protestant Church.

The Castle was still standing in Dungiven in 1926. It was being converted into a boys' school by a Mr. McClosky.

The Muster Rolls of the Province of Ulster contain the record of our name. British Museum Additional Manuscripts: 4770 folio 117—Londonderry County. Among the names of the men in arms of Sir Robert Makklelan, knight, chiefe tenant to the company of Haberdasher's, were: John mk Quefton and Alexander mkQuefton. There is no date attached to this list but it is believed to have been made in 1631. In the same manuscript was: County Antrim, Barony of Glenarm. British Subjects of the Earl of Antrim: James mk Qui ton. Folio 193—Barony de Raphoe. The Earl of Annandale. Barony de Boylagh and Bannagh; Patrick mk Huthin and Robert mk Hutkhon. Folio 228—County Downe. The Lord Vicount of Ardes. Thomas mk Hutkhon. Sword only.

The compiler searched the rolls for the town and Liberty of Coleraine in Londonderry, the city and Liberty of Londonderry, the fishmongers, merchant-taylors, and ironmongers companies. The compiler was first shown a copy of the lists by Miss J. Craig in the Historical Room of the Presbyterian Church House in Belfast and later saw the manuscripts in the Museum.

After the Restoration, when Charles II. attempted to introduce Episcopacy into Scotland, many of the Covenantors took refuge in the North of Ireland. Later the dissatisfied Seceders followed.

Nearly all the Scotch who settled in the North of Ireland at the time of the first Plantation of Ulster, 1606-1625, came from the Western Lowland counties of Scotland, lying on the opposite coast and less than thirty miles distant from County Downe. The greater part of them came from Ayrshire and Galloway, counties which were a part of the ancient kingdom of Strathclyde. In 1205, during the reign of William the Lion, many Normans and English went into Scotland, therefore the dweller in that part of the country probably had French and English blood in his veins.

There was, in addition to the settlers from southwestern Scotland or the Lowlands, a large immigration from Argyleshire, many of whom settled on the river Bann or became citizens of Londonderry, when it was in its infancy. They migrated in 1612 to the County of Antrim as well as to Londonderry and were foremost in the memorable siege of Londonderry, by which Papal restoration in England, under James II. was successfully resisted.

A search in the Hearth Rules for Londonderry for 1663 did not reveal anyone of our name. Each householder—or chimney—was taxed. There were almost no houses outside the walls even fifty years later.

Woodburn, in The Ulster Scot, says:

> "In the early years of the 17th Century the Route (North Antrim between the river bush and the sea) was occupied by settlers who came mainly from Argyleshire. Some of these were Lowland Scots who settled in Kintyre for a few years, and crossed from thence to the north of Antrim. They came in large numbers, for before the middle of that century we find at least three strong Presbyterian congregations in this district—Ballymoney, Dervock, and Bushmills. There has been much emigration to other countries, especially to the United States of America, but in spite of that the Presbyterian church is predominant just in those districts where we know that the Scottish Lowlanders settled."

We note the next appearance of our name in Walker's True Account of the Siege of Londonderry, 1689, edited by Dwyer. "Survivors of the brave men who defended Londonderry and who signed an address to William and Mary on the 29th July 1689, immediately after the siege was raised." Daniel Monf Cuiftion. Graham, in his edition, writes the name Daniel McCuistion.

Refer back to James Hamilton, eldest son of Claud, Lord Paisley, one of the undertakers for the Plantation of Ulster in 1611. (Privy Council, Reg., IX, 80.) He had become Earl of Abercorn, Baron of Paisley, Hamilton, etc., in 1606. He was appointed agent of King James in 1615 and given a grant of a small portion of 1000 acres called Strabane. (County, Tyrone.) There he built a very strong castle, a schoolhouse, and a church round which the town was built.

His younger brother, Sir Frederick Hamilton, was in early life in the service of Gustavus Adolphus, King of Sweden. When his service was terminated, he too became established in Ireland where he died leaving three sons, the youngest of whom was Gustavus born in 1642. He became a military man and the next reference to our name is found in his regiment.

It is from the English Army Lists and Commission Registers. 1661-1714, Vol. IV, 1694-1702, p. 181. Scots Establishment. Col. Gustavus Hamilton's Regt. of Foot. The Captain was to be Fred Hamilton; vice, Arthur Webb. Dated Kensington, 1 April 1702. Jno. Macuistian to be Quarter Master. Dated Kensington, 21 April 1702. A note referring to Vol. III says that he had been placed on half-pay as Ensign in 1698: Ensign 10 November 1699. Reappointed Quarter Master to the above regiment. 2 June 1702. A note, same volume, about Fred Hamilton says: Placed on Half-pay 1698. Appointed Capt. in the Royal Regiment of Foot of Ireland, 6 June 1701. Transferred to Col. Gustavus Hamilton's Regiment, 1 March 1702. Served at Cadiz in 1702, but had the Queen's leave to be absent from his Regiment when it was sent to the West Indies in the same year. Serving in Ireland in 1706. And on p. 227: Col. Gustavus Hamilton's Regiment of Foot. Jno. McCuistion to be Ensign to Capt. Jas. Ash. Dated Kensington 10 November 1702. And from the same authority, under British forces in the West Indies. Vol. V., 1702-1707. Irish Establishment. Col. Gustavus Hamilton's Regt. of Foot. March 1702. Supplementary Commission. Jno. McCuistion to be Quarter Master. Note says they embarked for Cadiz and the West Indies in July 1702. Dated St. Jame's 2 June 1702.

The Parish Registers printed by the Society of Dublin are the source of a name probably meant for ours. We find it in Vol. III. The Registers of Derry Cathedral (S. Columb's). Parish of Templemore, Londonderry. 1642-1703. Marriages in 1699. John MecCustin of the Parish of Dungiven, Isabella Crelon of the Parish of Boveva, were married by License by Mr. James Shipton, January ye 9th.

We have no information as to whether this was John McCuistion of the Army Registers.

In the Parish of Templemore were rural deaneries: Aghadowey—Kilrea. Dunboe—Faughanvale, Balteagh, Bovevaugh, Drumachose, Dunboe, Tamlaght, Finlagan. Cumber—Dungiven, Banagher. The last became a distinct charge in 1755. Boveva became Scriggan in 1774; Scriggan and Dungiven were united, and were in the parish of Banaghar. Aghadowey was in the barony of Coleraine. Drumachose, in the barony of Keenaught. Cumber in the barony of Annaght, now Tykeeran.

The Presbyterian Historical Society in Belfast gave us this which was from the Session Book of the Congregation of Connor: Among those present at the session beginning April 1700 was John Mcquiften. He attended until October 1715 when the records became incomplete. The minister of this congregation was Rev. Robert Murdock who died in 1702. This fact is noted because of the name Murdock among the South Carolina families, who left the church of Kells in the parish of Connor.

The next reference to our name was in a Scrapbook in the Historical Society: A churchwarden in the established church, parish of Banagher, as James McQueston, 1707.

We find in the records of the General Synod of Ulster, 1691-1820. Vol. I. At Belfast, June 21, 1710, present from County of Monaghan, representing his pastor, Rev. John M'Gachine; David M'Quistin. Mr. Charles Bolton in his Scotch-Irish Pioneers, 1910, under subtitle, "Home Towns of Ulster Families, 1691-1718," seems to have found a little further information regarding this man. He has: David McQuiston, Ruling Elder, Enniskillen, Fermanaugh, 1710.

Diocese of Derry. Derry Wills. Date of Will, 1719. M'Cuiston, Thomas (Yoeman). Knockan, County of Londonderry.

The following is the only other reference to our name until after the early American settlements of 1730-35. Among the Alumni of Trinity College, University of Dublin. 1595-1846. John McQuistin, Pensioner (Rev. Mr. Ford, Dublin). Entered 14 May 1730, aged 18; son of Adam, generosus; born St. Yago in the Island of Jamaica. Adam would be about the same generation as John of the Army lists.

This reminds the compiler that one of her Scotch correspondents asked her if she had touched the Spanish form, Macquistani. He suggested that they were emigrants from the West of Scotland or leavings of the Peninsular War. She had never heard of this form and has no record of them.

Conditions in Ireland led to a second migration, this time to the American Colonies. There were material as well as religious causes for this. By 1700 the Scotch in Ireland numbered a million and they carried with them their fondness for education and love for liberty. They were thrifty and industrious and they prospered. The province of Ulster became a flourishing and enlightened part of the "Green Isle" where the Presbyterians obtained control. Their prosperity excited the jealousy of their British rivals in manufacture and the British Parliament began to pass laws restricting their woolen trade, so the Scotch-Irish, as they were afterwards called, began to leave Ireland. Not content with oppressive taxation Parliament began to interfere with the religion of the Ulsterites. They were forbidden to have school teachers of their own and forbidden to hold any office higher than that of petty constable. Their ministers were forbidden to perform the marriage ceremony, and when they did perform it the marriage was declared illegal. Another writer says they were obliged to support a minister of the established Church of England.

One authority on these migrations says that the Scotch-Irish began to arrive in America in 1710. Hanna says, 1715—which was the year of the first Jacobite Rebellion in Scotland. The earliest colonists in our name followed in the trail of those who arrived in 1718, and came from the same region.

The Dublin Registry of Deeds, 1708-1738, was searched for the counties of Londonderry, Antrim, and Down, and Enniskillen in Fermanaugh, to try to find the homes of the family in Ireland.

"Three hundred and nineteen signed a petition addressed to Gov. Samuel Shute to be allowed to settle in Massachusetts. Some were natives of Scotland whose heads had passed over into Ulster during the short reign of James II. These were Covenanters. They had lived together in the valley of the Bann Water for about thirty years, in or near the towns or parishes of Coleraine and Ballymoney, Ballymena, Ballynatch, and Kilrea. Their pastor was James McGregor. They or their fathers had felt the edge of the sword of Graham of Claverhouse in Argyleshire. Others of the company were the descendants of those who participated in the original "Colonization of Ulster," which dates from 1610. Others were progeny of those Scotchmen and Englishmen whom Cromwell transplanted at the middle of the century—also possibly a few Celtic-Irish."—From Perry's Scotch-Irish in New England.

"Hon. Richard Jackson, who was nominated for Parliament by the town of Coleraine in 1712, was also agent for the Irish Society of London. Those who signed the petition were Mr. Jackson's tenants. They lived along the road from Down Hill to Coleraine and it goes through the best part of the clothworker's proportion. A number had been among the defenders at Londonderry in 1689, and these, with their heirs, were freed by an act of Parliament from taxation in British provinces. Later, in America, their descendants occupied what were known until the Revolution as 'exempt farms.' The emigrants reached Boston, August 4, 1718. Few remained in Boston but went to the frontier, two or three hundred left for Casco Bay, now Portland, Me. They suffered much from the severity of the season, and in the spring some of them entered the Merrimac River and came to Haverhill. Here they heard of a fine tract of unoccupied land in New Hampshire, called Nutfield and having examined the place decided to settle there. The main body of emigrants had retired from Boston and passed the winter on the frontiers at Dracut and Andover. They soon joined those who went to Nutfield. Their settlement was given the name of Londonderry, in honor of the city in Ulster which had been made famous by the bravery of their fathers."—From Scotch-Irish by Hanna.

Rev. Mr. Edward L. Parker in his Century Sermon says:

"Influenced by the representations of one Holmes, a young man, son of a clergyman, who had been in New England, his father with three other Presbyterian ministers—James Gregore, William Cornwell, and William Boyd—with a large number of their congregations—resolved on a removal.

"Having converted their substance into money, they immediately embarked in five ships for America. About one hundred families arrived at Boston (Aug. 4, 1718). Twenty families more, in one of the vessels, landed at Casco Bay, now Portland, Me. Among the latter number were the families who commenced this settlement, Londonderry, N. H. They accordingly, as soon as spring opened, left Casco Bay and arrived at Haverhill on the second day of April 1719. They settled and on Apr. 12, Rev. James McGregore delivered the first discourse. The Rev. Jas. McGregore had followed the Rev. Thomas Boyd at Aghadowey, a small Londonderry village whose name means 'Duffy's field.' He was ordained June 25, 1701, and came to Boston, August 4, 1718."

Belnap, speaking of the first settlers of Londonderry, N. H., says:

"These people brought with them the necessary materials for the manufactures of linen; and their spinning-wheels turned by foot were a novelty in the country. They introduced, also, the culture of potatoes, which were first planted in the garden of Nathaniel Walker of Andover."

Rev. Parker in his History of Londonderry says: "John Anderson with his wife and family came from the North of Ireland and settled Londonderry, N. H., as early as 1725; their children, John, James, Robert, and Jane, came with the parents. James married Isobel McQueston in the year 1728, and had nine children: Jane, Hugh, Sarah, Mary, James, John, William, Maryann, and Joseph." This statement is verified in the History of Windham, N. H., p. 307.

The Londonderry, N. H., Vital Records by Annis contain the following: "Born to John Anderson and Wife: Robert born Apr. 1, 1706; James born Jan. 28, 1709-10; John born Apr. 20, 1722, Ann born Apr. 20, 1722, Twin."

In Forrest Hill Cemetery, Londonderry, N. H., once known as Old Burying Ground, are the stones marked: "James Anderson born 1710—died 1781. Isabel Anderson born 1713—died 1788, wife."

The families of the 1718 immigration who remained in Boston united with the followers, chiefly Scotch, of Rev. John Moorhead who arrived in 1727 from Ireland and established a Presbyterian church in Boston. Rev. Moorhead and his followers had lived in and about Londonderry in Ireland and had been driven from the country by exorbitant rents. They purchased a lot of ground at the corner of Bury Street and Long Lane and converted a barn which stood on the ground into a meeting-house. This was in 1729, and this humble edifice served them for a place of worship until 1744; although in the meantime two small additions in the shape of wings were added to it. In the year 1744 a substantial and convenient church was built, after the fashion of the churches of that time. And with that old church there is much of interest associated. It was within its walls that Delegates met in Convention to decide whether Massachusetts should accept of the Federal Constitution proposed for the United States. And it was here that it was finally accepted on the seventh of February 1788. It was owing to this circumstance that the name of Long Lane was changed to that of Federal Street. This church became Congregational in 1786, and Unitarian in 1816. The church in Federal Street was the thirteenth religious society in Boston. There were twelve elders, corresponding to the number of districts or sections into which the congregation was divided. Mr. Moorhead, whose settlement took place Mar. 30, 1730, was most cordially attached to his flock, and they cherished for him a reciprocal affection. He died Dec. 2, 1773, having preached the Sunday before.

The Boston Records produce the next mention of the name found by the compiler in America. It is from the Index to Other Persons, Suffolk County, Massachusetts, Court House, 1639-1799. Blair to Blair. Vol. 46, p. 47. "Brice Blair, Boston, County of Suffolk, and province of Massachusetts Bay in New England, Taylour. Have . . . etc. . . . power of Attorney to wife Ann Blair now remaining in Boston. In presence of James MacQuistion and Robert Kemon. 17 October 1729."

The records of the Federal Church furnish the next data of interest:

List of all the adult persons and infants to whom baptism has been administered by the Rev. Mr. John Moorhead, as taken from his own Manuscript, and faithfully inscribed by Hector mcNeill, for the benefit of the Presbyterian Society in Boston. Baptisms begin Apr. 16, 1730.

1731, Apr 25. James MacQuiftion, a daughter Baptised Margaret.

1731, Aug 29. James MacQuiftion, a daughter Baptised Rachel.

1733, Aug 9. William MacQuiftion, a son Baptised William.

1737, Mrch 3. William MacQuiftion, a daughter Baptised Margaret.

After the above the next instance of finding our name, except for the mention of William McQuesten coming to America in 1730, is found in the Probate Records of Chester County, Pa., administrations as follows: David McCuistion, Apr. 19, 1732, Andrew Vance, Administrator.

New Hampshire Line

1. WILLIAM MCQUESTEN emigrated from Scotland to the North of Ireland near the close of the seventeenth century; from there to America, and was a resident of Medford, Massachusetts, in 1730. Usher says about Medford:

> "The first settlers were from Suffolk, Essex and Lincolnshire in England. When some of the 'Scotch-Irish' who settled Londonderry, N. H., in 1719 became dissatisfied with that place they came into this quarter, and many of them settled in Medford. They were as scrupulous about bounds and limits in these wilds as they had been in Scotland; hence the remarkable stone walls which still stand to testify to their industry. They were Scotch Presbyterians in religion; and the Rev. Mr. Morehead of Boston frequently came to preach for them."

1730 was the year Rev. Morehead became pastor of a society, "Church of Presbyterian Strangers," which became the Federal Church of Boston. He and his followers came from somewhere near Londonderry, in 1727. It is possible that William McQuesten came with him, or he may have come with a group who came the next year. The Mellon Family says: "Thomas Mellon, born in County Antrim, 1698, arrived in Boston 1728." With the McQuesten stones is one marked "Elizabeth Mellen," nothing is known about her in the family. If William came in 1728, probably Isabel McQueston who married James Anderson was a daughter.

Some of the New Hampshire family think that brothers of William came with him, and not liking the climate went farther south. James, of the Suffolk County, Massachusetts, Court Records, 1729, and the Baptismal Records, 1731, may have been one of these.

William was evidently William MacQuistion, whose son William and daughter Margaret were baptised by Rev. Moorhead (Morehead).

It is thought that William left Coleraine, County Derry. The parishes of Coleraine and Aghadowey are close to each other, if not adjoining. Those who settled Londonderry, New Hampshire, in 1719, were from Aghadowey.

William's great-great-grandson, Dr. Eugene F. McQuesten, visited Ireland in 1882. He left some notes which indicate that he visited John McQuiston. The notes say:

> "John McQuiston, 73 years old, Decorator, 12 William Street, South Belfast. His father and grandfather were born in Drumbridge, near Lisburn, four or five miles from Belfast. His great-grandfather [great-great-great, is suggested by the compiler], Bruce McQuiston, was of the original Scottish emigrants from Argyleshire, Scotland, and attained the age of 93. The Scottish family name was McUisthon. Records of births and deaths and a deed in possession of John McQuiston represent the name prior to 1748 in Ireland as McQueston. Quite a number of the descendants live in Coleraine, Ireland."

Dr. E. F.'s diary contained the following information: Wm. McQuesten (4) was son of Wm. McQuesten (3) of Londonderry, Ireland. He was son of William McQuesten who married Jane Parks. If the grandfather of William, the immigrant to America, was a major-general (as the diary stated), the records of the Scottish and British Army are not early enough to throw any light on the tradition. Parks is a Renfrewshire name. It will be remembered that the Hamiltons of Renfrewshire were prominent in army history of Ireland. The grandfather would be about the same generation as Gilbert M'Queistein who died in Ayrshire in 1630, and about the same generation as James, First Earl of Abercorn, who died 1618.

A history by Stearne says William removed to Litchfield, Hillsboro County, New Hampshire, about 1735. Mrs. J. F. Center's notes say he settled in Litchfield, in 1743. The New Hampshire Province Deeds show that he bought his land in 1744.

William McQuesten remained in Litchfield, N. H., all his life and was a man of "Sterling sense and integrity." He held various offices of trust, among which was town clerk, March 29, 1770 to March 1, 1776, and the records bear witness of his faithfulness.

There is a tradition, pretty well known among the descendants, that William was born in Scotland, both Argyleshire (N. H. Histories) and Ayrshire (Geo. D.) mentioned, and that he remained in Ireland only one year before coming to New England. Histories of New Hampshire say he married Margaret Arbuckle.

We have no further information of her. Savage's General Dictionary of New England gives: William Arbuckle, Boston, 1684. Robert Arbuckle was an old settler in Londonderry, N. H., as is shown on the plats of the settlement. He was possibly the father of Margaret. It is quite probable that William Arbuckle, who settled in Merrimack previous to 1748, and his sister who married Wm. McCluer, Sarah who married Hugh Gillis, and Elizabeth, born on the ocean, who married Wm. Patterson were brothers and sisters of Margaret Arbuckle. The name William Patterson is found on some of the deeds of the McQuestens.

William McQuesten died August 26, 1769, aged 84 years. Mrs. Margaret McQuesten died July 29, 1776, aged 88 years. Their tombstones were removed with the bodies from the River Cemetery to the North Cemetery. Those in the cemetery are William, Margaret (wife of William), and John. There is also a small headstone, marked Mary McQuestin, no dates.

We have found no record of the family. The History of Bedford, New Hampshire, published in 1850, says: "He had three sons and five daughters, all married, one of whom was the maternal grandparent of Com. David Porter; another sustained the same relation to Mr. Robert Burnes, a native of Bedford, whose early death occurred in this town while a member of Dartmouth College." Several notes among Isaac's and Mrs. Jennie F. Center's papers name the sons: John, William, and Simon, and daughter, Margaret. Children:

2. i. JOHN, b. 1715-16; m.; d. Mar. 10, 1800, in his 85th year.
3. ii. DAUGHTER, ELIZABETH?
4. iii. DAUGHTER, AGNES?
5. iv. DAUGHTER, JANE?
6. v. DAUGHTER, ANNA?
7. vi. WILLIAM, b. 1732; m. June 13, 1756; d. Oct. 28, 1802.
147. vii. MARGARET, bapt. Mar. 3, 1737; d.
148. viii. SIMON, b. 1739; m. three times; d. May 14, 1816.

2. JOHN MCQUESTEN (1 William) was born 1715-16; his tombstone says: Departed this life March 10th, 1800, in the 85th year of his age. Tradition about his marriage varies. Some of the notes by Mrs. Center say, "John died unmarried." A note by Isaac says, "John was married when he came to this county but had no children." Another note says, "he married Margaret." There is no stone for John's wife. In the marriages in Boston is found that of John MacQuistion and Margaret Henry, October 18, 1757. It is found in the records of the Federal Street Church. There is nothing to show that John of the above marriage was the son of William in Litchfield, but it is significant that the marriage is among those by Rev. Moorhead. There is a deed showing a division of property, in the year 1757, "Joyntly" owned by John and his father, which suggests that he was the Litchfield John.

3. DAUGHTER MCQUESTEN (1 William) ELIZABETH? In the Medford records is found the marriage of Thomas Brown to Elizabeth MacQuistian, June 6, 1734. It is from the records of the First Parish Church (now Unitarian). Intentions in Boston read: Thomas Brown and Agnes McHuiston, May 6, 1734. In Copp's Hill Cemetery, near the Henry tombstones, are stones bearing the inscriptions: In Memory of/Mrs. Elizabeth Brown/ wife to Mr. Thomas Brown who died July ye 19th/1756/aged 37 years. Mr. Thomas Brown/who died March ye 11th/1760/ aged/43 years and Elizabeth Brown/daur. to Thomas & Elizabeth Brown who died/January ye 9th/1765/in the 20th year of her age. In the Federal Street Church records of Rev. John Moorhead: 1740, May ye 10th, Thomas Brown dau. baptised Elizabeth.

4. DAUGHTER MCQUESTEN (1 William), AGNES? From Boston Records, Intentions of Marriage, Aug. 2, 1739: Duncan Sinclare and Agnis Macquestion. From the New England Genealogical Register, Vol. 42, p. 252 1717-69: Marriages by Rev. Thomas Foxcroft, A. M., Boston, pastor of the First Church (Presbyterian), Aug. 21, 1746, Duncan Sinclare and Agnes MacQuestian, both of Boston. The "Sinclair Family of Londonderry, N. H.," lists this marriage among an unplaced list of items. We suggest that she may have been one of the five daughters attributed to William.

5. DAUGHTER MCQUESTEN (1 William), JANE? In regard to the daughter who married Robert Henry, we have another puzzle, as all traditions of the New Hampshire family know the daughter who married Mr. Henry as Margaret, while the records in Boston and the Porter, the Henry, and the Eddy genealogies name Jane. All that can be found follows: This letter is from the compiler of the Eddy Family: "Boston, Mass., May 20, 1881. Capt. Isaac McQuesten, Litchfield, N. H. Dear Sir; I am very desirous of obtaining information as to the McQuestens of New Hampshire, particularly of the earliest settlers by the name. My great grandmother was Jane McQuesten, and she married Robert Henry and they resided in this city in the last century. I wish to find out the parentage of my said great grandmother and if possible about that of her husband, Robert Henry. If you can afford me any information which will enable me to ascertain what I seek I shall feel much obliged to you. Yours Resp. R. H. Eddy. P.S. I have reason to believe that the father of my great grandmother resided in Litchfield."

Jane McQuesten, born 1725, probably in Ireland; married, in Medford, Mass., Oct. 7, 1742, Robert HENRY who died 1765. The marriage is found in the First Parish, now Unitarian, Church Records of Medford, Mass. The intentions are recorded in Boston. "James Mayes was accepted as bondsman for Robert Henry, a blacksmith from Ireland, who was admitted as an inhabitant of the town, August 5, 1741." From Cullen's Irish in Boston. The name Robert Hendry, also Robert Hendre, also Robert Henry appears in the Shute petition which recommended emigration to New England. The above Robert may have been a son of one of these.

Suffolk County, Mass., Deed Records: Mar. 18, 1752. Mary Jepson to Robert Henry. Vol. 80, p. 269. Mary Jepson of Dorchester for 133 pounds 6s 8 D to Robert Hendry of said Boston, Blacksmith, the rear part of a Dwelling situate in or near Paddys Alley (Paddy's Alley leading north west from North street) together with the land etc. with privilege of an eight foot way, well, and pump.

The same records: Apr. 16, 1752. Robert Henry to Nathaniel Wheelwright, Vol. 81, p. 15. Robert Henry, Blacksmith, of Boston, County of Suffolk, to Nathaniel Wheelwright . . . The middle part of a Piece of Land adjoining to the Mill Creek in said Boston . . . on Paddys alley . . . 15 feet . . . Wm. Jepson, Benj. Jepson.

The following notice appeared in the Boston Postboy and Advertisfer. "Monday, June 3, 1765. All persons having Demands on the Estate of Robert Hendry, late of Bofton, Farrier, deceased, are desired forthwith to bring their Accounts to Jane Hendry, Executrix to faid Estate, in order for a speedy settlement." Among the Boston Inhabitants for 1790: Mrs. Robert Henry, 2 Free white females including head of family.

We find in Copp's Hill Cemetery: "In Memory of Mrs. Jane Henry, Widow of the late Robert Henry, died Oct. 22'd, 1803, ae 78. Also two Grandchildren, Daughters of Col. and Mrs. Jane Robinson. Jane Henry Robinson, 1st, died July 21, 1804, ae 16 Months: Jane Henry Robinson, 2nd, died Oct. 13, 1807, ae 16 Mo."

On the tombstones of Jane, Robert, and Ann in the Granary Burying Ground, Boston, the name is Hendry.

The will of Robert Hendry of Boston, Blacksmith, dated 1764, probated 1765, mentions wife Jane, son Robert, and daughters Mary, Margaret, Sarah, Elizabeth, Rebecca, and Jane. Eight children of Robert and Jane are recorded in Boston. The baptisms are in the record of the Federal Street Church. Children:

i. JEAN, b. Sept. 9, 1743; bapt. Sept. 12; d. May 16, 1761.
ii. MARGARET, b. Sept. 3, 1745; bapt. Sept. 8; d.
iii. MARY, b. Oct. 28, 1748; d.
iv. SARAH, b. Apr. 7, 1751; bapt. Apr. 14; d.
v. ELIZABETH, b. Mar. 27, 1753; bapt. Apr. 1; d.
vi. ROBERT, bapt. May 9, 1756; d. Aug. 24, 1756.
vii. ANN, bapt. July 31, 1757; d. Mar. 6, 1758.
viii. ROBERT, bapt. Oct. 29, 1758; d.
ix. REBECCA, bapt. 1760; m. Feb. 18, 1779; d.

The following marriages are in the Boston Records. They are possibly those of the children of Robert and Jane Henry. Margaret Henry married Jan. 13, 1769, Ronald McDonald. (Intentions read Hendry.) Mary Henry married Oct. 7, 1770, Capt. John Williams. Sarah Henry married Oct. 6, 1768, Capt. David McLeod. Elizabeth Henry married Nov. 5, 1789, Joseph Roby. Robert Henry married (intentions) May 18, 1780, Betsey Roger. Rebecca Henry married (intentions) Feb. 18, 1779, David Porter of Boston. He was born Apr. 6, 1754, and was a son of Alexander Porter who was born in 1727, and Margaret (Henry) Porter. "Alexander Porter was present at the Boston Tea Party. With the assistance of his wife he molded bullets from the arm of a leaden statue of King George III. which had been erected in New York City, but was pulled down by the citizens and dragged through the streets, part of it being sent to Boston. These bullets were used in the Battle of Bunker Hill." From History of the Porter Family. American Ancestry says: "Alex. Porter married Margaret, sister of Robert Henry, of Boston."

There was evidently a younger daughter of Robert Henry and Jane (McQuesten) Henry whose name was Jane Henry. She was married Oct. 24, 1791, by Rev. John Lathrop, to Timothy Gay, a highly successful and wealthy merchant of Boston. He was born Feb. 27, 1763 and died July 28, 1799. To them was born Caroline Gay, Apr. 4, 1792. Caroline married Sept. 30, 1810, Caleb Eddy of Boston who was born May 27, 1784, died Feb. 22, 1859. She died May 28, 1862. They are buried in Mount Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass. Their eldest son was Robert Henry Eddy, writer of the letter to Capt. Isaac McQuesten, and compiler of the Eddy Genealogy.

Jane (Henry) Gay evidently married second, Aug. 15, 1801, James Robinson. This marriage is in the Lynn Records. Col. James Robinson died Jan. 21, 1832.—Lynn Records.

6. DAUGHTER MCQUESTEN (1 William) ANNA? was probably born in Ireland. She married John BURNS who was born 1711 and came to America from Londonderry, Ireland, in 1740, landing in Boston. He had married first Ann. No children. Her tombstone in Bedford Cemetery says: "Ann, wife of John Burns, died July 9, 1745, aged 21." He married second Anna McQuesten of Litchfield, New Hampshire. He died Mar. 26, 1788, aged 77 years. The 100th Anniversary History of Bedford, N. H., gave the information not secured from the cemetery. His second wife, Anna, lived after he died but there is no record of her death. Birthdates of the children are from the Bedford records:

i. Robert, b. Jan. 1, 1750; m. Molly Smith; settled in Merrimack.
ii. Margaret, b. Mar. 12, 1752; m. John McGilvray; lived and d. Merrimack.
iii. William, b. July 17, 1754; m. Molly Miller; resided Bedford and Pomfret, Vt.
iv. Martha, b. Aug. 26, 1756; d.
v. Elizabeth, b. Feb. 19, 1759; m. James Campbell of Bedford.
vi. John, Jr. (Lieut.), b. Sept. 20, 1761; m. Elizabeth Moore; he d. in Bedford, Nov. 30, 1846. Son Robert McKain; born Nov. 22, 1796, died in 1810 while a sophomore at Dartmouth College.
vii. Ann, b. Oct. 24, 1763; m. Elijah Buxton of Merrimack; d. there.
viii. Jean, b. Aug. 11, 1766; m. Mar. 2, 1790, William Beard of New Boston.
ix. Sarah, twin, b. Aug. 11, 1766; m. James Campbell of Windham, N. H.

7. William McQuesten (1 William), born in 1732, in Medford, Mass.; baptized Aug. 9, 1733, by Rev. John Moorhead of the Federal Church of Boston; lived in Litchfield and married there, June 13, 1756 (Geo. D.) Margaret Nahor who was born May 25, 1738 (Mrs. J. F. Center's notes) and died Oct. 13, 1796. It is believed that she was the daughter of James Nahor and Jane, his wife. The New Hampshire Province Deeds show that William's father deeded him the Homestead, June 1, 1758. The Provincial and State papers show that he served as major in the Sixth Regiment of Militia, during the Revolution. The Intentions of marriage at Chelmsford, Mass., show that William McQuston of Litchfield and Anna (Osgood) Parker applied for a license, Mar. 6, 1799. William died Oct. 28, 1802, aged 70 years. He is designated Deacon William on John K.'s Memorial in the Bedford Cemetery. The "Litchfield Church Society Book" says: Widow Anna Parker voted 1812 Oct. 29. Records of the First Congregational Church of Cambridge, Deaths, give: Sept. 3, 1825, Ann McQuestion, aged 78 y.; burials: Sept. 6, 1825, Ann McQuestion Mrs., formerly widow of Philip Parker, aged 77 y. Both deathdates are from their tombstones. Children, born on the Homestead:

8. i. David, b. Sept. 27, 1757; m. 1786; d. July 29, 1829.
28. ii. William, b. Feb. 24, 1759; m. Dec. 28, 1790; d. Nov. 23, 1848.
62. iii. James, b. Aug. 6, 1761; m. June 17, 1788; d. Nov. 19, 1834.
120. iv. Margaret (Lucy), b. 1764; m.; d. Oct. 17, 1842.
v. Sarah, b. 1766; unm.; d.
121. vi. John, b. 1768; m. Jan. 5, 1809; d. Sept. 5, 1828.
127. vii. Jane, b. Nov. 3, 1771; m. Sept. 30, 1790; d.
128. viii. Hugh Nahor, b. Apr. 16, 1774; m. Aug. 31, 1801; d. Apr. 30, 1830.
145. ix. Mary, b. Apr. 16, 1776; m. June 11, 1797; d. June 4, 1861.
x. Martha, b. Apr. 16, 1776; d. young.
146. xi. Elizabeth, b. July 26, 1778; m. Dec. 17, 1801; d. Nov. 23, 1854.

8. David McQuesten (7 William), born Sept. 27, 1757 (Isaac McQuesten's notes) on the Homestead; married in 1786 Margaret Fisher who was born Apr. 18, 1760, in Londonderry, N. H., she was a daughter of Samuel and Sarah Fisher. They lived in Litchfield until 1795 when they settled in Bedford. The deed, made July 4, 1794, shows that David bought a lot of land from Robert MacGregor of Goffstown for 217 pounds, which would amount to about $1,085. The lot contained about 45 acres and remained in the family for 136 years, when it was sold by the widow of David's grandson, John K. McQuesten. Mr. MacGregor had obtained the land many years earlier from the governor of Massachusetts. The document transferring the land to David McQuesten(=tion in the deed) is believed to be the oldest in existence of any in Hillsborough County.

David's family were warmly attached to the doctrine and discipline of the Presbyterian Church. He became an Elder of the Church of Bedford in 1803, and continued in that position until his death July 29, 1829. Margaret died Apr. 13, 1833. Their deathdates are from their tombstones in the Bedford (formerly known as Piscatoquog) Cemetery. Children:

9. i. William, b. Nov. 29, 1787; m. Apr. 26, 1813; d. Oct. 4, 1818.
12. ii. Samuel, b. June 11, 1789; m. Jan. 23, 1838; d. Aug. 5, 1861.
14. iii. Sally Barber, b. July 10, 1791; m. Dec. 6, 1824; d. Dec. 31, 1857.

15. iv. David, Jr., b. Sept. 13, 1793; m. July 15, 1824; d. May 21, 1850.

v. Margaret Nahor, b. Feb. 12, 1796; unm.; d. June 9, 1893; her birthdate is from the Concord Records, as is her deathdate. Her whole life was passed on the homestead in Bedford, and she died in the room where she was born. She was the survivor of the David and Margaret family.

25. vi. Eliza, b. Aug. 13, 1799; m. Aug. 5, 1835; d. Apr. 7, 1877.

26. vii. Calvin, b. Aug. 7, 1801; m. three times; d. Oct. 20, 1885.

viii. Mary Parker, b. Feb. 28, 1804; unm.; d. Sept. 5, 1825.

ix. Mary, b. Mar. 5, 1806; d. in infancy.

9. William McQuesten (8 David) was born Nov. 29, 1787, in Litchfield. The date is from the Litchfield Records. He married Apr. 26, 1813, Clarissa Gove who was born Mar. 17, 1792. She was the daughter of Dr. Johnathan Gove. William died Oct. 4, 1818, and is buried in Westlawn Cemetery, Goffstown. After the death of William, his widow married July 10, 1832, John Richards who died Aug. 10, 1844. It was his third marriage. There were three children to this marriage. She was 91 years old when she died on Mar. 18, 1883; and she is buried in the same cemetery as are her father and mother. The History of Weare, N. H., says: "William had the first loom in Weare, to weave twilled cassimere, and Hulda Tenny was the only person who could operate it. When she was sick the loom stopped." Children:

10. i. Eliza, b. Aug. 8, 1814; m. Dec. 28, 1838; d. June 30, 1909.

11. ii. Chas. Fred'k Gove, b. Apr. 1, 1816; m. Dec. 30, 1841; d. Oct. 10, 1873.

iii. William, b. Oct. 31, 1818; d. Sept. 3, 1826; these dates are from the Westlawn Cemetery.

10. Eliza McQuesten (9 William), born Aug. 8, 1814, probably in Goffstown, N. H.; married Dec. 28, 1838, Harrison HOBSON who was born Apr. 11, 1814, at Oil Village, Weare, N. H., and died June 17, 1897, probably in Nashua, N. H. She died June 30, 1909. The date of her marriage is in a letter from herself to Isaac McQuesten. The date of her death is from the Goffstown History. Their monument is in the Unitarian (formerly Indianhead) Cemetery in Nashua, N. H. She donated the lamps at the entrance to the Public Library in Goffstown. Children, born at Weare:

i. Sarah Josepha, b. Apr. 5, 1842; m. Oct. 23, 1866, W. A. Robinson who had been a tobacco merchant in New York City; made her home at the Hotel St. Andrew, New York City where she died Jan. 24, 1927, her will being filed for probate, Jan. 29, 1927. She left nearly a hundred thousand dollars to Nashua institutions. The dates of her brother's birth and her own, also that of her marriage are from the Goffstown History. The date of her death is from a newspaper clipping.

ii. Harry Mack, b. June 10, 1848; unm.; d.

11. Charles Frederick Gove McQuesten (9 William), born Apr. 1, 1816, probably in Goffstown; married Dec. 30, 1841, Louisa M. Gleason who was born Feb. 13, 1818; he died Oct. 10, 1873; she, Oct. 16, 1908. The dates of her birth, marriage, and death are from the Concord Records. She and the infant are buried in the Unitarian Cemetery in Nashua. Child:

i. Infant, b. 1846; d. Jan. 14, 1847.

12. Samuel McQuesten (8 David), born June 11, 1789, in Litchfield, N. H.; was a Deacon in the Presbyterian Church of Bedford, 1832-45; married Jan. 23, 1838, Lucinda S. Foster who was born Sept. 5, 1805, and was a daughter of Dr. Samuel Foster of Candia, N. H. Samuel died Aug. 5, 1861; Lucinda, June 16, 1891. They and their sons are buried in the Bedford Cemetery. Children:

i. Samuel Foster, b. May 4, 1839; unm.; a musician in Co. G, 16th Regt., N. H. Volunteers; d. June 13, 1863, in the service at New Orleans, La.

13. ii. John Knox, b. May 27, 1842; m. twice; d. June 2, 1920.

iii. David, b. Jan. 2, 1846; d. Dec. 10, 1860.

David and his brother, John Knox, attended school in the old school house, District No. 1, in West Manchester, now the site of Trinity Church. One night they made a wager as to who could reach home first. Each started at his utmost speed. David, as he rushed into the house, had only time to say, "I've done it," when he fell at his mother's feet, lifeless.

13. John Knox McQuesten (12 Samuel), born May 27, 1842, on the place his grandfather had purchased, in Bedford, now known as West Manchester, in the house that preceded the present structure; married Nov. 5, 1868, Lucia Cutler who was born May 4, 1839. She was a daughter of Rev. Calvin Cutler of Windham, N. H.; died Mar. 28, 1912. He married second May 16, 1916, Mrs. Ella McAfee Walch who survives him. He died June 2, 1920. He had been a member of the Common Council, and also a Representative in the State Legislature. Many years ago he was a member of the school board which elected Albert W. Batchelder at the old high school. Of that achievement John K. was very proud as Mr. Batchelder held, for many years, the love and esteem of some of the old-time school boys. John K. was one of the oldest members of Lafayette Lodge of Masons, Manchester, N. H.; a Deacon and an attendant of the South Main St. Congregational Church; one of the old-time modest pioneers who did well whatever he undertook. No children.

Mrs. John K. sold the farm and moved to Hartford, Conn., to live with a son by her former marriage. She contributed this incantation or counting-out rhyme, which was taught the children in the family from the time of their coming to America.

Lir—a—poke, lar—a—poke,
Bo—an—nan—nan—ny—proc, Proc—ma—she—ge, ah—ha—loo—gy, loo—gy—let,
Corn—a—gil, mac—a—plate.

In the possession of Mrs. John K. was a chair which the family brought from Ireland. It had been marked with the date, 1730, by John K. The wood is quite like what is known in New England as Swamp Oak. The chair is large, straight, high-backed with small arms, Queen Anne style. It went to the sons of Isaac Baldwin McQuesten at Hamilton, Ontario.

14. SALLY BARBER MCQUESTEN (8 David), born July 10, 1791 (Apr. 27?) in Litchfield; went to Bedford when her father moved there; married Dec. 6, 1824, Stephen SAWYER; she died Dec. 31, 1857, aged 66, at Hamilton, C. W.; she was a blond and considered very handsome. Children:

i. LUTHER DIMMICK, b. Sept. 10, 1826; m. June 22, 1853, Azubah T. Ames; d. Jan. 14, 1892.

ii. Samuel Foster, b. July 5, 1828; m. May 6, 1850, Jane Maria Hinman; d. Aug. 27, 1860.

iii. Mary E., b. Dec. 6, 1829; m. June 29, 1855, Horatio C. Laws; d. Feb. 5, 1900.

iv. Stephen Payson, b. Jan. 13, 1832, at Amesbury, Mass.; m. June 21, 1853, Frances Phoebe Gillett who was born Sept. 1, 1832, and died Mar. 18, 1897. Simon Gerberich Stein, Jr., grandson of Stephen P., was in Dartmouth with Eugene F. McQuesten, Jr.; also Fred McQuesten Richie, now of Richmond, Va. Stephen P. lived at Muscatine, Iowa; a brother lived at Milford, Pa.

15. Dr. David McQuesten, Jr. (8 David), born Sept. 13, 1793, in Litchfield, N. H.; studied medicine at Dartmouth and settled at Washington, N. H., in 1820-1; had a large practice there and in the surrounding towns; married July 15, 1824, Pamelia Richardson of Stoddard who was born Aug. 6, 1797; he died May 21, 1850, at Washington, and is buried at Goffstown, N. H.; she died March 1889, at Hackettstown, N. J. Children, born at Washington, N. H.:

16. i. Julia, b. Apr. 22, 1825; m. three times; d. Sept. 21, 1883.

ii. Lucretia, b. May 10, 1827; m. Dec. 25, 1885, William F. Newton; resided at Newport, N. H.; d.

THE SQUIRREL

By Elizabeth MacQueston, aged 12.

Best Original Poem, $1.00 Prize.

Whisky, Frisky, Hippity hop,
Up he goes
  To the tree-top.

Whirly, twirly,
  Round and round,
Down he scampers
  To the ground.

Furly, curly,
  What a tail!
Tall as a feather,
  Broad as a sail.

Where's his supper?
  In the shell,
Snappy, cracky,
  Out it fell.

M. Schackleford. In 1861-2 the high waters destroyed the warehouse and he went to Washo, Nev. He married Apr. 26, 1864, in San Francisco, Mrs. Zeralda Ruth (Osborn) Brosius, born Aug. 7, 1834, at Covington, Ind. They went to Los Gatos where he managed a lumber yard for about three years. He found that he had consumption, so closed up his affairs and planned to go to Honolulu with his wife and fifteen-months-old son, but died Dec. 12, 1867, at the home of Mr. Schackleford. He had been married before, at Plattsville, Wis., to a school-teacher, Miss Hammond, a beautiful woman. She died at the birth of a daughter. He took a dislike to the child because of the loss of the mother and it was brought up by its Grandmother Hammond. The son died and was buried at Los Gatos but was moved to Mt. Olivet Cemetery, San Meteo County, near San Francisco. The widow remarried to John V. Hunter and lived at Santa Cruz, Calif. Children:

ii. JOHN ADAMS, JR., b. Sept. 1, 1866; d. Apr. 3, 1885.

103. LEROY NAPOLEON MCQUESTEN (101 John), born July 9, 1836, on a New Hampshire farm and moved to Portland, Me., with his parents when very young. He joined the gold rush to California, leaving Portland in the spring. He mined for a few years with his older brother Varnum and cousins, William and Henry W. McQuesten. At 19 he was fighting the Indians in the "Oregon War"; had many a skirmish with the Walla Wallas, who were on the warpath with the Northern tribes. The government's best soldiers were employed quelling the break and he joined the volunteers in the company in which Ben Hayden, of Salem, Oreg., was commander. After long fighting he went into the quartermaster's service in the Puget Sound country. The McQuesten boys worked together much of the time until 1858, Leroy separated from the others and went north, with William, in the rush to the Fraser River gold fields. They had little luck and William returned to the "States." Leroy, however, continued to live in the northern country, trapping and trading with the Indians in the neighborhood of the Mackenzie River, traveling over the snow and ice with dog teams, for about 40 years.

In 1878 he went prospecting on the Mackenzie River, crossed the Rocky Mountains by the Pelly and worked over the Porcupine River and to the outposts of the Alaska Commercial Co., on the Yukon River. He built Fort Reliance in 1879, and was employed by the Hudson Bay Co., at first, then the Alaska Commercial Co., and he used Fort Reliance as a trading post for about a dozen years. While in charge at Fort Reliance he made the first weather record in 1880-1. This fort was seven miles below Dawson and was the first white settlement on the Yukon. It was afterwards burned by the Indians. As soon as gold was discovered at Forty Mile Creek (40 miles below), he established a post there, and kept it until 1894, when he established the post at Circle City. Then he discovered gold on Stewart Run and amassed a fortune, panning out dirt estimated upwards of two million dollars. It was said he brought a ton of gold dust from his mines to the States. He was known as "Golden Rule McQuesten," but commonly called "Jack McQuesten, the Father of Alaska," or the "Father of the Yukon." He went to the Northwest Territory with Al. Mayo, Joe LaDue, and a man named Harper. McQuesten River is named for him. So far was he in the wilds of the north, he did not hear of the Civil War until long after it was over.

In 1897 George Dowe McQuesten, then living in Washington, D. C., read a magazine article quoting L. N. ("Jack") McQuesten as authority on the boundary between Canada and the United States, referring to him as the "Father of Alaska." George Dowe sent this article to his father, Henry W., at Merrimack, N. H., who promptly replied with a letter to be sent to L. N. It took 13 months for the first letter to reach him. He replied, saying he would take a trip to New Hampshire, to visit his relatives. The following fall he visited George Dowe in Washington, D. C., for a week, thence to New Hampshire, after an absence of about half a century, during forty-seven years of which time his folks had not heard from him. He found William and Henry W., with whom he had worked half a century before in the California gold rush, had returned to their New Hampshire farm homes, married and raised their families, but no other close relatives were living there. Leroy's father and mother moved to Wisconsin shortly after he left home and settled at Mineral Point, Wis. A brother, Orlando Clinton, was born there, and Leroy saw him for the first time in the mines near Deer Lodge, Mont., which had belonged to their brother, Varnum, who had died but a short time before Leroy's visit.

In his first letter to the home folks for forty-seven years he said: "I don't suppose you boys will think I did very well, when I tell you I have a full-blood Alaska Indian wife (I named her Kate), but I never expected to see a white woman again, so I took the best the country afforded, and we have a large family of bright children whom I dearly love." They had eleven children, who were educated in Berkeley, Calif., where their parents settled with them on Hopkins Street, he having sold his interests to the Alaska Commercial Co., about the time of the Klondyke gold rush, that his children might receive an education.

When asked why he was called "Jack" or "Capt. Jack," he explained that at one time in a fierce storm at sea when the waves were sweeping the deck and the crew were demoralized and terror-stricken and none of them dared climb the rigging to relinquish sails necessary to avoid the sinking of the ship, realizing they were sure to be drowned anyhow, he made a successful attempt to climb the masts and saved their lives. They at once dubbed him "Capt. Jack" which nickname followed him till death. The "old timers" of the Klondyke all knew him as "Jack McQuesten," and loved him for his courage, generosity, and assistance rendered in times of need. He "grubstaked" many of the pioneers of Alaska, and, although he lost thousands of dollars in doing so, he succeeded in saving enough to give him a competency in his declining years.

David M. McQuesten spent six years in the Yukon country, shortly after "Capt. Jack" had moved to Berkeley, and found that nearly everybody there knew and respected "Jack McQuesten." He organized the society of Alaskan Pioneers, composed of a host of men who were the first seekers of gold in Alaska. Jack London, the author, was a friend, and one of his novels is said to have Jack McQuesten as its hero. The story is woven around a prospector who married an Indian of the north, deserted her, but rejoined her again. Leroy N. married an Indian (Kate), Sept. 2, 1882, a full-blooded Alaskan, but did not desert her. During the Alaska-Yukon Exposition at Seattle, he visited George Dowe McQuesten, at Tacoma, Wash., for a week, then returned to Berkeley, and died Sept. 4, 1909, of pneumonia, in a few days. His widow died at their home in Berkeley, July 20, 1918. Children, born in Alaska and Berkeley:

i. Daniel, b. Apr. 4, 1828; unm.; d. October 1896, at Sunapee. George D. tells the following story: "My father had an aunt whom I went to visit one time at Sunapee when I was a small boy. I remember that she was an old lady, in the neighborhood of eighty years of age. It was an extremely cold day in winter and when we went into the house, her son Daniel, who was about fifty years of age and weighed about two hundred and fifty pounds, was sitting toasting his feet by the fire. Father asked where his aunt was and Daniel went to the cellar door and called her. When she came up father asked what she was doing down there on such a cold day. She replied that she was 'sortin' potatoes.' 'It was too cold for the baby to be down there doing that work,' so she thought that as it needed to be done, she would attend to it. 'The baby' was her said son just referred to. This was my only visit there."

iii. FOREST DOWE, b. Sept. 17, 1888; m. Mabel M.; d. Sept. 7, 1929, in Seattle. Since then his wife and child have died.

114. GEORGE DOWE MCQUESTEN (112 Henry W.), born Mar. 20, 1871, in Litchfield, N. H., on the family Homestead; went to Buffalo, N. Y., in 1886; worked in a lumber yard for nine cents a day and board, for thirteen months, walking eight miles to and from work. In three years he had charge of the company's lumber yards. Meantime he mastered stenography; received leave of absence to visit California for three months, but never returned; stopped at Denver, Colo., to see the country, answered an advertisement, "Stenographer Wanted," got the job, and remained two years. An old mining engineer induced him to quit and go to Cripple Creek when gold was first discovered there. He tried mining near Leadville and Aspen, Colo., for a few months, then bought half interest in a steam laundry in Aspen; sold in a few months at a good profit and went to San Francisco, again entering steam laundry business for a period of two and one-half years; sold out and went to Salt Lake City, as a stenographer, soon getting in as clerk of the Board of Education; took a civil service examination and was appointed stenographer in the Interior Department, Washington, D. C. There he at once began the study of law at night, receiving the degree LL.B. from President Cleveland in 1897; took a post graduate course and received the degree LL.M. from President McKinley, and was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court, both in 1898.

Soon after arriving in Washington, he was placed in charge of Indian depredations in the Indian office; asked for a transfer to the State of Washington and was sent to Puyallup Consolidated Agencies the same year; served at Puyallup and at Yakima agencies seven and one-half years; quit and entered the practice of law in Tacoma. After eleven years, in 1916, Governor Ernest Lister appointed him chairman of the State Board of Control, in charge of state institutions. These were three soldiers' homes, three insane hospitals, state penitentiary, state reformatory, school for feebleminded, for deaf, and for blind, boys' training school (Chehalis), girls' training school (Grand Mound), and women's industrial home and clinic. He was also a member of the state prison board and of the state reformatory board, and continued to hold the appointment as long as Governor Lister lived, and for eight months more, when he quit and located permanently in Yakima.

During his law practice he served in the state legislature three terms—was chairman of the committee on education and introduced the first teachers' retirement fund bill. He was a member of the Tacoma Board of Education for three years, and for fourteen years a member of the board of trustees of the Masonic Home of Washington, then located on his farm at Puyallup. He accumulated several farms and orchards and much livestock, and is "well to do." He is a 32nd degree Mason, and Master of Nob Hill Grange No. 671; was for three years secretary-manager of the Washington State Fair—and at all times active in Republican politics. He married Feb. 12, 1893, Ida Oxenford of Lake City, Iowa, at San Francisco. They were divorced in September 1918. He married second, Sept. 1, 1919, Mabel LaPlante, born at Puyallup, May 14, 1893, a graduate nurse of the Tacoma General Hospital, the only daughter of Joseph Lafayette and Emily (Lundberg) LaPlante. Mrs. LaPlante died when Mabel was a child. Mr. LaPlante was city clerk of Puyallup thirteen successive terms, until his death, which occurred about 1926 at the home of his daughter at Yakima; her parents are buried at Puyallup, Wash. Children:

147. Margaret McQuesten (1 William), was baptized Mar. 3, 1737, by Rev. John Moorhead. Nothing more is known of her.

148. Simon McQuesten (1 William), the third and youngest son and last child of William, was born in 1739, probably at Medford, Mass. The Provincial Deeds record purchases of land in 1762 and in 1767 by him. The State Deeds record a lease made in 1787; and a deed made 4 Feb. 1792, shows that he bought the land, in Litchfield. The original parchment document is in the possession of Miss Florence E. Center, of Litchfield, N. H.

Simon married first, about 1764, Esther Harvell who was born in 1738. Stearns History says: "The Harvells were from Amherst and were prominent in the early annals of Litchfield. In fact there is a house still standing called the 'Old Harvey House,' which was the Harvell home and the land joined that of William McQuesten." A descendant remarks: "Great-great-grandfather did not have far to go to do his courting." Esther died May 2, 1776, in her 38th year. Five sons were born to her.

Simon married second, June 13, 1779, Rosannah Nahor, born Jan. 30, 1748, daughter of James Nahor and Jane, his wife, of Litchfield. She had two sons and two daughters, and died Apr. 28, 1785. The name is spelled Macquesten on her tombstone. He married third, Dec. 9, 1790, Mrs. Lettice (Mitchell) Clagett, born in 1742, at Portsmouth, N. H., daughter of Dr. Mitchell. She was the widow of Hon. Wyseman Clagett* whom she married Aug. 14, 1759. She was betrothed to a Mr. Warner who was in Europe at the time Mr. Clagett appeared in Portsmouth. It was believed to be through her mother's ambitions that she married before Mr. Warner's return. Wyseman Clagett was born in Bristol, England, in 1721. His father, Wyseman Clagett, was a barrister at law; occupied a large estate at Bristol called the "Manor of Broad Oaks," a mansion with twelve chimneys, lived in style, kept a coach and not less than eight servants. His son Wyseman was reared by two maiden aunts named Clifton. He was liberally educated and trained in the same profession and had that intimate and familiar knowledge of the Latin and Greek languages which the English are so distinguished for imparting. He was also a good belles-lettres scholar, and wrote the Latin language with elegance and spoke it fluently. After graduation from the Inns of Court, he was admitted a barrister in the Court of the King's Bench in 1748. He sailed to the West Indies and was Secretary of the Island of Antigua for ten years. A man by the name of John Weiks who was wealthy, settled upon him during his life an annuity of fifty pounds sterling, which was a source of consolation in his declining years. From Antigua he emigrated to Portsmouth, N. H., in 1758. He was a favorite of the Crown under the Provincial Government and a favorite of the people under that of the Revolution. In 1765 he was appointed King's Attorney General by Governor Benning Wentworth, and was reappointed to the same office in 1768 by John Wentworth, then Governor. In 1771 he purchased a farm in Litchfield and moved to it in 1772.

* Charles W. Brewster in "Rambles About Portsmouth," part of this account being taken from that story, used one g in spelling Clagett. Wyseman, Sr., in writing the Latin inscription on the tombstone of his son used one g. The Encyclopedia Heraldica gives Clagett. The New Hampshire histories and church records and notes of Capt. Isaac McQuesten used "gg."

The children of Hon. Wyseman Clagett and Lettice Mitchell, his wife, were: i. Martha (Pat), b. in 1760; a strange character. Most of her conversation was about the Clagett money. She had the Coat of Arms of the Clagett family, and no one could get the money unless she went with them; she was found Dec. 25, 1841, on the Highway in Goffstown, frozen to death. ii. Clifton, b. Dec. 3, 1762; d. Jan. 25, 1829. iii. Wentworth, b. Nov. 29, 1765; d. Nov. 18, 1825. iv. Edward, b. June 13, 1775; m. June 13, 1823, Cynthia Senter or Center, sister of Samuel Center. She was born June 13, 1789, in Windham and died Mar. 8, 1872. He was a farmer in Litchfield, and died in Nov. 1866. v. William, b. June 10, 1776; d. May 12, 1858. vi. Henrietta, b. in 1778; d. Nov. 11, 1861. vii. John K., d. young. His tombstone in the Litchfield Churchyard has an elaborate inscription in Latin. viii. George was shot in play by a brother. A most interesting relationship grew out of the marriages of the other three sons to three daughters of William McQuesten (1 William), and that of the daughter "Rittie" to a son of Simon and Esther McQuesten.

The Hon. Wyseman Clagett had moved from Portsmouth to Litchfield, N. H., in 1771, and died there Dec. 4, 1784. Historians tell that the life of Lettice with Mr. Clagett was not a happy one but was offset by many happy years with Simon McQuesten before his death, May 14, 1816. His grave was marked by James S. Thornton Post "Post 83, G. A. R." She died, Apr. 2, 1827, at Bedford, N. H. Her portrait, painted by Blackburn, between 1758-60, descended into the family of her son, William. It is now in the Brooklyn Museum, preserved as an example of painting of the early aristocracy.

The gravestones of Simon Macqueston, Esther, Rosannah, and the daughter, Esther, were among those recovered from the river and are in Litchfield Cemetery. Children:

John wrote the following: "I was born in Litchfield, N. H., and came to Lowell, Mass., nearly fifty years ago. I entered the employ of a dry goods house, 84 Merrimack St., and remained twelve years. When the War of the Rebellion broke out I enlisted, August 1862, in the 33 Mass. Vol. Having been 'Loyal' to my country during that severe test, I was wounded in the battle of Resaca Station, Georgia, May 15, 1864, under Gen'l Sherman—the great 'March to the Sea.' I was carried back to Bridgeport, Alabama, till I partially recovered, when I was appointed Military Postmaster of that Post which I held till the close of the War. I speak of this to show that the spirit of Loyalty still remains in the blood of the McQuesten race. As I am the only one left in our family I hope I shall never dishonor the name. Harry also was so stirred with the blood of Loyalty to our Country that he enlisted in the 6th Mass. Reg. in the Spanish War; he remained till the close.

He was in the battle of Porto Rico where the bullets flew about his head but did not receive a scratch. He is as well as before the war. My own health is quite poorly. I have the heart and head trouble. I was sunstruck in the Army and I can't quite outgrow it." His wife wrote: "Agnes was born while her father was in the Civil War and he did not see her until she was quite a baby." She said about her husband: "He was a true and faithful Christian and loved his family and home." She died May 31, 1872, in Santa Cruz, Calif. i. Charles Hosea, b. Sept. 25, 1875; d. Nov. 8, 1879.

220. Zilla Louise McQuesten (217 Salah T.), born Dec. 26, 1847; married Nov. 22, 1880, in Massachusetts, Clark Waters, born 1835, died in 1901. Some old programs of the Peace Jubilee of Boston, in 1872, called forth these comments in a Manchester paper: "Mrs. Waters was one of the most charming sopranos Manchester ever sent over the concert field. In her day she was almost nationally famous in the American concert field and might well have qualified for grand opera. This is rather a large statement to make, but those who knew of her career forty years ago will agree that the statement is conservative." She died Sept. 24, 1920. No children.

221. Caroline F. McQuesten (213 William), born Mar. 16, 1812, on the Simon Homestead, in Litchfield, N. H.; married Mar. 3, 1835, Robert MARTIN, born 1807, in Goffstown, N. H. His residence at marriage was given as Dunbarton. He was a farmer; after he grew older he sold his farm and went to Wilton. She died June 23, 1874, and he, Apr. 29, 1879, both in Wilton. Children:

i. Julia A., b. May 9, 1836; unm.; d. May 9, 1859.
ii. Harriette, b. Dec. 25, 1837; unm.; d. Apr. 29, 1863.
iii. Caroline F., b. June 25, 1840; unm.; d. Nov. 9, 1899.
iv. Albert G., b. Aug. 30, 1842; m. Sarah Augusta Abbott of Andover, Mass. He died Mar. 7, 1906.
v. Hannah L., b. July 10, 1844; m. Thomas B. Cram, born 1841, died 1881, Francestown; m. second, Moses Clark of Wilton; m. third, Henry Lincoln Emerson of Wilton, born Feb. 6, 1845, deceased; she d. Apr. 11, 1924.
vi. Letitia Clagett, b. July 20, 1846; unm.; d. Dec. 21, 1892.
vii. William R., b. Mar. 25, 1848; m. Annie Standish of Boston; he was a salesman and decorator in the store of Jordan, Marsh & Co.; d. July 22, 1888.

222. HARRIET MCQUESTEN (213 William), born Nov. 1, 1814; married James V. SULLIVAN of Boston; she is deceased. Children:

i. JAMES ALBERT. ii. JOHN V. iii. HENRIETTA C., m. Francis Murdock of Newton, Mass.

223. JAMES MCQUESTEN (148 Simon), born Mar. 14, 1780, in Litchfield, N. H.; went to Plymouth for about two years and then removed to Bedford, where he became a merchant; he was a man of ability and was held in high esteem; married May 14, 1807, Margery Greenough, born Mar. 6, 1783, sister of Judith, and a daughter of William Greenough and Hannah Wells, his wife. James died Feb. 12, 1810, after which his widow settled the estate and returned to Rumney where she married Edward Hall, by whom she had Daniel and Phoebe Hall. She is deceased. Children:

224. i. JAMES MILTON, b. Mar. 1, 1808; m. May 10, 1835; d. May 28, 1875.

ii. JUDITH, b. Jan. 21, 18—; d. Aug. 14, 1821, buried in Forest Hill Cemetery, East Derry.

224. JAMES MILTON MCQUESTEN (223 James), was born Mar. 1, 1808, at Merrimack, N. H. As his father died when he was a child, he was reared by his guardian, Deacon John McQuesten at Bedford. He entered mercantile life, but gave it up for the study of law; was admitted to the bar in 1837; went to Plymouth in 1847. His professional life was mainly given to office work, being a safe counselor and a faithful guardian of many wards. He married May 10, 1835, at Wentworth, N. H., Louisa Paige, born Apr. 18, 1811, at Wentworth, and died Oct. 6, 1874, at Plymouth. He died May 28, 1875, in Chicago, and is buried in Blossom Hill Cemetery, Concord, N. H. Children:

225. i. MARY ELIZABETH, b. May 13, 1836; m. Apr. 22, 1873; d. Dec. 12, 1902.

ii. JAMES, b. May 27, 1839; d. Aug. 28, 1840.

iii. JAMES GREENOUGH, b. Dec. 27, 1842; d. 1844.

226. iv. CAROLINE LOUISE, b. Aug. 5, 1845; m. Dec. 17, 1863; d. Jan. 9, 1865.

225. Mary Elizabeth McQuesten (224 James M.), born May 13, 1836, at Wentworth, N. H.; married Apr. 22, 1873, Cyrus SARGEANT, born Aug. 24, 1824, at Candia, N. H.; lived in the old James McQuesten Homestead at Plymouth; he had been a life-long friend of her father; was a widower with one child, Caroline Sargeant, born Sept. 28, 1857, married May 1, 1884, Robert Burns, M. D. Cyrus died July 24, 1902, and Mary E. died Dec. 12, 1902. Children:

i. Cyrus, Jr., b. Jan. 29, 1876; m. Jan. 29, 1899, Alice Loring Newcomb, daughter of George Newcomb of Salem, Mass. Cyrus, Jr., graduated from Harvard Law School in 1903; practices in Boston; resides at Cambridge.
ii. Louise, b. Mar. 24, 1879; m. Walter Rittler; lives in Austria; 4 sons.
iii. Paul, b. Sept. 15, 1880; d. Oct. 11, 1880.
iv. Phillip, b. Oct. 26, 1882; d. Dec. 21, 1882.

226. Caroline Louise McQuesten (224 James M.), born Aug. 5, 1845, at Plymouth, N. H.; married Dec. 17, 1863, Charles A. DOLE, born June 20, 1834, at Lunenburg; resided at Lebanon; died Jan. 9, 1865; her husband remarried in January 1866, Helen M. Stevens, of Haverhill, Mass. By her he had one son, Stevie Dole, who died Aug. 23, 1876, aged five months. Charles A. died Apr. 1, 1914. Child:

i. James Stephen, b. Jan. 4, 1865; d. Sept. 18, 1865.

227. Robert Henry McQuesten (148 Simon), born Apr. 15, 1783, in Litchfield, N. H.; made his home there all his life; married Dec. 25, 1810, Lydia Barrett, born Feb. 20, 1790, at Hudson, N. H., died Oct. 7, 1839. She was the daughter of Isaac and Rhoda (Marsh) Barrett of Hudson, N. H. He died May 14, 1848. Deaths are from the Litchfield Records, births from Capt. Isaac's notes, and the children's births are from the family record. Children, born in Litchfield:

228. i. Isaac, b. Oct. 18, 1811; m. Dec. 29, 1842; d. Dec. 3, 1896.
ii. Susanah, b. Sept. 2, 1814; m. July 2, 1835, by Reuben Greeley, Esq., to John H. Merrill of Hudson; d. July 1836.
iii. Robert, b. Oct. 25, 1816; unm.; d. Dec. 25, 1872, at Manchester, buried in Litchfield.

iv. Charles, b. Apr. 6, 1820; d. Mar. 6, 1826, from a fall on a picket fence.

235. v. Elizabeth, b. June 6, 1822; m. Nov. 8, 1849; d. Jan. 30, 1903.

236. vi. Mary Nahor, b. May 27, 1824; m. Oct. 6, 1848; d. Feb. 19, 1902.

237. vii. Thomas, b. Oct. 16, 1830; m. May 17, 1860; d. Feb. 19, 1902.

228. Capt. Isaac McQuesten (227 Robert H.), born Oct. 18, 1811, in Litchfield, N. H.; led a busy life from boyhood; his education was confined to the common schools, which he attended for eight or ten weeks each year until he was fourteen; he then went to work as a farm laborer; his success in life was due in a great measure to his own exertions; his greatest aim in early life was to preserve the Homestead, this he secured at his majority and always lived there. In 1840 he and Capt. Samuel Chase formed a partnership which lasted twenty years. They were engaged in lumber trade, and for several years were the proprietors of the store at the center of the township. Owing to the removal of Capt. Chase to Nashua, the firm dissolved in 1860 and Capt. McQuesten continued in the business until 1878. He won his title in the Fifth Regiment of the militia, whose training ground was the lawn surrounding the old church on the hill. This land has long since been washed by the aggressive current of the Merrimack River. His natural good sense, integrity, and industry brought him a much greater measure of success than fell to many whose start in life was far better than his. He was interested in public questions and took part in shaping the politics of his town; was a Democrat, and held numerous offices as the gift of his fellow citizens; was a representative four years; was elected road commissioner for Hillsboro County in 1849; from 1862 to 1868 was first selectman and town treasurer and discharged the duties of those offices with fidelity and in a manner creditable to himself. In 1868-69 he was the Democratic candidate for state senator; 1887-91 he was justice of the peace and quorum for the state; the principal magistrate of the town, and was often employed in the writing of deeds, wills, and other documents.

He was one of the leading church members of his neighborhood, and from 1851 to 1896 was clerk of the Presbyterian

Society, and from 1875 to 1896 was superintendent of the Sabbath School. He married Dec. 29, 1842, Margaret Ann Chase, born July 14, 1819, daughter of Major Francis and Dorothy (Bixby) Chase of Litchfield. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary and at the time of his death, Dec. 3, 1896, he was one of the oldest inhabitants of Litchfield. She died Sept. 20, 1899. One of his ambitions was to write a history of the family. The data which he and his daughter collected furnished the foundation for the present history of this line. Children:

229. i. EUGENE FORREST, b. Oct. 11, 1843; m. three times; d. July 19, 1906.
233. ii. FRANCIS HENRY, b. Apr. 18, 1848; m. twice; d. Aug. 6, 1924.
234. iii. JENNIE FLORENCE, b. Apr. 1, 1855; m. Mar. 28, 1878; d. Dec. 9, 1915.

229. Dr. EUGENE FORREST MCQUESTEN (228 Isaac), born Oct. 11, 1843, in Litchfield, N. H.; graduated from Nashua High School in 1860; entered Blanchard Academy, Pembroke, and after two years entered the Scientific Department of Dartmouth College where he studied for two years; in 1864 he left to take up the study of medicine in the office of Dr. Josiah G. Graves of Nashua; then attended one course of lectures at Dartmouth and two years at Jefferson Medical College where he received the degree, M.D., Mar. 18, 1866; returning in 1872-73 he took a post-graduate course.

His first practice was at Lynn, Mass., but after a few months there he established himself at Nashua, Jan. 1, 1867; married July 25, 1868, Mary Elizabeth Spaulding, born May 31, 1847, died Nov. 26, 1877, the daughter of Solomon Spaulding of Nashua; married second, June 18, 1879, Mary Abby Howard, born Sept. 5, 1855, daughter of Joseph Howard of Nashua. She died Apr. 3, 1885, at San Antonio, Texas. He married third, May 26, 1887, Anna Elizabeth Spaulding, born Oct. 8, 1856, at Lawrence, Mass., daughter of William R. and Mary Abby (Ham) Spaulding.

Dr. E. F. McQuesten continued to practice and reside at Nashua until his death, July 19, 1906, at Squirrel Island, Me. He was then the oldest practicing physician in Nashua, though not the oldest in point of years, and was generally conceded to stand first among the city's practitioners. He was pre-eminent in surgery for the abdominal sections; was frequently called upon to perform operations and to act in the capacity of expert witness in the courts of New Hampshire and Massachusetts. His pleasing personality as well as his recognized ability made him a favorite with the public and the medical profession, which honored him with various official positions. He was a member of the American Medical Association of Railroad Surgeons; the New Hampshire Medical Society, holding the office of president in 1895; the Nashua and the New York Medico-Legal Societies. He had taken all the degrees of Masonry; was a Democrat in politics. He traveled extensively and we are indebted to him for some notes gathered in Belfast, Ireland. His widow died Feb. 11, 1921. Children:

230. i. Philip, b. Dec. 27, 1888; m. Sept. 27, 1917.
231. ii. Josephine, b. Feb. 7, 1890; m. Oct. 7, 1919.
232. iii. Eugene Forrest, II, b. Apr. 21, 1892; m. June 21, 1924.

230. Dr. Philip McQuesten (229 Dr. Eugene F.), born Dec. 27, 1888, at Nashua, N. H.; graduated from Philip Exeter Academy, 1907; Dartmouth College, 1911; Harvard Medical School, 1915; was for two years house surgeon at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital; served in the World War as 1st Lieutenant of a Medical Corps, July 1917-19; married Sept. 27, 1917, Elizabeth Swart, born Mar. 31, 1892, daughter of William D. Swart. Dr. Philip now occupies his father's former residence and continues his practice at Nashua, N. H. No children.

231. Josephine McQuesten (229 Dr. Eugene F.), born Feb. 7, 1890, at Nashua, N. H.; married Oct. 7, 1919, Philip Edward MORRIS, son of George K. and Nellie Morris. Mr. Morris is a bookseller and stationer at Nashua. Children:

i. Robert "McQ.," b. Sept. 14, 1920.
ii. Anna Elizabeth, b. June 11, 1922.
iii. Margaret, b. June 27, 1923.
iv. Ruth, b. Mar. 23, 1926.

232. Eugene Forrest McQuesten, II (229 Dr. Eugene F.), born Apr. 21, 1892, at Nashua, N. H.; graduated from high school in 1910; Dartmouth College, 1915; and Tuck School of Business and Finance, 1916; served in the World War as Ordnance Sergeant, Ordnance Corps, April 1917 to July 1919. He married June 21, 1924, Marjorie Ruth Hunt, daughter of Albert Hunt of Nashua. He is now connected with the Nashua Manufacturing Company. Children:

i. EUGENE FORREST, III, b. July 25, 1925.
ii. VIRGINIA, b. July 9, 1927.

233. FRANCIS HENRY MCQUESTEN (228 Isaac), born Apr. 18, 1848, in Litchfield, N. H.; was associated with his father many years in cutting and rafting big timber down the Merrimack River to Lowell until portable mills were adopted as more practical; was partner of his uncle, Samuel Chase, in operating the ferry across the Merrimack at Hudson during the building of the bridge in 1881; later he was engaged in wood and ice business, and later still was a surveyor of lumber, until failing health compelled him to retire. In politics he was a Democrat and held every office the town afforded including a membership in the legislature in the eighties. He married Jan. 1, 1874, Addie M. Woodard, born in 1848, died Mar. 17, 1877; married second, Mar. 27, 1889, Katherine Ingalls Frye, born Apr. 23, 1858. He died Aug. 6, 1924, on the old Simon Homestead after an illness of nearly ten years. His widow died Feb. 19, 1937. Children:

i. HARRY FORREST, b. Dec. 31, 1876; unm.; d. Oct. 8, 1901.
ii. DONALD FRYE, b. Feb. 9, 1892; m. Dec. 7, 1921, Bernice Bailey Abbott, born Aug. 4, 1893, daughter of Alvah and Nellie Esther (Bailey) Abbott. Donald F. has charge of the department of office furniture of A. E. Cole, Stationers, Lawrence, Mass.

234. JENNIE FLORENCE MCQUESTEN (228 Isaac), born Apr. 1, 1855, in Litchfield, N. H.; taught in the country schools of Hudson, Merrimack, and Litchfield; married Mar. 28, 1878, Frederick Lewis CENTER, born Jan. 5, 1846, in Litchfield. As a descendant of the very early settlers and defenders of the colonies in the Revolution, patriotism and loyalty were among her chief characteristics. She was identified with every interest that concerned her native town and her influence as a leader was marked. It was due to her activity that a free public library was founded in Litchfield and she was its librarian until her death, Dec. 9, 1915. She was hospitable in nature; she was organist of her church for a long time. She, as well as her father, was interested in the writing of the family history, and continued to gather notes now contributed by her daughters. Mr. Center continued to live in their home until his death, Sept. 28, 1934. Children:

i. Lizzie Margaret, b. Jan. 17, 1881; m. June 11, 1913, George Crosby Goffe, born Oct. 22, 1874, died Jan. 30, 1935.
ii. Florence Caroline, b. May 26, 1888; unm.; is librarian. They own half of their grandfather Isaac's farm which was originally part of the Simon Homestead.

235. Elizabeth McQuesten (227 Robert H.), born June 6, 1822, in Litchfield, N. H.; married Nov. 8, 1849, James SANDERSON, deceased. She died Jan. 30, 1903. Children:

i. Clarence Eaton, b. Nov. 25, 1865; m. Dec. 7, 1898, Estella Emery; d. June 15, 1917.
ii. Eugene James.
iii. Mary.

236. Mary Nahor McQuesten (227 Robert H.), born May 27, 1824, in Litchfield, N. H.; married Oct. 6, 1848, Samuel Harvey ANDREWS, born Nov. 15, 1822, at Claremont, N. H., son of Samuel Whiting and Eliza (French) Andrews. He was a carpenter, musician, and farmer. She died Feb. 19, 1902, and he died Dec. 20, 1907. Child:

i. Mary Ella Lizzie, b. July 26, 1851, at Claremont; clerk and teacher; m. June 9, 1888, William Wesley Poole of Cornish; he died Nov. 15, 1891. She m. second, Dec. 30, 1899, Henry Lyman Fletcher of Claremont; he died there June 13, 1929.

237. Thomas McQuesten (227 Robert H.), born Oct. 16, 1830, in the cottage on the Simon Homestead in Litchfield; married May 17, 1860, Emily Pierce Blood, born Dec. 6, 1833, at Temple, N. H., daughter of Howard S. and Rhoda (Pierce)

Blood. He was overseer in Souhegan Mills, Milford, N. H.; moved to Litchfield, May 8, 1877. She died Jan. 12, 1884; he died Feb. 19, 1902. Child:

i. WALTER THOMAS, b. Feb. 9, 1869, at Milford; unm.; is an engineer on the Boston and Maine R. R., and lives at Hudson, Litchfield Township, N. H. He has a valuable collection of antique and handmade bottles.

Pennsylvania Lines - - North Carolina Lines

Boston, Mass.; New Castle, Del., and Charleston, S. C., were the three ports of entry open to the Scotch-Irish, the bulk of whom arrived at New Castle. The port at Boston was Charlestown, Mass. Between the years 1729 and 1750 there was an annual arrival of 12,000, mostly from the province of Ulster. The country along the Atlantic coast was comparatively thickly settled, and they took up their abode on the outskirts of civilization for the same reason that later took the emigrant to the West, that is, because good land was cheap and large families could be supported at small expense. They took with them their religion and their schools.

Except in a general way the records of this immigration are difficult to trace and are only found by examining old deeds, wills, and family traditions.

From New Castle, a large proportion of this class pushed on into Pennsylvania and settled west of Conestoga Creek. The three original counties of Pennsylvania were Bucks, Philadelphia, and Chester, from which Lancaster was cut off in 1729. One of the earliest of these settlements was at Octoraro, in Lancaster County. History states that the original settlers of Sadsbury Township were Friends and Scotch-Irish Presbyterians. A few of these Scotch-Irish came through New York from Londonderry, N. H. Among the names listed in the above township is that of Whiston. The compiler found McWhiston as a synonym of our name in a book in the Dublin Castle of Arms.

The heads of the early group of Pennsylvania-North Carolina settlers were Robert, Thomas, and James McCuiston.

The Middle Octoraro Presbyterian Church of Bart Township, Lancaster County, was organized in 1734, and Rev. Alexander Craighead was ordained as the first regular pastor. The Scotch-Irish who landed at New Castle in 1735 attended this church. Among them was Walter Denny, the father-in-law of Robert McCuiston.

Above Sadsbury Township is Salisbury and in this township lived Andrew Caldwell who immigrated to this country from Scotland prior to 1718. In that year he married Ann Stewart. His son, Rev. David Caldwell, who was born Mar. 22, 1725, married Rachel, daughter of Rev. Alexander Craighead. The latter purchased land on Old Road. Salisbury and Sadsbury Townships touch the Chester County line, and below them is Coleraine Township. Just west and touching Sadsbury and Coleraine is Bart Township. A few of the Presbyterians worshiped at the James Fulton Paper Mill two and one-half miles east of Oxford, Chester County, Pa., until they built the church called "East Nottingham" two miles east of Oxford. They occupied this until 1751.

Cumberland County was cut off from Lancaster in 1750. The Presbyterian Church was organized at Carlisle in 1751. The first Covenanter minister to arrive in America was Rev. John Cuthbertson, a native of Campbelltown, Argyleshire, Scotland. He reached Little Octoraro, Lancaster County, early in August, and on Aug. 24, 1751, preached the first sermon at Carlisle, remaining there until 1774.

During the period that intervened between the Indian Wars and the War of the Revolution several companies of emigrants from Sadsbury and adjoining townships went to what is now Guilford County, North Carolina. A company called "Nottingham Company" of Pennsylvania bought a large tract of land on Buffalo and Reedy Fork creeks.

James and Thomas "McUiston," as the name appears in the earliest records, went with this colony.

Robert went to Cumberland County, Pennsylvania. Among the elders who attended Donegal Presbytery were the ones from Octoraro, Nottingham, and Chestnut Level.

1. ROBERT McCUISTON'S date and place of birth are not known. Among his descendants who remained in Pennsylvania is the tradition that he was born in Paisley, Scotland. From the period of the Reformation down to the year 1738 the Abbey Church was the only one in the town and parish of Paisley. Old or Low Church was built in 1738; High, in 1756; Middle, in 1781. No one of our name was found in the records for the Abbey which began in 1676; there is no one among the residents of Paisley in the tax roll of 1695, the earliest list preserved. It is probable that Robert was born in Ireland and that an earlier generation left Renfrewshire or even Argyleshire with James Hamilton, Earl of Abercorn. His descendants were closely connected with Paisley. Sir Claud Hamilton, who became Lord Paisley, was one of the first to receive grants in Ireland. Note that in the article on Emigration to Ireland and America is the record of John Maccuiston in the Company of Col. Gustavus Hamilton's Regiment.

Robert's memorandum book, now in the possession of his great-great-grandson, Robert Ellis, of Greensboro, Guilford County, N. C., is the earliest definite information we have of him. The book is covered with parchment and has attached to it a string of the same to tie around it. On the first leaf is written: "Dear Captain I hope You will mind your promise to me aboute putting my Uncle Tom in a Convenient Birth and his Close in ye Bead Roome I wish God may grant safe Voyage. Yr Servt Thos Hamilton." On the last leaf of the book is: "Landed in America at New Castle the 6 of Augt 1735—written September ye 14 1735 Robert mcCuiston."

We have no further reference to "Uncle Tom," but believe that he may have been the Thomas McCuiston who received a grant in North Carolina in 1753. Thomas Hamilton was probably Margery's son—"Old Aunt Margery" of the family letters and of Alexander McCuiston's will.

While there have been vague references to Delaware and New Jersey, to Darby Township, and to the fact that Robert was the first Archmason in Baltimore, we know nothing about where he lived until 1751 when he is among the taxables of West Pennsboro, Cumberland County, Pa. His name appears as ROBERT McQUESTON in the Probate Records of Lancaster County, when he is listed as son-in-law of Walter Denny whose will was probated June 20, 1752. We hear of him later in 1752 and in 1754, when he received warrants for tracts of land. These are recorded in Book A2, p. 317, of the Cumberland County Records:

"Whereas the Honourable Proprietaries of the Province of Pennsylvania did grant unto Robert McCuston a warrant to take up 200 acres of land adjoining Thomas Cooks and others in West Pennsborrow Township, Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, bearing date 19th Feb. 1752, And also another Warrant to take up 100 acres adjoining his other land bearing date 14th May 1754.

In pursuance of which two Warrants, there was surveyed for him (Robert McCuston) as follows, viz.:" Then follows the boundary of this survey which is said to inclose 691¼ acres plus six per cent for roads. All of which Robert McCuiston proceeds to sell on Aug. 14, 1765 to William Gillespie for 440£ lawful money of Pennsylvania.

William Gillespie died intestate leaving four sons before any of this land was patented, part of it being patented by his grandson, James Y. Gillespie. All grants seem to have been loosely or liberally surveyed, allowing 6 per cent for roads and usually a "more or less."

This land was patented in five different tracts:

By John Kennedy	29 Jany. 1791	171 A	91 P	76£ 1s
By Wm. Gillespie	24 Feby. 1812	104 A	143 P	$165.40
By Jane Gillespie Exr.	24 June 1812	206 A	147 P	$340.89
By Adam Brittain	12 Nov. 1812	181 A	117 P	$174.34
By Jas. Y. Gillespie	9 Apr. 1844	246 A	50 P	$ 84.50

All this was patented from said McCuiston tract except a certain part of Adam Brittain's 181 acres which included a warrant granted to himself. Besides all this, the patent surveys do not rigidly follow the original survey.

Robert married Ann Denny, daughter of Walter Denny and Margery, his wife. We know nothing about her except these few extracts from records. Lancaster County, Pennsylvania Wills, 1752, Vol. 188. Denny, Walter. Died March 16, 1752. Proved June 20, 1752. Executors William Montgomery and John Allison. Little Brittain Township. Wife, Margery Denny. Child, John. Sons-in-law, Robert McQuesten, John Evins, and David Denny (wives names not stated).

Notes & Queries by Egle, 3rd Series, Vol. 2, p. 257. Margery Denny, widow of Walter Denny of Little Brittain Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, died June 1761, leaving daughters as follows: Sarah married John Evans; Ann married Robert McQuestion; Margery married David Dunning.

The History of Lancaster County says that Walter Denny received a warrant for 100 acres of land on Conowingo, Sept. 1, 1737, and another warrant, Nov. 12, 1742. These warrants surveyed together were sold by John Denny (son of Walter) to

Joshua Brown about 1757. Little Brittain Township was formerly "Drumore."

Robert was evidently contemplating a move to North Carolina as shown by the following document recorded at Salisbury, Rowan County, N. C., Vol. 6, p. 257, 1764:

"Robert McCuiston from James McCuiston 353 acres 10th day of November 1764. Thomas Flack ROBERT McCUISTON (Seal)
James McCuistion jur. James Cootes. Proved July Sessions 1766.

Robert died Dec. 13, 1765, according to data gathered by Walter Ruffin McCuistion, about 1898, and sent to Ed. H. McCuistion. W. R. McCuistion wrote "Robert died the same year he moved from Pennsylvania to North Carolina," also, "This date was repeated in an old Bible." Robert was probably the first to be buried in the plantation burying ground which was sold "to the relations" before the family left North Carolina for Tennessee. We have no record of his widow's death.

The record of the children is from the memorandum book; the Mc is all written $\frac{\text{c}}{\text{m}}$. Children:

2. i. James, b. Nov. 29, 1736; m. 1762; d. Oct. 24, 1804.
151. ii. Margery, b. May 14, 1739; m.; d.
152. iii. John, b. Feb. 16, 1741; m. Jan. 12, 1768; d.
153. iv. Walter, b. Mar. 8, 1743; m. Jan. 27, 1768; d. Oct. 15, 1825.
270. v. Jeane, b. Apr. 1, 1745; m. twice; d.
271. vi. Sarah, b. May 23, 1747; m. July 31, 1769; d.
272. vii. Meary, b. Sept. 17, 1749; m. July 18, 1769; d.

2. JAMES MCCUISTON (1 Robert), "Boren in A(merica) (only the A is legible), Nov. 29, 1736," probably in Derby Township, Delaware County, Pennsylvania; received 19 Feb. 1752, a warrant for 150 acres of land in West Pennsboro Township, Cumberland County, Pennsylvania; he was married in 1762, probably at Silver Spring, by Rev. John Cuthbertson, to Margaret Trindle, born 1746, daughter of William Trindle of Allen Township. Beginning with 1763 and on through 1768 we find him among the taxables of West Pennsboro, name spelled McQuiston. The deed records show that he sold his rights, June 27, 1768, to James Little for 165 pounds lawful money. The tract called "Union" containing 212 acres 137 perches when surveyed, was patented later by John Brown.

In 1769 the office for taking up land farther west in the county was opened. Bedford County was erected from Cumberland, Mar. 9, 1771; the old tax rolls (Bedford County) for 1779 show that a Mount Pleasant landowner who resided on the manor was James McCuiston. Fairfield, Mount Pleasant, and Hempfield townships organized during the April Sessions became a part of Westmoreland County which was organized Feb. 26, 1773. G. D. Albert, in his history, says, "It was called Westmoreland after the county of that name in England, a name which geographically describes its situation. It was the eleventh of the original provincial counties and was the last one created under the hereditory proprietors." Most of its settlers were from Cumberland Valley.

The Scotch-Irish in America, by Hanna, Vol. II, p. 82, gives us this: He quotes from Rev. David McClure's diary. "September 10, 1772. Thursday, preached at Mr. McQuestin's, near the head of Sewickley Creek. May 1, 1773. Rode to James McQuestin's with Mr. Moorhead and preached to the people of Sewickley Creek, who had convened in the woods. The number was considerable. After sermon rode seven miles to Hugh Bay's."

The Pennsylvania Archives, Second Series, Vol. III, gives a list of 94 Signers of the Oath of Fidelity taken before Hugh Martin and Certified by James Kinkead, Recorder, among them are: Anthony McQueston, July 7, 1777; James McQuiston, Oct. ye 9, 1777. The compiler examined the list in the State House and found that the name was spelled there, James McCuiston. Dallas Albert's History, Appendix B, gives a copy of the Resolutions—oath—taken at Hannastown by the inhabitants of Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, 16th May 1775, occasioned by the dispute with Great Britain and is taken from the American Archives, 4th Ser. Vol. 11, p. 615. It was this oath which the 94 inhabitants of Westmoreland County signed. This was Westmoreland's Declaration of Independence. The association of Westmoreland County was but an identical organization, which under different local arrangements extended all over the provinces, which was acknowledged as a loyal, patriotic representation at the first meeting at Carpenter's Hall, Philadelphia. The father of Gen. John Pershing and Anthony McQueston (of Derry Township) of Gen. Proctor's Army were two of the original signers in the organization of Hannastown, then Capital of Westmoreland County, in 1774, two years before the Declaration of Independence was signed in Philadelphia. The regiment was under Gen. Proctor; it did not serve in the Continental armies under that organization, but most of those who had been active in forming it served in various capacities, and the associators becoming a regular military organization by act of the General Assembly, many of the officers were retained, and promotion within its ranks were regular.

About Anthony: we find in the Pennsylvania Archives, Series Three, Vol. XXIII, p. 12, Muster Rolls of the Navy. 1776-79. List of Bombadiers. Arnold Battery commanded by Jeremiah Simmons, from Dec. 1, 1770 to Jan. 1, 1777. Anthony McQueston, Oct. 18, 1776. Series Six, Vol. V, p. 1, 426, lists Anthony McQuiston. Nothing further is known of him.

Pennsylvania Archives, Vol. XXII, p. 435, Series Three, gives us the next data: Transcript of property, County of Westmoreland, 1783, Mount Pleasant Township—Ja's McQueston 200 Acres. Page 522 of the same volume, Return of Taxables, County of Westmoreland, Mt. Pleasant township; 1786: Ja's McQuiston, Wm McQuiston. Westmoreland County Land Records, Book B, p. 110, Oct. 1786. James Ferguson of Mount Pleasant tp to William Wilson of tp and Co and State aforesaid—land where I now live lying on the waters of Sewickley beginning at Hugh Martain's line and adjoining land of John Taylor, Robert Taylor, James McQuiston.

In 1789, Unity Township was cut off Mount Pleasant so when the Census was taken in 1790, it found James McQuiston in that township. While this Census gives but little exact information, it indicates that James had three sons and two daughters at home, and that his eldest son, William, was in Mount Pleasant Township with his wife, son, and daughter; that his second son, Robert, was in Derry Township with his wife, son, and daughter. By 1800, Derry had been cut off of Unity and we find James McQuiston in Derry Township. Besides himself there are five males under 26, one female under 16, and two females over 45. The sons, William and Robert, are in Derry, also.

The Westmoreland Probate Records give us our next information. Book A, Administration Docket, p. 164. James McQuiston Deceased. "Be it Remembered—that on the 24th day of October A D 1804 Letter of Administration on the estate of James McQuiston, Deceased, was granted to Margaret McQuiston & Nicholas Chapman, they having given bond of Six hundred pounds, David Sample and John Denniston Securities for the faithful performance thereof." There is a female over 45 in the family of David McQuiston Derry Township in 1810. There is recorded an agreement between William McQuiston and John Gibson to pay Margaret McQuiston an annuity during her lifetime. This was in 1819 and the last time there is any mention of her. James and Margaret are believed to be buried in Old Salem Churchyard, Derry Township.

The Recorder's office shows the sale of 342 Acres 143 Perches of land, called "Campbellstown" in Derry Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, from Wm. and Joseph Campbell to Margaret, widow of James and Heirs on Mar. 11, 1808, for $666.67. The Campbells patented the land from the government in 1807. This purchase was made in pursuance of a contract entered into before the death of James. All the members of family are named in the deed and nearly all the children were married and some had families.

The descendants of James have continued to use the spelling McQuiston, while his brothers and their descendants who went to North Carolina use the original one. Children named in the estate papers:

3. i. WILLIAM, b. June 10, 1763; m.; d. Mar. 31, 1833.
62. ii. ROBERT, b. 1765; m.; d. 1813.

63. iii. Betsey Ann, b. 1767; m.; d.
64. iv. Sarah Janet, b. 1772; m. 1795; d. Dec. 22, 1845.
65. v. Mary (Polly), b. Oct. 25, 1773; m. Oct. 20, 1794; d. 1808.
66. vi. John, b. Aug. 9, 1776; m. May 4, 1802; d. Apr. 4, 1849.
116. vii. James, b. 1778; m.; d. 1823.
121. viii. Alexander, b. Mar. 10, 1782; m. twice; d. May 31, 1867.
134. ix. David, b. 1784; m. 1810; d. July 23, 1877.

3. William McQuiston (2 James), born June 10, 1763, in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania; married Miss Crow, descendants say. We learn from the will of John Crow that she was Mary. She was born in 1765.

Pennsylvania Archives, Series Six, Vol. V, p. 770, Muster roll of Captn. Wm. Moorhead's Co. of Westmoreland County. Militia employed as ranger entered June 1794, discharged June 9, 1794. Private Wm. McQuiston.

The document providing for a small annuity to his mother was recorded 23 Nov. 1819, in Vol. 13, p. 581 of the deed records. It involves the sale of land, apparently his inheritance from his father.

Mrs. Wineman, granddaughter of William's sister Janet Sterling, wrote: "William owned a farm adjoining Salem and was very prominent in that religious atmosphere while he lived."

John Barnett kept the record of this church from 1852 to 1884. On the flyleaf of his first book he wrote: "The first mention of Salem Church was at the meeting of Redstone Presbytery on the 18th of April 1786, when application was made for supplies. Church History says that on Oct. 15, of that year, Mr. Barr was sent; Apr. 20, 1790, Salem called Mr. John M'Pherrin. Mr. Barnett went on to record that after him came Rev. Thos. Moore, then Rev. Robert Lee, and after him in 1822, Rev. Thomas Davis, at which time no record was found."

The record shows that William McQuiston was enrolled as present in 1822 at a meeting when Rev. Davis took charge and on Apr. 27, 1832, the only meetings in all that time at which the names of the Elders were enrolled or mentioned. In 1822 Mrs. Mary McQuiston was enrolled as a member. June 1823, William McQuiston, Jr., and Rebecca McQuiston were admitted as members; Oct. 3, 1829, Robert McQuiston and Eliza McQuiston; May 30, 1830, Jane McQuiston; May 13, 1831, Elizabeth McQuiston; Oct. 9, 1931, Samuel McQuiston; Oct. 1, 1835, Matilda McQuiston. Mr. Barnett also mentioned that the township was named "Derry" because a large portion of the settlers came from Londonderry County, Ireland, and were known as Scotch-Irish. The above is from a letter by J. M. Barnett—grandson of the Church clerk—to the compiler.

A deed in the Derry Township, Westmoreland County, Records, Vol. 16, p. 505, 3 Apr. 1827—shows that William married Martha, born after 1760, widow of John Anderson of Derry Township, sometime after 1811.

A Patent in Book H 37, p. 16, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the land involved in the above deed was granted to William McQuiston, 27 Apr. 1830.

Will Book 2, p. 282:

In the name of God Amen, I, William McQuiston, of Derry Township, County of Westmoreland and State of Pennsylvania, being in a declining state of health but still favored with a Sound Mind, Memory, & Judgement, thanks be to God for the Same, Do make and publish this my last will & testament in the form and manner following: first of all I commit my Soul to God who gave it and my Body to the Dust to be buried in a Sober and Christian like manner at the will of my executors hereinafter mentioned and as to Such worldly property as God has blessed me with in the present life, I will and dispose of it in the form and manner following:

I will and bequeath to my beloved wife Martha Eighteen acres of land ajoining the place that I now live on and the land of James Hendersons to be her property and at her disposal and all the cow, cattle that I own. I will to my Son William his heirs and assigns Seventy three acres of land where he now lives including the four acre field upon the West of the Run.

I will and bequeath to my Son Robert and to my Daughter Jemima intermarried to Mark Greer all the Remainder of my land at the Ridge to be equally divided betwixt them.

I will and bequeath to my daughter Polly Sixty Eight Dollars in Money.

I will and bequeath to my Son John one dollar. I Will and bequeath to my daughter Elizabeth's Children one dollar.

I will and bequeath to my Son James' Children one dollar.

I will and bequeath to my Daughter Sally's children one Dollar.

After my decease I allow all my personal property that is not bequeathed to be sold and after my Debts is paid if there is any overplush it is my will that my Daughter Sally should have it. I do appoint Mark Greer and Thomas Dunlap Executors of this my last will & testament hereby revoking all former wills made by me and declaring this to be my last will & testament 11 day of Feb. 1833.

Witnesses James Long WM. McQUISTON
& Thomas Elder Proved the 19th day of April 1833.

William died Mar. 31, 1833; his widow died in 1836; they are said to be buried in Old Salem Churchyard. The record of the children is copied from the family Bible as kept by William. He omitted the record of his wife and oldest daughter. Bible was in possession of Samuel Roy when data were copied. Children:

i. ELIZABETH, b. May 29, 1786; m. before 1810, George Singlay; d. June 1, 1828. Dates are from her tombstone.

4. JAMES MCQUISTON (3 William), born Feb. 10, 1788, in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania; married Jane Clendenning, born 1790-94. In the 1810 Census we find him in Derry Township, with a wife and daughter. On July 2, 1816, James McQuiston received a warrant for 85 acres of land in West Wheatfield Township, Indiana County. It was patented by Jas. Wakefield and was found to contain 86 acres and 114 perches. Book H, No. 65, p. 321. The 26 Dec. 1816, James McQuiston received a warrant for 300 acres in Black Lick Township, Indiana County. This was patented by Samuel Moorhead and proved to contain 323.96 perches. Vol. H, No. 40, p. 308.

We find James in the 1820 Census for Wheatfield Township, with a wife, five daughters, and two sons. Indiana County was cut off of Westmoreland County in 1803.

We have no record of the death of James, it seems to have been before 1843. Petitions for guardian are recorded in the Orphan's Court of Indiana County, Book 2, p. 277, 15 Mar. 1843; and in Book 3, p. 457, the 22 Dec. 1850, for sons James, Clendenin, and a daughter, Amy. Jane Doty, afterwards Jane Jewell, was appointed.

After the death of James, his widow remarried to Zebulan Doty, and after the latter's death she again remarried to Reuben Jewell who died in 1850. We do not have the date of her death; her will was proved 9 Aug. 1858. Recorded in Book 2, p. 397. Indiana County, Pennsylvania. Last will of Jane Jewell, widow & relict of Reuben Jewell decd. of the borough of Blairsville, Indiana County, Pennsylvania; to my son William McQuiston of Saltsburg the real estate situate in the borough of Blairsville, described or mentioned in the declaration of Trust of my late husband, Reuben Jewell, dated the 24th of Oct. 1850, recorded at Indiana in Record of Deeds, Book No. 17, p. 80, 29th day of Oct. 1850. The said William to pay & satisfy my just debts & funeral expenses out of my personal estate and effects not herein specially disposed of "as far as that will go" including whatever may be due to himself for charges against me, since receiving assignments of my Land Warrant (bounty land from the U. S. Government) etc.; to my sister Anne Benny; to my grandson George C. Cribbs; to my granddaughter Nancy Jane Blackburn; to my granddaughter Sarah M. Kimmel; to my granddaughter Emma Jane Annor; to my grandsons, sons of Clendenin McQuiston, to wit, James R. D. and William McQuiston and to his daughter, Anne Elizabeth; and to his son Charles; and to my son Clendenin. Further it is my will that my granddaughter Anne Jane Murry, intermarried with a man named Frye, etc. To my daughter, Jane Cribbs, wife of Joseph Cribbs of Indiana County. Jane (X) Jewell. Will proved and letters granted 9 Aug. 1858. Children:

5. i. Eliza, b. 1808; m. before 1830; d. before 1858.

xii. Daughter, b. 1828; d.
14. xiii. Jackson Clendenin, b. Dec. 11, 1830; m. 1850; d. Aug. 30, 1864.

One of the daughters married Thomas Jones, a forty-niner.

5. Eliza McQuiston (4 James), born 1808 in Derry Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania; married before 1830, Daniel CRIBBS (Kreps) who was born in 1804. We have no dates of their deaths but think that she died before 1858. They resided in Indiana County. Children:

i. Jane. ii. George C., m. Isabel Deevers who died in 1874, aged 48 years.

6. Jane Ann McQuiston (4 James), born 1810 in Derry Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania; married before 1830, Joseph CRIBBS who was born in 1808, brother of Daniel Cribbs; resided in Indiana County. Son:

i. Samuel.

7. William McQuiston (4 James), born Mar. 1, 1819, in Indiana County, Pennsylvania; became part owner of a Canal Boat Line, McQuiston & Bingham, which operated from Pittsburgh to Blairsville; he lived at one time in Maysville, Armstrong County. After that he was a grain and feed merchant in Saltsburg, Indiana County. Married Myrtilla R. Carlton who was born in 1825, daughter of E. and M. Carlton. To her were born two sons and two daughters; she died May 29, 1857. He married second, Elizabeth W. Rhea who was born in 1836; he died July 1, 1885, in Conemaugh Township, Indiana County; his widow died July 14, 1892, in the same township. Most of the family are buried in the Saltsburg Cemetery. Children:

i. Clarence Emmitt, b. Oct. 20, 1848; unm.; d. Nov. 21, 1871.

26. JOHN (CROW) MCQUISTON (3 William), born July 19, 1791, in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, probably in Mount Pleasant Township; was without doubt John Crow McQuiston who died Feb. 10, 1878, at Greensburg, Decatur County, Ind.

Mrs. Jennie Wineman, granddaughter of Janet McQuiston Sterling, in letters to her half-brother, J. M. Sterling, and to the compiler named the children of 2 James, 1 Robert, and then the children of 3 William. In the list of the latter she named: James, Billy, Robert, and Jemima and further wrote: "John went west, married and became the father of William." She wrote that her first knowledge of him had come through her son-in-law, Milton Thomson, in Indianapolis, as they attended the same church. She wrote that their families became "close kin."

William told her that he was a son of John and grandson of William of Derry, meaning Derry Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. These letters were written in 1920. William, living with his daughter, Mrs. Mallory, in 1902 wrote the compiler: "My mother died when I was some three or four years old and I was separated from the family and have never lived with nor known much of them since father was married three times and raised three sets of children. I was one of four of the first wife's children. I never lived at home nor visited relatives except father, occasionally, after I was grown. Father's name was John, he told me that his father's name was William, a native of Scotland, who immigrated to America before the Revolution, located near Philadelphia, Pa., and afterwards moved to the interior of Westmoreland County. He went on to name his father's brothers. By re-reading the earlier history of this line, the descendants will readily see that the immigrant to America was two generations earlier than his grandfather. He went on to say: "I never saw any of father's brothers nor his kinsmen in Pennsylvania. Father emigrated to Cincinnati when a young man. My mother, a neighbor in Pennsylvania, with her people followed, and they were married in what was then a small village about ninety years ago. About 1811, Cincinnati District took in the whole southwestern part of what is now the State of Ohio."

The History of Hamilton County, Ohio, says that John was a brewer for many years. The Directory for 1829 gives John McQueston, Malster, Symmes near Ludlow. The Census of Cincinnati for 1830 gives John McQuiston born 1790-1800. In the 1860 Census for Lawrenceburg, he gave his age as 75, making him born in 1785. His wife, Mary Morris' age is given as 56 years, making her born in 1804. In 1823 he moved to Madison, Jefferson County, Ind.; went back to Cincinnati; then to Lawrenceburg, Ind., going to Greensburg a few years before his death to be near his son, John Craven. His obituary printed in The Greensburg Standard, says: "He served one year under General Harrison, in the army of the northwest, during the War of 1812. In 1822 he came to this place with the late Samuel Logan, who, with the Hendricks, Howards, Gagebys, and Stewarts, were his old Pennsylvania neighbors." He lived in Lawrenceburg, Ind., about thirty years, and is buried there.

He was married Feb. 23, 1815, in Hamilton, Butler County, Ohio, by Michael Ayers, Esq., J. P., to Eleanor Craven. She was born 1794-1802 in Pennsylvania, and died in Cincinnati, Ohio, 1825-26. To her were born two sons and two daughters. He married second, in 1829, Margaret Scott who was born in 1801, and died Apr. 17, 1839. She is buried in the Lawrenceburg, Ind., Cemetery; her tombstone records that she was the daughter of James and Ruth Scott. To her were born four daughters.

He married third, July 25, 1848, at Lawrenceburg, Dearborn County, Ind., Mrs. Mary (Morris) Marshall who was born Dec. 21, 1807, in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. He died Feb. 10, 1878, at Greensburg, Ind. His widow died Dec. 29, 1885. To her were born two sons, making John Crow the father of four sons and six daughters. Children:

She died Sept. 8, 1889, in Oskaloosa, Iowa.

A letter written by William, Mar. 2, 1888, to Thomas McQuiston in Ireland was turned over to the compiler. He wrote: "The whole family in this country, so far as I know, have been professed Christians of Presbyterian Denomination."

Mrs. Wineman wrote of him: "He was the corner stone in the record he has left to the McQuiston family, all that represents well-bred refinement, courteous intelligence, loving christianity, unswerving fellowship, soul beauty in face, form, life, and manner. With his death I felt that his community and the Presbyterian Church lost a very good man and I a worth-while example to help me walk in Heavenly places." He died May 5, 1904, in Indianapolis, and is buried in Oskaloosa, Iowa. Children:

i. Charles M. ii. Reno.

32. Gen. John Craven McQuiston (26 John Crow), was born Aug. 17, 1823, in Madison, Jefferson County, Ind. The following account is condensed from the History of Hamilton County, and Cincinnati, Ohio, and the War Department, Washington, D. C.

Gen. John Craven McQuiston was educated in the Cincinnati public schools and the private school of John Talburt. He learned the distillery business with David Gibson at Lawrenceburg, Ind., and worked for A. P. Hull and with T. and J. M. Gaffga at Aurora, Ind.; then he was in the malting and forwarding commission business with his brother at Madison, Ind., for two years and a half. He married Jan. 16, 1845, at Lawrenceburg, Ind., Frances Amanda, daughter of George Bailey.

When the Lawrenceburg and Indianapolis Railroad was built he ran the first locomotive, the "Anthony Wayne," over that line and continued as engineer six years and was then conductor until the Civil War, when he recruited the 16th Indiana Volunteers of which he was Captain and served fourteen months under Gen. Lucas. The President then appointed him Provost Marshal of the North Indiana District. In 1863, he recruited the 123rd Indiana Infantry of which he was commissioned Colonel by Gov. Morton. He soon took command of the Second Brigade, Fourth Division, 24th Army Corps, with which he participated until the fall of Atlanta. He then returned to Nashville, went to Washington by rail and by ship to Fort Anderson on Cape Fear River. From there he marched through North Carolina and joined Sherman's Army at Goldsboro. He was commissioned Brevet Brigadier General, Volunteers on the 13th Mar.

1865, for distinguished gallantry and service during the war. After the fall of Richmond he returned to Indiana and was honorably mustered out the 25th Aug. 1865.

Three days after returning home he resumed work as passenger conductor on the Big Four but was soon given charge of a Division. When Mr. Ingalls became president of the road, John Craven McQuiston was made road master of the main line which he completely remodeled as to track, bridges, and water service.

In the spring of 1884 he went to the Missouri Pacific and later did track work on the Union Pacific, being road master of a western division for five years. He then traveled a year for Fred C. Wier, manufacturer railroad frogs, Cincinnati. In May 1890, he became ballast inspector for the K. C. F. S. & M. Railroad.

A 1926 news article by "Squire Dixon," of the 174th Ohio Volunteer Infantry, says the 123rd Indiana Volunteers commanded by Col. John C. McQuiston was conspicuous in the Battle of Kingston, North Carolina—one of the last of consequence of the Civil War—10 Mar. 1865 and he gives them credit for preventing the capture of his Ohio Company by "Hoke."

An anonymous article in the August 12th issue of the Indianapolis Star relates that before the war when John C. lived in Lawrenceburg, Ind., John Morgan, a young distiller, lived across the river in Petersburg, Ky., and that they belonged to the same Masonic Lodge in Lawrenceburg—by virtue of which he gives McQuiston credit for preventing the destruction of the bridges on the I. C. & L. R. R. during one of Morgan's dramatic raids during the war, and at the time McQuiston was at home after his first fourteen months' service. (Clipping loaned by Mrs. F. L. McQuiston.)

Another clipping relates that a bell known as "Old Silvertone" was raised from the bed of the Ohio River under leadership of John C. by men from the Big Four and later taken to Indianapolis. He died Feb. 22, 1903; she died Feb. 24, 1909, both at Williford, Ark., and are buried at Springfield, Mo. Children:

i. Minnie, resided at Cannonsburg. Mrs. Wineman wrote about visiting Minnie Grier whose married name she had forgotten. Efforts to trace her failed.

62. Robert McQuiston (2 James), born 1765, in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania; lived with his family in Derry Township, Westmoreland County, during the twenty years covered by the first three Census of the United States, 1790, 1800, 1810, and the following memoranda is built almost entirely from these records (by R. J. McQuiston).

The 1790 Census gives no clew to the ages of females but records Robert and wife over sixteen and a son and daughter, the former under sixteen. The 1800 Census says both Robert and wife are under forty-five, therefore born since 1755; one son and two daughters under sixteen, so born since 1784; one son and two daughters, under ten, so born since 1790. The 1810 Census has Robert over forty-five, so born in or before 1765; his wife between twenty-six and forty-five, therefore born 1765-84; two daughters, between sixteen and twenty-six, born 1784-94; one son and one daughter, ten to sixteen, born 1794-1800; one son and four daughters, naught to ten, born 1800-1810.

As Robert and wife were both born 1755-65 according to the 1800 Census and she is younger than he and born 1765-74, according to the 1810 Census we must conclude that both were born in 1765, he first.

Letters of administration were granted in Westmoreland County to Anney and David McQuiston on the estate of the above Robert, late of Derry Township, 5th Sept. 1813, which gives us the approximate year of Robert's death. His wife, Anney, was formerly Ann Crow, we feel quite sure. John Crow's will dated Derry Township, Jan. 10, 1801, mentions "My five younger children, James, Jane Taylor, Elizabeth Trimble, Mary McQuiston, Sarah Leasure, and Ann McQuiston . . . son-in-law, William McQuiston, one of the executors." We don't know whether the David mentioned above was Robert's brother or whether he had a son David who served with the wife. We have no record of Ann Crow McQuiston's death but conclude that it occurred before 1820.

We note that the son and daughter of 1790 Census appear in that of 1800 together with another daughter, all born 1784-90, thus giving a positive date for the third child—1790, after the Census man left and fixing the birth of the first and second after 1784. To harmonize the three records we have to assume that the oldest son and daughter are not at home for the 1810 Census. Thus we have one positive date and three brackets of two, three, and five children respectively; a son and daughter born 1784-1790; a daughter born 1790; two daughters and one son born 1784-1800—but think one of the girls belongs before 1794; one son and four daughters born 1800-10. None of these can be taken out of their respective brackets but are interchangeable within the bracket except the first daughter in the second bracket—this child, a girl, born 1784-94. With this understanding it would seem that the list following must be approximately correct, at least within two years. Children—three sons and eight daughters:

i. SON, b. 1786; m. before 1810; d.
ii. DAUGHTER, b. 1788; m. before 1810; d.
iii. DAUGHTER, b. 1790; d.
iv. DAUGHTER, b. 1792; d.
v. DAUGHTER, b. 1794; d.
vi. SON (JAMES?), b. 1796; d.
vii. ALEXANDER, b. 1799-1800; d.
viii. DAUGHTER, b. 1801; d.
ix. DAUGHTER, b. 1803; d.

x. Daughter, b. 1805; d.
xi. Daughter, b. 1807; d.

Orphan's Court, 1817, Robert's son Alexander, petitions for Guardian. Peter Wallace is appointed. Alexr. is 14 years of age or was at death of his father. James in Salem Township in 1830 may be a son.

The following documents are all that appear in the records in regard to Robert.

1790, Oct. 2. Recorded Aug. 10, 1790, Robert McQuiston bought or was given for the sum of Ten Pounds, a strip of land (Amount not stated) from and by John Crow, "Along the partition fence between said Crow and McQuiston to the top of the hill and thence to the river"—Not to be sold by McQuiston while said Crow is alive. Witness by Charles Campbell and James Crow.

1804, Aug. 30. John Crow and Robert McQuiston sold 114 Acres 87 perches and allowance of 6% for Roads called "Rathmelton"—on South side of the Connemaugh River in Derry Township to Henry Livengood for $266.00.

1824, Jan. 7. Alexander McQuiston and Margaret McCreary McQuiston, his wife, Sold one-fourth Acre Lot in Shieldsburgh, Salem Township, Westmoreland County. (Same Quarter acre that John Shields, deceased, deeded to Margaret McCreary, Aug. 25, 1806) before she married Alexander McQuiston—to Benjamin Hill for $50.00 Cash. Deed Recorded March 10, 1824. We have no information as to which Alexander this is but it may be son of Robert.

1826. February term of court approved the report of the Auditors who distributed the proceeds of the Sheriff sale of land of Robert McQuiston, deceased, amongst his Creditors.

1827, July 6. Alexander McQuiston and Isabel Crawford McQuiston his wife, Quit-claimed to Samuel Crow for $1, what interest he might have in 94 Acres in Derry Township, which was a portion of the estate of the late James McQuiston, amicably alloted to Alexander and his Brother Robert—since deceased. Alexander sold his interest to his brother Robert before his death.

63. Betsey Ann McQuiston (2 James), born 1767, in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania; married in Westmoreland County, John Kerr or Carr. The Westmoreland County Deed Records show that they sold their land in Armstrong Township of the latter county, inherited from his people to her brother

John. Volume 5, p. 90, 26 Feb. 1800. Ann Kerr made her mark. Family tradition says the Kerrs moved to near Maysville, Ky. Mrs. Wineman wrote that they lived and died in Cincinnati.

64. 66. JOHN MCQUISTON (2 James), was born Aug. 9, 1776, in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. The Deed Records of that county show that he was still in that county, Feb. 26, 1800, for he bought from John Kerr and Ann, his wife, 400 acres of land in Armstrong Township, for 150 pounds, lawful money of the Commonwealth. This land was inherited by Mr. Kerr. Mar. 4, 1806, John McQuiston and Nancy, his wife, of Irvin Township, Venango County, sold the land which they bought from John Kerr and wife to Daniel Harkins. The land is now Armstrong Township in Indiana County, because of its erection from Westmoreland.

John married May 4, 1802, in Westmoreland County, Nancy Harper who was born Aug. 14, 1784; took up land in Venango County, on a homestead of 444 acres, two miles from Kennerdell Postoffice. The land, surveyed May 12, 1802, was near the Allegheny River and south of Big Scrubgrass Creek and was in Irwin Township, and a part of this later became Scrubgrass Township, including John's land.

John who was a carpenter, cabinet-maker, and farmer, gave one-half of his homestead to his brother, Alexander, for going to Venango County to be a neighbor. John was an Elder in Scrubgrass Presbyterian Church and remained on this land all his life. Alexander sold, Aug. 30, 1823, his share to Daniel McKeen—Book D, No. 104, of the Venango Deed Records. The deed says there were supposed to be two equal parts of 175 acres each, be it more or less. Alexander removed to Center Township, Butler County, Pennsylvania.

That John remained and improved his land is verified by a document recorded in the Venango Deed Records, S S—91, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to David McQuiston and Nancy McQuiston (as per law, 3rd Apr. 1792, on Vacant Lands), Scrubgrass Township, Venango County, Pennsylvania, "Beginning at a pine, thence by land of William Russel, Wm. Perry, R. Crawford, Jas. Hughs, B. Brink." 221 Acres 135 P & al. Surveyed in Pursuance of the actual settlement and improvement by John McQuiston, since dec'd, last will 14 Feb. 1848. Warrant of acceptance issued 7 Jan. 1853.

All the brothers of John were in the War of 1812, having been large men, while John was small and had lost his trigger finger which, much to his sorrow, unfitted him for service. He was shot and killed Apr. 4, 1849, by an insane man named Scott who thought John, then constable, had a warrant for the arrest of Scott (which warrant he did not have). John was buried on his own farm opposite the McQuiston School House. Nancy died June 27, 1865, and is buried beside her husband. The data of the descendants were gathered and compiled by John's great-grandson, Robert James. Children, born on the Homestead:

i. Jane, m. Mr. Andrews. ii. Mary, m. Ezra Gildersleeve and had five children; all deceased. iii. Harper, was married; died leaving one daughter. iv. Nancy, m. Samuel Eakin, had four or five children, all were dead in 1923 except Oscar.

68. David Harper McQuiston (66 John), born Sept. 25, 1805, in Venango County, Pennsylvania; inherited the Homestead as he was the only son. He cleared and farmed the land, built a large tanyard and bark mill which he operated until about 1870. He taught his boys to make their own boots and shoes from his home-made leather. He raised flax, scutched, spun and wove it and made the cloth into clothes for the family. They raised sheep which they clipped and the wool was hand-carded, spun and knit into socks or woven into cloth by his wife, Mary, who was a capable and able helpmeet for her husband.

He married June 13, 1826, Mary Davidson, sister of David Davidson; she was born Oct. 8, 1804, and died Nov. 19, 1862. In those days of wildcats, black bear, and deer as well as wild turkeys and other game, David Harper and his wife and all their sons were good marksmen with the rifle and many of the following generations have blue eyes that like to look along the barrel of a rifle. David H. married second, June 13, 1863, Martha Goucher, who was born in 1822. He died July 1, 1877; his widow died Feb. 23, 1888. Children:

82. DAVID HARPER MCQUISTON, JR. (68 David H.), born Feb. 3, 1832; was called "Harper," as he had the same name as his father. When fifteen years of age he left home and went to Columbiana, Ohio, to learn the trade of blacksmith and machinist. Finishing his apprenticeship in 1853, he returned home on a visit and his younger brother, Davidson, is authority for the information that at that time Harper was six feet, one inch tall and weighed two hundred pounds and was remarkably athletic. Davidson said he had seen the boys hold a pole on top of Harper's head, he would then step back three steps and jump over the pole. Davidson told R. J. McQuiston, the compiler of this part of the record, that Harper never found a man who could either whip him or throw him down. He related several anecdotes to describe Harper as a kind-hearted, peaceable man, able and willing to take care of himself.

He married, 1854, in Princeton, Bureau County, Ill., Sarah Luckuck who was born Nov. 10, 1837, of English descent, on the shore of Lake Erie, near Buffalo, N. Y. They soon moved to Faribault, Minn., where his first two daughters were born, thence to Denver, Colo., where his daughter, Jennie E., was born. Later they moved to Mound City, Mo., where both died and are buried. His death was caused, Sept. 10, 1869, by stepping on a piece of broken glass, resulting in blood poisoning. 134. David McQuiston (2 James), born 1784, in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, probably in Mount Pleasant Township, as we presume the family did not move to Derry until between 1790-1800, when the father contracted to buy "Campbelltown" from the heirs of William Campbell who died in 1787. David married in 1810, Jane McDonald, born 1789, in York County, daughter of Captain John McDonald who received land in Indiana County for his service in the Revolution and after his death the family moved there. David was in the War of 1812 (Pa. Archives, Ser. 6, Vol. VII, p. 711, 717). He sold his share of "Campbelltown" 1822 and about 1830 went to Holmes County and then to Wayne County, Ohio. In 1836 he entered land in Perry Township, Allen County, Indiana; moved there and proved up on his land in 1837. In 1840 he was elected County Commissioner on the Whig ticket; after the organization of the Republican Party he was an active member thereof; was a leading member of the Presbyterian Church, having united at the age of sixteen; was active in building the church which stood one mile east of Huntertown, erected in 1845. P., to John Spenser COTTON who was born Aug. 20, 1820. Jane died Jan. 22, 1865, and with her infant son is buried in the Cleveland graveyard, in Whitley County, Indiana. He went to Kansas City, where he remarried and died Aug. 11, 1900. Children:

i. Ida Jane, b. Nov. 3, 1861; unm.; resides in Kansas City, Mo.
ii. John, b. Jan. 1865; d. June 30, 1865.

151. Margery (Mergery in the old record) McCuiston (1 Robert), born May 14, 1739, probably in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania; married, probably in Cumberland County, John TRINDLE, probably a brother to Margaret Trindle. No record of their deaths. Daughter mentioned in Margery's father's will. Child:

i. Ann.

152. John McCuiston (1 Robert), born Feb. 16, 1741, in Pennsylvania, probably in Lancaster County; went to Cumberland County with his father and brother James; is in the tax lists of West Pennsboro, Cumberland County, in 1764, 50 acres warrant; went to North Carolina with his father in 1765; married Jan. 12, 1768, in Rowan County, Dorcas McCuistion who was born Mar. 12, 1746, daughter of James, born 1700. John had 329 acres which he bought from James McCuistion; there is no deed showing this until he sold it to Francis McNairy, Feb. 3, 1773; the land joined the 420-acre grant of James, his father-in-law, on the west. John bought from James a 200-acre triangle of the 420-acre grant in 1769, and sold it in 1776 to Thomas Lindsey; was designated blacksmith in the land records of Guilford County about 1776. There is no further mention of him; Dorcas is head of the family in 1800. Children as shown by Walter Ruffin's notes:

i. Robert, b. Jan. 31, 1769; d.
ii. Jane, b. May 19, 1771; d.
Census lists five younger daughters as well.

The dates of birth and names of these children were among Walter Ruffin's notes and were noted under Robert who died in 1765. Gwinn McCuistion wrote from Lamar, Mo., Aug. 8, 1898, to Ed. H. McCuistion: "When I was in prison during the Civil War, I met two young men who traced their lineage back to Dorcas." No further information of this family has come to the compiler.

153. Walter McCuiston (1 Robert), born Mar. 8, 1743, in Pennsylvania; went with his father to North Carolina in 1765; some of his descendants still live in the locality of Reedy Fork of Haw River; he married Jan. 27, 1768, Sara; it is believed that she was Sarah McCuistion, daughter of James and that she was Walter's cousin. James' daughter, Sarah, was born Apr. 12, 1739; Walter's wife, Sarah, died Feb. 24, 1822, probably one and the same. Walter died Oct. 15, 1825; they are buried in the Plantation graveyard, on the grant to James McCuiston. This burying ground is sometimes called "Old Gibson," but is not to be confused with the cemetery at the town of Gibson, N. C. Walter's children and grandchildren are recorded in the little record book which is now in possession of Robert Ellis McCuiston. Children:

154. i. Robert, b. Feb. 23, 1770; m. Nov. 29, 1792; d. Nov. 12, 1833.
198. ii. Thomas, b. May 28, 1772; m. Mar. 20, 1800; d. Mar. 16, 1852.
iii. Ruthia, b. Apr. 30, 1775, Sunday; d.
iv. James, b. Feb. 25, 1777, Tuesday; d. It is thought that Ruthia and James were both married but we found no record. Walter R. McCuiston wrote Aug. 1895, that he knew nothing of James. There were a number of persons by the name James among those who went to the different counties of Tennessee and it is impossible to identify some of them.
269. v. Levina, b. Apr. 1, 1779; m.; d. Oct. 9, 1818.

154. Robert McCuiston (153 Walter), born Feb. 23, 1770, Friday, in Guilford County, North Carolina; married Nov.

29, 1792, Isabel Cunningham who was born Apr. 16, 1769. The Bible Record says they were married "on Thursday by Rev. David Caldwell." Jerimiah Cunningham is on the marriage bond. The little record book says: "Jerimiah and Matthew Cunningham were born the 6th day July 1760; Elizabeth Cunningham was born the 17th day of April 1763." Walter received the plantation which his father bought in 1764 and 22 August 1797, deeded 153 acres to his son Robert (Deed Book 6, p. 320, of the Guilford County Records). Robert died Nov. 12, 1833; Isabel died Feb. 22, 1846; the Bible says she died "on the 21st at two in the morning." She was thought to be the last to be buried in "Old Gibson"; later we were told that Pamelia Lanier was the last. "An account of the birthdays of the children of Robert and Isabel":

i. JANE DAUSON, b. Oct. 26, 1793, Saturday; d. young.
ii. WALTER, b. Nov. 28, 1794; d. young.

193. x. ROBERT FRANKLIN, b. Apr. 30, 1817; m. Nov. 9, 1850; d. 1862.

155. JAMES MCCUISTON (154 Robert), born Oct. 3, 1796, Monday, in Guilford, N. C.; was barely eighteen when he entered the War of 1812; he and Jessee were in the army under Captain "Bob" McCuiston. They marched from old Martinville (now Guilford), N. C., to Norfolk. James McCuistion was a private in Captain Robert McCuiston's (Atkinson's) North Carolina Militia. Service commenced Nov. 28, 1814, and expired Feb. 26, 1815 (From the Adjutant General's office). The old long gun which James had in that war is in the possession of Thomas C. of Oak Ridge. James married May 17, 1828, Hannah Harris who was born in 1807 and died Dec. 25, 1859. Thomas C. says of his father, "He was the kindest man I ever knew." A few days before his death, Oct. 10, 1879, James got down the old gun and shot two turkeys with one shot. The parents and part of the children are buried at Hopewell. Their son, T. C., is authority for the dates of their deaths; he has a copy of the family births, original is with some of the Harris's. Children:

After her death he did not recover from the shock but was an invalid until his death, June 8, 1913. Both are buried in Rehoboth Cemetery.

Walter R. and Edward Hall of Paris, Texas, had begun to gather material for this record and he was very anxious to complete it. Much of the reminiscence and Revolutionary history as well as some of the record is due to his efforts. The following is his own account of himself, in a letter in 1894. "I have been elected by the Legislature of this state five times as Justice of the Peace and have also served as tax-lister; I am a member of the Methodist Church, also a steward and superintendent of the Sunday School; I am a Freemason; so now you see I have about sized myself up to about all I am worth except that I am a farmer and my chief money crop is fine tobacco; the family here has always been noted for truth and integrity and for being men of strength." The record of the children is from the Bible in possession of the youngest daughter. Children:

He was known as "Reedy Fork Tom" to distinguish him from a second or third cousin, Thomas, who lived on Buffalo Creek and was known as "Buffalo Tom." Thomas and Nancy moved to Kentucky in 1832; went back to North Carolina and returned to Kentucky in 1839. The sons, James and Luther and probably William Allen, remained while their father went back. Kentucky had been a state since 1796 but was spoken of in the old family letters as Western District of Tennessee. Walter Ruffin, in letters written about 1897, says about Thomas: "Old Uncle Tom was a staunch Primitive Baptist, a man highly esteemed for his integrity and firmness in his religious belief. He was a kind of patriarchal father to the whole little McCuiston family in the neighborhood. I remember him well and how very quiet I was of a Sunday if I knew Uncle Tom was at home. Father's house was in sight of Uncle Tom's. In my imagination I can yet see him wearing his every-day white fur hat turned up at the sides and worn slick by long use, though I was quite a small boy when he left North Carolina." Nancy died Sept. 30, 1842; Thomas died Mar. 16, 1852; both he and Nancy are buried near Mount Carmal Church, Calloway County, Kentucky, in the family graveyard on the farm that was once that of their daughter Cynthia and her husband, William McCuiston. The will of Book C, p. 165. Murray, Ky.

269. Levina McCuiston (153 Walter), born Apr. 1, 1779, Thursday, in North Carolina; married James JOHNSON who was born in 1776, deceased. He is buried in Rockingham County, North Carolina. He was a brother to Nancy who married Thomas McCuiston. Levina died Oct. 9, 1818, and is buried in the plantation graveyard in Guilford County. James married second, Nancy Knight and had a family. Children:

i. JANE, m. in 1836 a Mr. Bunch and had a son, J. C. Bunch, who became a representative to the State Legislature of North Carolina; he married Josephine Dennis and died July 28, 1925.

ii. WALTER, with his sister, is named in the will of Walter McCuiston.

270. JEANE MCCUISTON (1 Robert), born Apr. 1, 1745, Monday being her birthday, in Pennsylvania; was married near Carlisle, Cumberland County, by Rev. John Bucher, March ye 2nd, 1763, to James FINLEY. Her name is written Jean McQuisten and his Findley in the minister's record. She had several children by Mr. Finley; married second, John GILKEY. The Gilkeys left Pennsylvania and went first to South Carolina, and then to North Carolina before the Revolution. The remnants of the old Finley-Gilkey Bible are in the Gus Gilkey home at Marion, N. C. The Bible says Jean married Hon (?) James Finley. Only three of the Finley children can be deciphered. No record of deaths. Children:

i. JOHN, b. Mar. 20, 1764.
ii. BARCLAY WILLIAM, b. Sept. 4, 1767.
iii. JAMES, b. Feb. 5, 1770.
iv. LETISH, b. Nov. 28, 1775.

vi. JEANNET, b. May 27, 1781.
vii. JOHN, b. Nov. 7, 1789; m. May 26, 1821, Cynthia Logan.

271. SARAH MCCUISTON (1 Robert), born May 23, 1747, about the break of day, in Pennsylvania; married July 31, 1769, in Rowan County (part of which became Guilford County) North Carolina, Robert Cherry. John McCuiston and John Anderson were on the marriage bond. It is thought the Cherrys went to Pickens, South Carolina. All efforts to trace them have failed.

272. MEARY MCCUISTON (1 Robert), born Sept. 17, 1749, Sunday being her birthday, in Pennsylvania; married July 18, 1769, in Rowan County, North Carolina, John Coots. Hugh Foster, Wtr. McCuiston, and Francis McNairy were on the marriage bond. Miss Jessie McLean has supplied further information as follows: "Before John married Mary McQuiston he had been married to Miss Hamilton and had one child, Hannah Coots. She married Jerimiah Cunningham and had two boys and a girl. The girl, Isabel Cunningham, married Robert McCuiston." Therefore Robert married his Aunt Mary's stepdaughter.

1. SAMUEL MCQUISTON, born between 1780 and 1790, died before 1850; married Elizabeth Singalee who was born in the same period. The date of her death is not known. The earliest information of Samuel is in the Census of 1830 in Westmoreland County, Derry Township, Pennsylvania. The Census of 1840 finds him in Pine Creek Township, Jefferson County, Pennsylvania, with two sons and one daughter at home. The History of Jefferson County, Pennsylvania, p. 482, Knox Township, relates this among the early settlers: "Samuel McQuiston came in 1827 and settled on a farm now owned by William McMillen. [Deeds show the first transfer in 1831.] Only three families were in the township in 1834, McQuiston being one of them." Neither Samuel nor his wife appear in the 1850 Census.

Heirs of Samuel believe that he came over from Scotland. A descendant in the compiler's family mentioned members of this family as being relatives of his. A daughter of Nicholas, Mrs. McFarland, said that Samuel had a brother Alexander, this helps but does not prove the last statement. She is authority for the name of the wife of Samuel and that Nicholas was the son of Samuel. There are other descendants who trace Samuel's son Samuel who went to Illinois. A daughter of John R. thinks that Samuel as well as his son Samuel died in Illinois. At the time of the 1830 Census, Nicholas was probably working away from home. We record the children with only hearsay to show that Samuel, Jessee, and James were sons of Samuel:

2. i. Nicholas, b. July 4, 1810; m. twice; d. Apr. 9, 1890.
ii. Daughter, b. 1810-1815; d.
14. iii. Samuel, b. 1815; m. 1848; d. 1882.
iv. Daughter, b. 1815-1820; d.
16. v. Jessee, b. Oct. 18, 1824; m. twice; d. Apr. 9, 1910.
vi. Daughter, b. 1820-1825; d.
vii. James, b. 1825-1830; d. From a Deed in Armstrong County, Pennsylvania: "Bell McQuiston, daughter of Mary Richart of Manor tp., Armstrong County, Pennsylvania, widow of James McQuiston, Yorkville, Kendall County, Ill."
viii. Daughter, b. 1825-1850; d.
One of these daughters married William Davidson, a brother of Margaret Davidson, wife of Jessee McQuiston. William and wife lived about two miles from the home farm in Knox tp. There is or was a son, Edward, near Brookville, Pa.

2. Nicholas McQuiston (1 Samuel), born July 4, 1810, in Pennsylvania, is in the Census of 1830, wife same age, in Derry Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, along with Samuel. In 1840 he is in Pine Township, Jefferson County, with wife and three daughters. In 1850 he is in Warsaw Township, same county, occupation, miller. The Beaver Township section of the Jefferson County, Pennsylvania, History says: "The only gristmill is that of Nicholas McQuiston located at Langville on Little Sandy. Nicholas McQuiston was Justice of the Peace in 1853; school director and election judges were other offices he held."

He married first, in 1829, Anna Stahl or Steele who was born July 13, 1810, died November 1865, and is buried at Brookville, Pa. She had five sons and seven daughters. He married second, in 1866, Mrs. Elizabeth (Latimer) Findley, born in 1828. She had one son and one daughter. He died Apr. 9, 1890; is buried near Langville. His widow died at the home of their daughter Reno, at New Kensington, Pa. The dates of birth of parents and children are from the Bible in possession of Mrs. Sadie E. (Findley) McQuiston. Children:

i. Catherine, b. June 6, 1830; m. before 1860, Nelson Munder; they went to Saginaw City, Mich., where they died.
ii. Elizabeth, b. Feb. 24, 1832; m. before 1860, Daniel Loughner; both died in Pittsburgh; she predeceased her father. No record of the children.

iii. Samuel, b. June 17, 1833; d. Dec. 28, 1833.

1. Thomas McCuiston headed the next of the Pennsylvania-North Carolina group. The records show clearly that descendants inherited his land Grant. The text of this Grant is most interesting, and follows. Old family letters refer to "Old Robert" next in line and descendants believe that he, too, stopped in Pennsylvania before migrating to North Carolina. The Grant was designated as No. 23 of Nottingham Settlement.

Book 20, p. 18. Wm. McCuistion to Allen Peeples 318 Acres 5 Nov. 1831.

Book 22, p. 191. William McCuiston, Junr, to Allen Peeples 390 Acres 26 December 1834. At least 1/3 being in Guilford County.

The above deeds relate to the Grant to Thomas which was described as 80 x 80 chains but proved to measure 82 x 83½ chains. There is no record of the birth and death of Thomas. He must have been living on the first of April 1757; possibly deceased by the October Term of Court in 1759. Likewise there is no record of the birth or death of Robert, heir of Thomas. James McCuiston (probably James, Jr.) received a Grant from Earl of Granville in 1762; the description reads: ". . . joining to Robert McCuiston . . ." Deed Records Vol. 4, p. 528, Rowan County, North Carolina, show that Jane McCuiston, widow, received from Earl of Granville on the 29th Day of July, 1760, 700 acres. There are no further entries in regard to this Grant. In the old plantation burying-ground is a stone reading: "Jane McCuiston—died 5 Decr. 1800." She is not identified. There is no record in the deeds or wills of Guilford County to show how the land of Thomas descended to Moses, but he inherited it and left it to his heirs. Thomas probably died in 1758, soon after he made a deed, 2 Apr. 1758, to Robert. There is among the old notes, "Robert died Sept. 28, 1758"—probably the above Robert. Letter of Walter Ruffin: Moses inherited from Thomas.

2. ROBERT MCCUISTON (heir of 1 Thomas, perhaps son of James born 1700), died Sept. 28, 1758. Heir:

3. i. MOSES, b. 1760; m.; d. 1800.

3. MOSES MCCUISTON (2 Robert), was born about 1760; the Census of 1790 records him as head of family—2 males over 16 including head, 1 male under 16, 5 females, 2 slaves—indicating that he had two sons, wife, and four daughters. His will was probated Feb. 1800, in Guilford County, North Carolina; it names wife, Elizabeth, names three sons and mentions "daughters." Wife and Robert Thompson are named executors. His wife was to have use of the property until death which must have occurred in 1823, for the land was then divided among the sons. She was born in 1765. The family of eight children has been worked out by checking the Census of 1790, 1800, 1810, and 1820 with what information has been acquired from old notes and deeds. In the Guilford County Deed Records, Vol. 12, p. 251, Joseph Davis quitclaims his right to one-seventh of the personal estate so perhaps he married one of the daughters. Children:

i. DAUGHTER, b. 1782.
4. ii. ELIZABETH, b. 1784; m.
5. iii. LEVINA, b. 1786; m.

6. iv. Martha, b. Oct. 22, 1787; m. Mar. 30, 1812; d. Mar. 6, 1860.
7. v. Robert, b. 1789; m.; d. 1815.
21. vi. William, b. 1794; m. Dec. 5, 1820; d. in Kentucky, 1858.
vii. Daughter, b. 1796.
46. viii. John, b. 1798; unm.; d. 1814-23.

4. Elizabeth McCuiston (3 Moses), was born in 1784. The document referred to under Moses in which Joseph Davis quitclaims his right to one-seventh of the personal estate of Moses, deceased, says: "To Elizabeth Bruce, wife of Alfred Bruce." This was in 1816, and in 1823 Elizabeth Bruce and Levina Caulk along with others sign another Bill of Sale.

5. Levina McCuiston (3 Moses), was born in 1786. The Bill of Sale referred to above is the first mention we have of Levina Caulk. In the same records we find in Vol. 27, p. 654, Division of Lands of Anderson Caulk, Dec'd, are mentioned "Moses McQuisten and wife Elizabeth and Hannah Caulk, Tenants . . . Wilson Hills Corner . . . Greensboro Road. . . . 1845." In 1854, Dec. 25, Vol. 36, p. 246, "Moses McCuiston, Atty. of Hannah Caulk of the County of Choctaw and State of Mississippi, to James H. Brown of Guilford County, North Carolina (Greensboro Road)."

6. Martha (Patsey) McCuiston (3 Moses), born Oct. 22, 1787; married Mar. 30, 1812, Thomas RANKIN who was born Sept. 15, 1785. He signs for her in the Bill of Sale: Vol. 15, p. 925, July 9, 1823. "McCuistons to Martin Weatherby Negro girl named Vina aged between eight and nine." The following are the signers: Elizabeth McCuistion, William McCuistion, Thomas Rankin, Levina Caulk, and Elizabeth Bruce. The dates of the parents are from the family Bible in possession of Ed Rankin (son William N.). The names and dates of the Rankin children are from the record of Rev. S. M. Rankin of Greensboro. This was the second marriage of Thomas who died Feb. 6, 1853; she died Mar. 6, 1860, and with her husband is buried in Alamance churchyard near Greensboro, Guilford County, N. C. Children:

i. Albert, b. 1813; d. 1893.
ii. Moses M., b. 1814; d. 1879.
iii. Betsey Jane, m. Mr. Greeson; d.
iv. Lavina M., b. May 30, 1820; m. in 1841, Mr. Coble; d. Oct. 12, 1905.
v. William N., b. 1823; d. 1888.
vi. Nancy Catherine, b. 1825; m. in 1840, J. E. McKnight; d. 1897.
vii. Robert F., b. 1826; unm.; d. 1907.
viii. Polly Ann, m. Mr. Gladson; d.

7. Robert McCuiston (3 Moses), born 1789, was known to the family as "Captain Bob" because of his service in the War of 1812. Colonel Jessee McCuistion and "Old Uncle Jimmy" of Oak Ridge served under him. After peace was declared he started home but took sick on the way and died of yellow fever at Petersburg, Va. Hearing of his illness, his father-in-law sent for him, but when the man arrived, Captain Bob had been buried. As near as we can tell this was in 1815. His wife died very soon afterwards, of infection from his clothes or of grief. Her name was Elizabeth and we believe it was Thompson for when Robert Thompson made his will in 1838 he mentioned the three children of Robert McCuistion but not his daughter, and heirs say that Moses and Eliza were raised by their grandfather. We have no record of her birth; her death must have been about 1815. Children:

8. i. William, b. 1811; m. 1843; d. 1873.
12. ii. Moses, b. Aug. 20, 1813; m. Apr. 13, 1843; d. Aug. 24, 1863.
20. iii. Eliza, b. 1815; m. Jan. 23, 1833; d. about 1891.

8. William McCuiston (7 Robert), born in 1811, in North Carolina; visited Bedford County, Tennessee, in 1833; went to Mississippi in 1839; and in 1843 married Mrs. Sarah Bennett, a widow with two children; removed to Winona, Miss., to educate their children. He died there in 1873. Children:

9. i. Samuel R., b. 1844; m. 1869; d. 1886.
ii. Robert.
10. iii. John William, b. July 21, 1857; m. 1874; d. July 11, 1917.

9. SAMUEL R. MCCUISTON (8 William), born 1844, in Mississippi; married in 1869, name of wife unknown; removed to Water Valley where he died in 1886; buried in his father's graveyard. There were three children, one listed:

i. HANNAH, the daughter, m. Fred Davis; resides at McCool, Miss.

10. JOHN WILLIAM MCCUISTON (8 William), born July 21, 1857, in Mississippi; married in 1874, Margaret Ella Tyler who was born in 1861; he lived at Cleveland, Boliver County, Tenn.; later in Memphis, Tenn., where he was a contractor and builder. She died Aug. 2, 1905; he died July 11, 1917; they as well as the daughter are buried in Forest Hill Cemetery, Memphis. Children:

11. i. HARRIET, m. twice.
ii. WILLIAM CLIFTON, b. Oct. 13, 1883; m. Vivian Yoachum of Memphis; resides at Medford, Oreg.
iii. LELIA, b. Dec. 12, 1884; m. Alphonse F. Albert; resides in Memphis.
iv. WILLIE, b. July 20, 1889; m. Oscar P. Holland; resides in Memphis.
v. ANNIE BRUCE, b. Feb. 10, 1892; m. J. C. Mahoney; resides in Memphis.
vi. CLARICE B., b. Dec. 14, 1896; unm.; d. Apr. 16, 1915.

11. HARRIET MCCUISTON (10 John W.), married first, Joseph HEARN, two daughters; married second, C. B. Shultz who died in 1926; she resides in Memphis. Children:

i. MARGARETTE, b. 1905.
ii. EUGENIA, b. 1907.

12. MOSES MCCUISTON (7 Robert), born Aug. 20, 1813, in North Carolina; married Apr. 13, 1843, in North Carolina, Elizabeth (Caulk) Ross who was born in 1822; left for Mississippi in 1843; settled on a farm; married second, Hannah Caulk, sister of his first wife; a son and a daughter were born; married third, Mrs. Amanda B. Boils, by whom he had three sons; he died Aug. 24, 1863, on his farm. His widow remarried. Walter Ruffin wrote in 1895: "Old Cousin Moses was a distiller before he left North Carolina, but never a drunkard." Children:

13. i. William Tecumseh, b. Oct. 1846; m. 1870; d. Apr. 15, 1904.

46. JOHN McCUISTON (3 Moses), born 1798, in North Carolina; died between 1814 and 1823. There is no record of any marriage of this John; that he did not marry and left no heirs is verified by the fact that at his mother's death, his share of the estate was divided between Robert's heirs and his brother, William. Walter Ruffin in 1895-1900 gathered some family history and traditions. He wrote: "There was a John among those old ones who lived and died near Greensboro. He never married and all the older ones called him 'Cousin John.' He was a powerful man, very large and tall, large bony fists, so large that he was often called, double-fisted John."

In the plantation burying ground, now known as Old Gibson, in the back row of graves is one so long that the footstone is in line almost with the head stones in the row in front. The inscription on this stone can scarcely be deciphered but may be J. W. C. or J. McC. 1817.

1. James McCuistion, born May 1700, in County Derry, Ireland; is the third of the group of Pennsylvania-North Carolina, and lived according to family tradition in Pennsylvania before going to North Carolina with the Nottingham Company. Tradition goes on to relate that the name was formerly spelled with a "Q" and was changed to "C" at the suggestion of Dr. David Caldwell. The children of Robert and Thomas and James McCuistion intermarried.

James as well as Thomas received a Grant of land in North Carolina in 1753. The Grant to James is the first record to be found about him. The full text of the Grant is the same as that to Thomas; the description follows:

> Salisbury, Rowan County, North Carolina. Book 3, p. 415. Granville to James McCuiston [McUiston in the Index.] 18 Day of December 1753. . . . Beginning at a white Oak running So 60 ch: to a black oak then East 50 ch: to a Blk Oak then No. 20 ch: to a wht Oak thence East 30 ch: to a Blk: Oak then No. 40 ch: to a Stake thence West 80 chains to the first Station . . . 1773 Feby 8 John McCuiston to Francis McNairy 20 Acres
1776 Sept 6 John McCuiston to Thos Lindsey 20 Acres
1777 July 9 James Jr and his wife Catherine deeded 50 Acres More or Less to Thos Lindsey. Lindsey's deed describes the boundaries as below but gives erroneous measurements. "On Richland Creek of Reedy fork of Haw River - Beginning at a W.O. on a branch of Richland Creek - It being James McC's N.W.Cor running S. 150 Perches along the old line to a stake. E 45° S. along the division line (James & John) 72 P. to a stake. N. 58 P. to Stake. W. 26 P. to Stake. N. 76 P. to Stake. W. 30 P. to beginning. 50 Acres more or less.

Note: The side of the 20 acre triangle was the S.W. Corner of the original 420 Acres and its side are 80 rods long and the old West line was 60 chains or 240 Rods - therefore from the N.W. Corner to the triangle is 240 less 80 equals 160 Rods not "150." Again 30 and 26 equals 56 Rods East of the N.& S. line which strikes the diagonal line 79.2 Rods not 72 P. to a stake. Thence N. 141 P. to a stake. Then W. 26 P. to a stake. Thence N. 76 P to stake. Then 30 P. to the beginning.

sold it to James, son of Gustavus, Feb. 19, 1784. James, son of Gustavus, sold it to John Hamilton, Nov. 16, 1804. James willed 220 acres of the Grant to his son, Gustavus, 18 Oct. 1764. Gustavus and his wife, Mary, sold this 220 acres to Sam Duck, Nov. 18, 1782. James, Sr., deeded 200 acres to his son, James, Jr., Jan. 3, 1765. James, Jr., sold it to John Clark, Oct. 9, 1772. James McCuiston, who is now James, Sr., Apr. 12, 1783, of Guilford County, North Carolina, for 5£ sold a plot "to the Relations" for a graveyard. Beginning at a marked W.O., E. 5p. to a stake, N. 5p. to a stake, W. 5p. to a stake, S. 5p. to the beginning. Witnessed by Dan Dougherty, Sr., and Edw. Holland.

Of the four sons of James, the settler, tradition says that Robert, eldest, died in Ireland. The next, Thomas, remained in North Carolina. Gustavus and James evidently started the migration west into Tennessee soon after disposing of their holdings in 1782 and 1783. We are unable to find more about them.

James McCuistion married in 1726, Jenut who was born in 1706, and died Apr. 11, 1783. Her name is given as Sarah Behol in some data collected in 1895-98 by 108 Geo. Wn. McCuistion. James died Nov. 6, 1765. It is presumed they are buried in the plantation burying-ground. Their resting places are not marked. The will of James is found in Salisbury, Rowan County, N. C. Will Book A. 1766. July Court.

In the Name of God Amen. The Nottingham Company, by agents sent out for the purpose, purchased 33 surveys or 21,120 acres of land on the waters of North Buffalo and Reedy Fork. The Quakers took another lot of surveys near, and the Moravians took a still larger lot of land just west in Forsyth County. The Grants to this family were in Rowan County and from that county and Orange, Guilford was formed in 1770. These Grants were then in the County of Guilford.

The families were members of Buffalo Church from the time of its organization in 1768 with Rev. David Caldwell as pastor. He was born Mar. 22, 1725, in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania; married Rachel, daughter of Rev. Alexander Craighead. Near Pequa Church in Salisbury Township, Lancaster County, was a classical and theological school, conducted by Rev. Robert Smith, D.D. The Lancaster History says: "Many eminent men were his pupils—among them David Caldwell, D.D." He was a doctor of medicine as well as being a Doctor of Divinity and in later years at least conducted a school and, like the one he attended in Pennsylvania, many of his pupils became prominent in the ministry and in public life.

If his records as pastor of Buffalo Church had been preserved we should, no doubt, have more data of this family. This locality was the scene of the last decisive battle of the Revolution, that of Guilford Courthouse, Mar. 15, 1781. Caruthers in the Life of Caldwell says about the burning of Caldwell's Library: "Whether this was done by order of Cornwallis himself, was never known; or if it was known, it has been forgotten. Although he, Cornwallis, rode up there first, attempting to deceive Mrs. Caldwell, and made arrangements for the army, he did not remain but occupied the house of Mr. McCuistin because that was immediately on the public road leading from Martinsville (Guilford Courthouse) to Fayetteville."

The first battle for American rights was that of Alamance, a county just east of Guilford, in 1771. No doubt all the men of the neighborhood were engaged more or less in the war. The only one of the family on the Pension Records is Thomas McCuiston, son of Thomas mentioned above. Caruthers wrote about the burning of Dillion's Mill: "Mrs. McCuiston told me that a wounded British soldier was that night brought to her house, which was then occupied by Cornwallis and was about a quarter of a mile distant from Dr. Caldwell's."

Another story of the times: Henry Lanier, born 1747, lived at Speedwell iron works. He helped feed Greene's army. Mr. Lanier told Greene to come back after the battle and Thomas McCuistion, Sr., and Dr. David Caldwell, who had been in hiding in the thicket, walked to Lanier's house in Rockingham County, that night. There was a reward of 200£ on Caldwell's head and the British sought Thomas McCuistion because of his son's position as Greene's baggagemaster.

When Walter Ruffin and Edward Hall were gathering records in 1895, the former gathered up a few stories: About the house which Cornwallis occupied, he wrote: "The signs of the house and yard are plainly visible. It was considered a grand and magnificent structure in its day and time, and from what I can learn it must have been forty-five or fifty feet long and wide in proportion. It was built of hewn logs of immense size and two stories high. There was a porch on the south side extending the full length of the house, also another one just above this one, extending from the second story by letting end logs of the house from the second story extend out enough to form the width of the porch. This porch also entending the full length of the house was supported from below by strong and substantial studding. The house was ceiled up with poplar plank which was from two and one-half to three feet in width, sawn with a whipsaw and that means done by the hand and muscle of two men."

Another story: "The men, Mr. McCuistion, Caldwell, and others formed a band of Whig scouts. In 1781 late one cold evening in February, Mr. Idelet was sent around to see how the women and children were getting on. This was their way of seeing after their families, to go time about. It was Idelet's time, he made the round, and was at McCuistion's, the last house. Dear Old Great Aunt said to Idelet, you better get away, it might not be safe to stay any longer, tell him we are well. Just at that moment she heard something, stepped to the door, whirled around and said, 'Oh, Mr. Idelet, here are the British!' He jumped up saying: 'They will kill me, what shall I do?' She said 'Run.' He saw at once there was no chance for him to make his escape. As there was a big hollow log close by, he ran into it. The British got him and put him in the Bull Pen with others they had captured."

Still another story: "Another cold night a little later, Cornwallis approached the house, drove Mrs. McCuistion and her three little children, one being carried in the mother's arms, the other two clinging to her dress, and mother and children all crying, out of the house. Cornwallis and the Tories took possession of the comfortable home. One British officer more humane than the others cleaned out the smokehouse for her and she and the children slept there that night. Next morning before the British left they ripped open every featherbed, poured the feathers on the ground, took all the ticks and other bedclothing, leaving Idelet a prisoner. The story goes on to say that Old Lady McCuistion picked up all the feathers she could, after the British left, and her great-grandson Lanier who now lives on his grandfather's old Homestead still has a bed of the identical feathers and in good condition."

"Andrew Jackson, afterwards general, boarded near and while going to school to Dr. Caldwell, used to go through the yard of this old relative McCuistion."

The following was contributed by Benjamin through C. L. Renfro: "The Tories got together to pillage Dr. Caldwell's house. They had bound the doctor and were carrying out his effects to appropriate among themselves. Mr. McCuistion got wind of it; with the assistance of his boys he stampeded some cattle toward the doctor's house. Near the house was a bridge on which the boards were loose. It could not be seen from the house on account of a turn in the road. The cattle running over the bridge and the men following close behind, yelling, 'Come on boys,' so frightened the Tories that they ran away leaving their guns and some of the horses. The guns were taken to Guilford Courthouse that the owners might get them, but none were ever called for. The narrator said he did not remember what became of the horses."

2. THOMAS MCCUISTION (1 James), born Dec. 17, 1731, received a Grant of land recorded at Salisbury, Rowan County, N. C., in Book 3, p. 531.

Granville to Thos. McCuiston [McUiston in Index]. 9th Day of November 1756. Thomas McCuiston of Rowan County in Province of North Carolina . . . Ten Shillings Sterling money . . . All that Tract or Parcel of Land Situate in the Parish of St. Luke in the County of Rowan lying on the Head branches of North Buffalo, known by the name of No. 12—Beginning at a white Oak running thence Et. 60 ch.: to a Black Oak then No. 100 ch.: to the center of a poplar & white oak and chestnut tree then west 60 ch.: to a Black Oak then So. 100 Ch.: to the first Station. Containing 600 acres. Granville by Fras. Corbin.
Robt. Thompson Wm. Churton.

This Grant was apparently inherited by James, son of Thomas, for he, the son, made a gift deed, May 17, 1784, of 300 acres to his brother Thomas in consideration of the support and maintenance of the younger children of the said Thomas deceased. The records show that James and Jean his wife sold the other 300 acres, Aug. 18, 1795, to Robert Doak. Thomas McCuistion received another Grant of 100 Acres, Apr. 15, 1788. It was sold, Sept. 22, 1795, to Charles Bland by James McCuistion and wife Jean. Thomas married Sept. 15, 1756, in Guilford County, North Carolina, Ann Moody who was born May 17, 1732, lawful daughter of Thomas Moody of Derry County, Ireland, by his first wife, Jean, who was married to the said Thos. Moody in Newton ——— of adg——— county of Derry in Ireland and it is believed that the said Jean was the daughter of Benjamin McCuiston of the county of Derry. Jean, Sarah, Elinor, and Mary were sisters of the said Ann, all lawful children of the said Thomas Moody. Thrift's Wills, Vol. V, for Derry, gives Benjamin McCusten, Yoeman, Knockan, will proved 1766.

The following note was found among Mr. Lyon's (governor) papers after his death and was supposed to have been taken by said Lyon from some of the British soldiers. "Alexander McCuistion at the sign of the rising sun in Red Made lane near the Hermitage died four or five years ago and left no lawful issue and left his estate to the children of Thomas Moody, at present in North Carolina, and the children of Hugh Fleming in Ireland. John Hutchison at the three Mariners at Wapping old stairs and Thomas Allen, linen draper in Lombard Street supposed to be left to be Executors to said McCuistion." Sometime later when there was an activity to try to restore old estates to the descendants some of the family got together to see what could be done about the one mentioned here. Among the notes preserved is one referring to Ag——, no doubt Aghadowey, in Ireland, indicating that this family may have left that town or parish. We don't know whether Thomas was born in Ireland or America; he died Dec. 9, 1783, in Guilford County, and we believe was buried in the plantation burying-ground.

After the death of her husband, Ann in 1806 (1803 is also given), with sons, except Thomas and Joseph, migrated to Davidson County, Tennessee. When Bedford County was cut off their Grants were thrown into that county. Ann died Sept. 30, 1819, near Shelbyville, Bedford County, Tenn.; she is buried in a family burying-ground which is still preserved on land bought by a Mr. Aikins and now (1925) owned by Thomas Green. Children, born in North Carolina, the younger ones being baptized by Dr. Caldwell:

3. i. JAMES, b. May 18, 1758; m. Sept. 11, 1792; d. Mar. 27, 1826.
ii. JEANE, b. Nov. 23, 1759; unm.; d. Dec. 24, 1779.
iii. ANN, b. Apr. 25, 1761, Saturday; unm.; d. Nov. 22, 1779.
72. iv. THOMAS, b. Oct. 30, 1762; m. Sept. 25, 1786; d. Feb. 14, 1853.
v. SARAH, b. July 29, 1764, Sunday; d. Apr. 30, 1765.
vi. SARAH, b. Jan. 17, 1766; unm.; d. Sept. 11, 1821, at the home of her brother, Benjamin, in Tennessee.
vii. ALEXANDER, b. Jan. 19, 1768; unm.; d. Oct. 10, 1790. Gwinn wrote that Alexander was sent to the mill by his father; the day being very hot, he stopped at a spring on his way back; he probably drank too much and from the effects, sickened and died.
78. viii. ROBERT, b. May 2, 1770; m. twice; d. Aug. 31, 1852.
93. ix. BENJAMIN, b. Aug. 8, 1772; m. Apr. 17, 1807; d. Nov. 4, 1842.
97. x. JOHN, b. July 29, 1774; m. May 12, 1806; d. May 10, 1854.
xi. JOSEPH, b. June 25, 1776; unm.; d. before 1821. He was a precocious child. As a young man he went to South Carolina as a tutor; wrote to his mother from Statesburg in 1804. The exact date of his death is not known; an old letter written in 1821 mentions his death. There was a Joseph died in Jacksonboro, Colleton County, South Carolina; possibly this Joseph.

106. xii. SAMUEL, b. Aug. 18, 1779; m. July 11, 1805; d. May 24, 1849.

3. JAMES MCCUISTION (2 Thomas), born May 18, 1758, in Rowan County, North Carolina; was a soldier in the Revolution, serving about eighteen months, near the close of the war. There were three Grants from the state of North Carolina to James McCuistion, presumably this James. However, one cannot be too sure for there were two cousins by the name of James; one was the son of James, the other the son of Gustavus; there was also the James, son of Walter, who moved from Pennsylvania in 1765. The Grants follow:

Book 63, p. 92. James married Sept. 11, 1792, in Guilford County, Jean Nicholson who was born January 1767, in Maryland of Scotch descent. She was an orphan educated by her mother's brother whose name was McLean. Elisha Nicholson was on the marriage bond. In 1806 the family with several others moved to the Middle District which afterwards became the state of Tennessee. They were accompanied by a bodyguard of three soldiers furnished by the government. They had to cut their way through the wilderness; they stopped on the banks of the Cumberland River, now the site of Nashville, where they cut away the cane in order to build their houses and make their defense against marauding Indians, also to cultivate the land. James built a mill near by and was a neighbor to Andrew Jackson whom he had known in North Carolina; he afterwards moved to Bedford County, two and one-half miles from Shelbyville, and built the first mill in that locality on Duck River; died Mar. 27, 1826, from the effects of a fall through a trap door in his mill. When the family left Tennessee for Missouri in 1830, Jean made the trip, a distance of six hundred miles on horseback in twenty days; she died Nov. 18, 1842, in Ray County, Missouri, beloved by all who knew her; she remembered many events of the Revolution and at her death had one of grandfather's cues shot from his head at the Battle of Guilford. Children, born in North Carolina, with the exception of Benjamin:

72. Thomas McCuistion (2 Thomas), born Oct. 30, 1762, Saturday, at 8 o'clock in the afternoon (other lists give Oct. 31, 1761, also Oct. 31, 1763), in Guilford County, North Carolina; as he lived on North Buffalo Creek he was known to the family as "Buffalo Tom" to distinguish him from a second cousin, Thomas, who lived on Reedy Fork Creek and was known as "Reedy Fork Tom."

Thomas was a private in the Revolutionary Service; the family tradition is that he was General Greene's baggagemaster; his service is found in Vol. 39, Revolutionary Section, in No. 122378 Pension Papers; S. F. 8885; and in the office of Registrar General, National Society, D. A. R.

Thomas married Sept. 25, 1786, Mary Nicholson who was born Oct. 25, 1763; remained on his father's Homestead when his widowed mother and her other sons left for Tennessee; this was about one and a quarter miles from his grandfather's place on which he was born. His own house built the year after the Revolutionary War, is built of logs, now weatherboarded over. There is an addition said to have been built so the family could board some of Dr. Caldwell's students; the old sharp nails used in the weatherboarding were hand made by Capt. Allen Cook, who asked for a week's notice before delivery . The front door of the old part is the original door; the boards extend the length of the door, no paneling; on the inside are the original hinges which reach half way across; it is still fastened with a wooden latch. The original kitchen built of logs and separated from the house is not standing. On the front porch is a bench which was a wedding present to Mary. She died Oct. 25, 1812. He was helpless for a number of years before his death, Feb. 14, 1853, and was taken care of by his granddaughter, Margery Woodburn, until her marriage to Robert Caldwell, and then by his daughter, Elizabeth and her husband, J. F. Lanier, who moved back to the old place.

The Greensboro Patriot said: "He was at the Battle of Guilford Courthouse; he was uniformly respected for his goodness of heart and benevolent and hospitable feelings, so often exhibited through a long life of usefulness." It is believed that he was buried at the Big Rock, at his own request, in "Old Gibson," the plantation graveyard which was deeded "to the Relations." Children:

v. JAMES F., b. Jan. 17, 1829; m. 1860, Isabella C. Dennis. Two of their daughters live on the old Thomas place and took the compiler to the sight of the house built by James, the settler. They told that when Jean and sons went to Tennessee, they sent the youngest son, Benjamin, ahead with supplies and a slave. They told also that their Grandfather and Grandmother Dennis went to Tennessee for a while. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis traveled in a wagon and among their possessions was a little bureau in which the family money was kept. One day the grandmother went to the spring to do the washing, secreting the money on her person. While she was away an Indian broke open the bureau. The granddaughters still cherish the bureau with its two drawers. As children they used to put it near the fire on winter evenings and place their light on it while they worked. James F. d. Oct. 26, 1916.

Sidney M. Lanier, the poet, who lived and died in Georgia, was the son of a cousin of these Lanier children.

78. ROBERT MCCUISTION (2 Thomas), born May 2, 1770, in Guilford County, North Carolina; seems to have made a purchase in Tennessee earlier than his brothers. In 1795 he bought 600 acres of the 2626-acre Grant to his brother James in 1783.

They were both in Guilford County at the time. The next year he bought 274 acres of Henry Coulson of Rockingham County, North Carolina; the land was in Davidson County, and Robert was still a resident of Guilford County. Davidson County, lying in the Western District, was still a part of North Carolina; Tennessee was cut off that year, 1796. The next record of him is found in the Davidson County Marriage Licenses; he secured a license, July 1, 1799, to marry Charity Dunn. The census shows she was born 1775-80; she died about 1806. He married second, about 1808, Elizabeth McQuerter who was born 1775-80. Robert appears a number of times in the Bedford County Deed records but there is nothing more that adds to the family history. One of the old family letters says: "Robert was a Methodist preacher and a man of great strength and energy in the performance of his work." Another, written Nov. 15, 1834, from Bedford County to Thomas in North Carolina, says: "One daughter of Robert died of Breast complaint; another has been confined to her bed."

The different members of the family had begun to leave the state of Tennessee, but Robert did not go until 1837 when he went to Robertson County, Texas. Some of Robert's children remained in Tennessee and later went to Ballard County, Kentucky. His second wife died in 1839.

In 1841, he acquired a large amount, old letters say 10,000 acres, of land in Texas; he went to California, probably in 1849-50, returned to Texas and died Aug. 31, 1852, near Franklin, Robertson County. Children, all born in Davidson and Bedford counties, Tennessee:

The state gave him land in pay for his services in the War with Mexico. He was in Bosque after being in Robertson County. When he returned from the war and found his mother had died, he started west to Arizona and California; married in Texas, Mrs. Mary Love. They left Texas Mar. 14, 1852, and after many hardships reached San Francisco August 18, of that year. The wife died that day. He married second, in California, Nancy Theresa Merguson who was born in South Carolina Sept. 20, 1827, and died Dec. 6, 1883, in Los Angeles. Noah was a miner in Mariposa County when his son Noah Houston was born. After coming to Los Angeles he owned considerable land, some that is now in the city and 160 acres which is now Hollywood. He married third, Mar. 25, 1891, Mattie M. Thompson. Noah like his father was a Methodist minister; died Jan. 10, 1903, at Westminster, Calif., and with his second wife is buried in Fair Haven Cemetery, Santa Ana, Calif. Children:

On Oct. 31, 1789, he sold it to James McCuistion, Jr.; both were designated as belonging to Greene County, North Carolina. The Kentucky Land Grants show that a Benjamin McCuistin received 40 acres in Livingston County on the waters of Donaldson River, fork of Trade, March 1802 (Book 2, p. 332). This Grant was transferred to Jesse Ford, 28 November 1805. Livingston was cut off of Christian in 1798. Benjamin married Apr. 17, 1807, in Williamson County, Tennessee, Sarah Ingram who was born July 2, 1779, widow of John Jourdan. Benjamin died Nov. 4, 1842; she died Oct. 14, 1845. Their dates and some of the children's were copied by the compiler from their tombstones in the family burying-ground in Bedford County, Tennessee. The land is now (1925) owned by Thomas Green. According to an old letter written in Tennessee all the children were unmarried in 1841. There is mentioned in that letter, Cousin Jane Holland; she is not placed. Children:

103. Mary Eliza (Mollie) McCuistion (102 James P.), born Aug. 16, 1858, in Bedford County, Tennessee; married May 7, 1889, Joseph D. KEMP who was born Oct. 14, 1846; she was a Baptist; died May 7, 1912; laid to rest near Foss, Okla. He died Apr. 19, 1915. Children:

i. Rachel Buford, b. July 17, 1893; m. Nov. 17, 1912, Mr. Kerns; resides at Orange, Calif.

ii. Joseph Audrey, b. Oct. 7, 1897; m. June 20, 1919; resides at Holtville, Calif.

104. Rev. James Harvell McCuistion (102 James P.), born Aug. 30, 1865, in Bedford County, Tennessee; was ordained as a Baptist preacher in 1888, in Fannin County, Texas; in 1892, was assigned by the Texas Baptist State Convention as a missionary for Greer County. His first sermon was preached, June 15, 1892, in what is now Harmon County, Oklahoma, in a dugout at a little grove one-half mile west of the present site of Hollis. He was on missionary duty in the county for nine years. This was not continuous service, as he left his work to study at the Baptist College at Decatur, Texas, and at Baylor University. During the time he was in missionary work he baptized many persons and married many more and organized twenty-eight Baptist churches. He married June 18, 1896, Miss Cora A. Hussey who was born Jan. 20, 1872, in Iroquois County, Illinois, daughter of Rev. B. F. Hussey; she was brought to Tarrant County, Texas, at the age of six years and to Navajoe at the age of sixteen where she began teaching at eighteen and continued to teach for about thirty-two years. He is now a preacher and colporter at Hollis, Okla. Children:

i. Ernest H., b. May 1, 1897, near Bowie, Texas; a mechanic; m. Miss Naomi Kromer; has four children.

ii. Ruth Opal C., b. Feb. 20, 1905, at Mangum, Okla.; received an excellent education; m. Dec. 24, 1926, in Oklahoma City, Rev. Charles C. Anderson of West Fork, Ark.; one daughter, born about 1928.

105. Rev. William H. McCuistion (102 James P.), born Sept. 8, 1868, in Bedford County, Tennessee; married Dec. 25, 1889, Mary E. Laurence who died Apr. 26, 1913. Child:

i. William Claiborne, a printer.

106. Samuel McCuistion (2 Thomas), born Aug. 18, 1779, in Guilford County, North Carolina; married July 11, 1805, in that county, Sarah Cummings who was born Oct. 1, 1782. One record gives the date Oct. 4. They went with the caravan to Tennessee. He had already bought, Apr. 27, 1795, 400 acres of the large tract from his brother, James. Samuel sold his land in 1830 and went with those who migrated to Ray County, Missouri, where he died, May 24, 1849; buried in Brantford Cemetery, a mile from Millville, Ray County. She died Sept. 21 (24?), 1853. One singular trait of this good old man was that he enjoyed a joke but was never heard to laugh outright (old letter). Children, all born in Bedford County:

i. Jane, b. July 10, 1806; m. Nov. 13, 1850, Ebenezer Carsons who was born Jan. 13, 1797; she d. in 1888.

109. SAMUEL JESSE MCCUISTION (108 George Wn.), born Mar. 29, 1846, near Millville, Ray County, Mo.; was fired with the idea of going to war by his father's stories of his short enlistment in the Mexican War. In 1862, Samuel J. slipped off in the night with others who were going to fight for the South. They did not know just where they were going and fell in with Quantrel, the Youngers, and Jesse and Frank James, who were raised in the next county. Between times of fighting the recruits were made to practice target shooting. When it came to Samuel Jesse's turn to shoot prisoners, he refused. Because of his youth, he was given his choice of doing so or joining the regular army. He enlisted in Parson's Brigade, Price's Division, Company H, No. 11 Missouri Infantry; was considered one of the best shots of his division; surrendered May 1865 at Shreveport, La.; went to live with Abram Childress on his farm near Summerfield, La.; married July 3, 1866, in Claiborne Parish of that state, Martha Childress who was born Feb. 15, 1837, widow of Mr. Gilliland who had died of sickness contracted in the Southern army. In 1872 they moved to Red River County, Texas, where he bought a section or more of land with script money, near Avery. She died Sept. 10, 1912; he died May 27, 1931; both on his plantation. Children:

i. Georgia Ann, b. Apr. 4, 1867; m. at Avery, Henry Lee who died Feb. 1925, at Weatherford, Texas.
110. ii. Mary Frances, b. Nov. 6, 1869; m.; d. Jan. 4, 1916.

126. Roy Templeton McCuistion (125 John A.), born Jan. 7, 1893, in Austin, Texas; married Dec. 25, 1916, Ethel Demerest. Children:

i. Mary Eleanor, b. Aug. 25, 1921.
ii. Roy L., b. Mar. 5, 1923.

127. Gustavus McCuistion (1 James), born May 21, 1733, place unknown; received by his father's will in 1765, 220 acres of the 640-acre Grant; he and his wife Mary sold this, 8 Nov. 1782, to Samuel Duck. This is the source of the name of his wife, first name only. Gustavus received another 100 acres from this same Grant; deeded it to John Nelson. On the 19 Feb. 1784, John Nelson deeded it to James, son of Gustavus; this transaction may have been in the nature of a trust deed.

We have no further information of Gustavus and his wife nor of any other children. On the 16 Nov. 1804, James McCuistion, who was then in Jefferson County, Tennessee, sold his land to John Hamilton. He probably was not married or at least he signed the deed alone. Child:

i. JAMES. We are unable to trace him beyond this. In Jefferson County, Tennessee, a marriage license was issued, Aug. 7, 1806, to James McCuistion and Linea Bradshaw. We do not find any further information of him in Jefferson County. In the 1820 Census of Bedford County, Tennessee, is a James who is not identified; he could be this James. The census information follows: James McCuistion, b. before 1775; wife same; Daughter, born 1804-1810; Daughter, born 1804-1810; Daughter, born 1810-1820; Son, born 1810-1820; Son, born 1810-1820.

128. JAMES MCCUISTION (1 James), born Apr. 12, 1737, probably in America; received, in 1762, a 353-acre Grant of land in Guilford County, North Carolina. In 1764, he sold it to Robert McCuiston of Cumberland County, Pennsylvania; in 1765, he received by his father's will the 420-acre Grant in Guilford County. On the 5 Oct. 1769, James sold 20 acres to John McCuiston (1 Robert) who married Dorcas McCuistion. As well as the above 420-acre Grant, James received from his father 100 acres of the 640-acre Grant. This he and his wife Catherine sold to John Clark, 9 Oct. 1772. On the 9 July 1777, they sold 50 acres of the 420-acre tract to Thomas Lindsey. On the 12th Apr. 1783, James McCuistion who is now designated James senior, sold a plot "to the Relations," for a burying-ground. This plot was probably begun in 1765 when James and Robert, heads of the two families, died; it is, we presume, on the 420-acre tract. On the 22 Oct. 1782, James received a grant of 104 acres from the state of North Carolina. The tract proved to contain 120 acres and to join the 420 acres left him by his father on the east side. James and wife Catherine sold, 18 Dec. 1788, sixty acres of this land to Edward Holland. James and wife were then in Green County, North Carolina. After this we lose the definite trail of James and Catherine, though we are able to make some deductions which may or may not prove true when further data come to light.

Neither Gustavus nor James are in the 1790 nor any later census of North Carolina. There was no census taken or we found none until 1830 in Jefferson County, Tennessee (originally Greene County, N. C.). We have no mention nor record of the children of James and Catherine.

THE JEFFERSON COUNTY, TENNESSEE, FAMILIES

In 1777, Washington County, laid off by North Carolina, included all territory that is now Tennessee. April 1783, the General Assembly passed an act dividing Washington County the second time (Sullivan the first) and establishing the County of Greene. May 1785, the county was organized under the State of Franklin, which formed two new counties out of Greene County, one being Caswell. In 1788, the territory passed once more under the authority of North Carolina. That year the State granted 200 acres of land in Greene County, on the Waters of Long Creek, to Benjamin McCuistion. The next year, 1789, he sold it to James McCuistion. We have no way of knowing which James this was. The records indicate that James and Catherine were there. In 1792, Jefferson County was formed out of a part of Caswell and the above Grant fell into Jefferson County; that same year James sold the land to Jessie Gentry. Tennessee was formed in 1796, so the county was then Jefferson County, Tennessee.

We have some record of several families in this county. Some, if not all, were sons of 127 Gustavus or 128 James. Robert, son of John and Dorcas, nor James, son of Walter, were ever traced. We have the following names which appear in the list of members of the Session Book of Hopewell Presbyterian Church. James and Andrew appear in the census as well. We are not sure that they were brothers though James and Joseph were said to have been. The others were probably cousins if not brothers.

i. THOMAS.
1. ii. JAMES, b. 1760-1770; m. Aug. 12, 1796; d. June 21, 1834.
iii. ANDREW, b. 1770-1780; m. Feb. 8, 1797, Mary Rankin; d. 1830-1840.
iv. ROBERT, m. July 16, 1805, Isabella Rankin.

v. David.
20. vi. Joseph, b. Jan. 11, 1775; m. Jan. 24, 1813; d. Dec. 24, 1862.

The church was organized in 1785, eight years before the town was established, the oldest church in Dandridge, Jefferson County, Tenn. Rev. Robert Henderson was pastor until 1811; during that time he was pastor of Westminster Church, organized 1787, about ten miles northeast of Dandridge. Rev. David Wear was pastor for about one year, October 1812-13. Vacant until 1816 when Rev. John McCampbell took charge and remained until his death in 1859. In 1807, the members numbered ninety-six; all the above, except Robert, were in a list made in 1816.

Thomas was probably the oldest of these; he was possibly Thomas who is in the Census of 1790 in Guilford County, North Carolina; this man was born before 1774; is apparently of the third generation, thus: Thomas, 127 Gustavus or 128 James; there are two females in the family probably his wife and daughter. The family is identical with that of 72 Thomas, in the same census. In the Census of 1800 the family of Thomas is thus: Thomas McCuistion, born 1755-1774. Wife, born same. Children:

i. Daughter, b. 1784-1790
ii. Daughter, b. 1784-1790.
iii. Daughter, b. 1790-1800.
iv. Daughter, b. 1790-1800.
v. Daughter, b. 1790-1800.
vi. Daughter, b. 1790-1800.
vii. Son, b. 1790-1800.

In the Guilford County marriages is Thankful McCuiston who married Nov. 3, 1802, John Moody; she might have been one of these daughters, or the oldest daughter of Moses, or a daughter of John and Dorcas. Joseph McCuiston is on the marriage bond.

Thomas disappears from the North Carolina census and we have none in Jefferson County until 1830, at which time he is probably deceased. We have some trace of him in the Deed Records and the War Records. Book O, p. 10.

The above references in the deeds and the list of church members are the only information we have of David. The references in the deeds and the following are the only information we have of Robert: Jefferson County Marriage Records, Robert McCuistion to Isabella Rankin, issued July 16, 1805. There is one more reference, in the deeds: Book J, p. 219. Wm. Givens to Robert McCuistion. Deed Registered, 31 Dec. 1810. Both of Jefferson County, Tennessee . . . Patrick Givens . . . Rebecca Grisham. Signed and sealed 31 Dec. 1808. Witnessed by Andrew McCuistion and James Corbit.

We have recorded what we know of Thomas, Robert, and David. The record of James, Andrew, and Joseph follows.

Jefferson County, Tennessee, Court Records. February Sessions 1797, Andrew McCuistian, Juror. May Sessions 1797, James McCuistion, Juror. August Sessions 1797, Andrew McCuistian, Juror. January Sessions 1798, James McCuistion, Jr., Juror. January Sessions 1800, James McCuistion, Juror. July 1800, the Court appointed James McCuistian, Jr., overseer of the road from Kelso's Creek to the 8-mile tree in the room of Patrick McGuire, released.

1. James McCuistion (127 Gustavus? or 128 James?), born 1760-1770, in Guilford County, North Carolina, probably; married Aug. 12, 1796, in Jefferson County, Tennessee, Isabella Scott who was born 1770-1780, probably in North Carolina. Book D, p. 101 Deeds. James McCuistion bought from Archibald Roan. Indenture made 26 Dec. 1796 both of Jefferson County, Tennessee. "220 acres in the above county . . . on Flat Creek including the plantation said Roan now lives on . . . Shadrock Inman's . . . formerly John Heritages . . . being the same land No. 17 to David Campbell on 1 Nov. 1786 and by him conveyed to said Rowan on the 1st day August 1789."

James and his wife lived on the farm near Dandridge, Jefferson County, Tenn. The records of Hopewell Church, Rev. John McCampbell, pastor, record that James died June 21, 1834; Isabella died Nov. 24, 1836; they are buried in the old Presbyterian Cemetery of the church, now in the heart of town. Their resting places are not marked.

A grandson, James McFarland, said that James had been a prominent man in the community; that Isabella had brothers, Robert H. and Andrew Scott, and all were the children of James Scott who died in Jefferson County. Possibly James was the son of Samuel Scott whose land joined that of James McCuistion in Guilford County, North Carolina, and that is why Isabella named her tenth child Samuel Scott McCuistion.

The following record of children has been compiled from tombstones, records in the different families, and old letters. There is probably an error in year of birth of Eleanor. Children:

20. Joseph McCuistion (127 Gustavus? or 128 James?), born Jan. 11, 1775, in North Carolina; removed to Jefferson County, Tennessee, in 1789. In this state he received a fair education in the common schools; received Grants to several pieces of land in the District of Hamilton on Long Creek, Jefferson County, Tennessee; they were: 100 Acres, 25 July 1811; 60 Acres, June 16, 1824; 25 Acres, Jan. 4, 1826, all on the north side of French Broad and on Long Creek. He sold them along with a piece he bought from James Blackburn to Elijah Carson in 1838, then moved to Bay's Mountain. He married Jan. 24, 1813, Rachel McGuire who was born Apr. 25, 1782, in Pennsylvania. The old church records of Hopewell Presbyterian Church show that Joseph and Rachel were among those demitted from the rolls of Hopewell to Mount Horeb when it was cut off in 1841. Name is spelled "Mcuistion." He died Dec. 24, 1862, at their Bay's Mountain home. His will is recorded in Jefferson County; it mentions his three children, and Joseph W. Shadden and Mary J. Hall, grandchildren. His widow died June 12, 1868. They are buried in Mount Horeb Cemetery. Children:

21. i. CATHERINE, b. Dec. 6, 1813; m. Sept. 8, 1836; d. Dec. 15, 1871.

21. CATHERINE MCCUISTION (20 Joseph), born Dec. 6, 1813, in Jefferson County, Tennessee; married there, Sept. 8, 1836, Alexander M. SHADDON who was born Dec. 22, 1809. The records show that she was admitted to the church in 1830. She died Dec. 15, 1871; he died Aug. 16, 1884. Child:

i. JOSEPH W.

22. JAMES MCCUISTION (20 Joseph), born 1815, in Jefferson County, Tennessee; was admitted to the Hopewell Presbyterian Church in 1833; married Oct. 25, 1842, Mary A. Kimbrough who was born in 1821. In 1845 his father deeded "his son James," 80 acres of his Bay's Mountain farm. James kept this until 1850 when he sold it to Elijah Bull; he then migrated to Izard County, Arkansas, where he took up 299 acres of land; he became one of the leading farmers, raising cotton, corn, and the small grains and fruit. His first home was a log cabin which was later converted into a frame building. He and the family belonged to the Missionary Baptist Church. No information of deaths. Children:

i. William Lafayette, b. 1843.

She was admitted to church in 1832. She was accidentally shot, Sept. 17, 1861, by a youth. They are buried in Mount Horeb Cemetery. She adopted her sister's child:

i. Mary J. Hall, b. Apr. 21, 1863; m. W. E. Frazier, born Aug. 22, 1855; died June 21, 1922; she d. May 21, 1915.

1. Andrew McCuistion, Jefferson County, Tennessee, was in the February Sessions of Court 1796 as a Juror. The records show that he married Feb. 8, 1797, Mary Rankin. He received a Grant for 25 acres of land, entered Mar. 6, 1815, assigned by George Gordon, Certificate No. 757, Beginning on James McCuistion's line on the point of a hill south of what is called Chestnut hollow. Signed James McMinn.

Andrew is among the list of church members of Hopewell Church, April 1816. The books show that he had a son baptized May 18, 1817, named Andrew. They record, also, that "James McCuisten of Andrew" was admitted July 27, 1816, on examination.

The deed records show that Andrew sold his 25 acres Dec. 7, 1821, to Patrick Gibbons, signed Andrew McUistian; witnessed by James and William Rankin.

In 1827, the Church of New Market was formed from Hopewell and the names, Andrew McCuistion and wife Mary, Catherine, Thomas, Robert, and Rebecca B., were all demitted Mar. 27, 1827, on certificate. This is the last we have of him in Jefferson County.

The 1830 Census finds Andrew McCuiston in McMinn County, Tennessee; he and his wife were born 1770-1780. This is the only time they appear in the census and we conclude that both died 1830-1840. There are three sons and one daughter who correspond to the youngest children as given by the descendants.

Tradition in the Rhea and McMinn County families as related by George Newton McCuistion and W. E. Williams is as follows: The emigrants landed at Boston (Charlestown was the port of entry) and after staying in Massachusetts a while, crossed the country through Pennsylvania and Ohio and Virginia to Knox County, Tennessee, finally making a settlement in Roane County, on the north side of White's Creek on the Tennessee River at a point known as Brown's Bend. They say the name was formerly spelled with a "Q"; the wife's name was "Rankin."

Andrew is buried in Old Jackson Cemetery, White Springs, Roane County, or at Old Campbell Cemetery at the mouth of White's Creek on the Tennessee River. George Newton says of Andrew's house, that it was a double log house about three hundred yards from the banks of the creek. The family was reared in this house; when grown they settled on the south side of the creek and built houses just like their father's; this was in Rhea County. The old place where the sons lived was known as Cumberland Rector and contained 500 acres. Children:

2. i. CATHERINE, b. 1800; m.; d.
ii. JANE, b. 1802; m. Stanley Spaulding.
iii. JAMES, b. 1804; admitted to church July 27, 1816; m. or not at home in 1830; a note in letters from the family said all trace of him was lost before the Civil War.

John Robert, Hood River, Oreg., wrote that Margaret, a daughter of one of these daughters (not Catherine), married Dr. Hoyal.

2. CATHERINE MCCUISTION (1 Andrew), born 1800, married James KITCHENS. Catherine Kitchens is in the 1860 Census of McMinn County, Tennessee, as head of the family. Children in the Census:

i. HARRISON, b. 1842, in Tennessee; farmer.
ii. MARTHA, b. 1844, in Tennessee.

3. ROBERT MCCUISTION (1 Andrew), born 1810, in Tennessee; married Ann or Anis who was born 1811 in Virginia. In 1850 he was in McMinn County, Tennessee; and went in 1859 from there to Lawrence County, Missouri. His children with the exception of Miles went with him. In 1832, Rev. F. Pope was pastor of Mars Hill Presbyterian Church, Athens, Tenn. Robert, Ann, and Catherine McCuiston were members. Robert and wife both died in Lawrence County. "Bobbie's" old house descended to the Browns; it has been weatherboarded over and another story added; is still standing though over one hundred years old. Children, born in Tennessee:

7. David Rankin McCuistion (1 Andrew), born 1815, probably in Tennessee; was a recruiting officer for the Union Army. W. E. Williams said of him, "a braver man never lived." Thirteen regiments were raised in his locality. He married in 1835, in McMinn County, Tennessee, Cytha Powers who was born in 1817, a daughter of Holloway Powers. The records of McMinn County show that David bought 160 acres from Holloway Powers in 1843; the name is spelled McQuestion. David married second, Aug. 29, 1878, Martha Johnson; married third, Samantha Owen. The last years of his life were spent with his son, Miles H., in Rhea County; died in 1883; buried (and wife Cytha) in Spring Creek Graveyard, McMinn County. After his death, his widow married Mr. Gwinn. Children, born to Cytha in Rhea County:

1. JAMES CONWAY MCCUISTION and his half-brother, Thomas McCuistion, were possibly sons of the Jefferson County, Tennessee, settlers, for 25 John Robert (20 Andrew) of the preceding family wrote that his grandfather and the grandfather of Rev. J. F. McCuistion were brothers and that they married sisters by the name of Rankin.

James Conway, born possibly in Tennessee, was brought up in the state of Kentucky; married Mary Elizabeth Sherrod who was born Mar. 2, 1818, on Duck River, Maury County, in Middle Tennessee. He died in 1861, she in 1886, both in Washington County, Arkansas; no record of the family ancestry handed down. Rev. J. F. McCuistion wrote: "Grandfather William Sherrod and wife were born and brought up in Middle Tennessee; both died in Washington County, Arkansas, about 1895, in their 94th year. He was a Methodist preacher for about sixty years and was considered the orator of his day. Remnants of the Ecclesiastical library brought over still remain in the family. The family Bible was destroyed during the war. Grandfather Sherrod served in the Indian War of 1812 and carried a rifle bullet in his hip until the end of his journey. He drew a pension from the Government. I married the daughter of a Methodist preacher. How could I keep from preaching, although the cruel war and poverty beat me out of an education! I never got but six months' schooling, yet as an independent evangelist I have on my list over three thousand conversions in Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Texas, not the modern stuff but the old-fashioned Holy Ghost" Children:

i. ELIZABETH.
ii. POLLY ANN.

iii. William Robert.

Other Early Pennsylvania Lines

1. THOMAS MCQUISTON'S Will in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, is the earliest information we have of him. Dated Mar. 10, 1778, proved Apr. 16, 1778, it relates that he was a carpenter; names three children, two boys and one girl, all minors; wife, Elizabeth. The wife and Samuel Potter and Alexander Young were named executors. Witnesses were John Brandon and William Young. This abstract was first obtained from the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania, Vol. 5, p. 328, and was afterwards verified by the County Records. Silas wrote that his great grandparents (Thomas and Elizabeth) were born in Ireland. Thomas was born about 1750, and his wife about 1754.

The Deed Records of the County, Vol. 2, p. 321, record a document signed by John McQuiston (son) and Margaret, his wife; Elizabeth McQuiston, wife of Thomas, deceased; Agnes McQuiston, daughter of the late Thomas. Deed in Vol. 5, p. 201, shows other heirs: Thomas McQuiston, son; Benjamin Lodge, son-in-law; Elizabeth McQuiston, wife, again; Agnes McQuiston, daughter; Martha Lodge, older daughter and wife of Benjamin.

The Census for 1790, Hempfield Township, records Elizabeth McQuiston, head of family; two sons and one daughter born 1774-1778. In the 1800 Census Elizabeth has disappeared; listed is a lady, born before 1755, in John's family, probably his mother. The 1810 Census finds John in Conoquenessing Township, Butler County, Pennsylvania, and the lady born before 1755 has disappeared. In 1820, John is in Tuscarawas County, Ohio. Children:

i. MARTHA, b. 1772; m. Benjamin Lodge.
2. ii. JOHN, b. 1774; m.; d. 1833.
iii. AGNES, b. 1776.
iv. THOMAS, b. 1778.

42. CHRISTOPHER MCQUISTON (2 John), born 1803-7, in Pennsylvania; was possibly next younger than William, 1803 being a probable date. Aside from the appearance of his name in the settlement of his father's estate we have his marriage from the records of Tuscarawas County. They show that he was married Sept. 11, 1828, by Isaac Deardoff, J. P., to Elizabeth Gillipora. They must have gone to Indiana with the others. LaGrange County, Indiana, Deed Records, Book 10, p. 220. "Christopher McQuiston & Elizabeth McQuiston his wife to Christian Schrock of Elkhart County July 24, 1852, W 1/2 of SW 1/4 qr. of Sec. 10 No. 36 in tp. 36 N of 4 No. 8-E 20 A." This is the last the compiler knew, until information concerning him came from Dr. Kitson, grandson of Philinda, giving all that follows. Christopher was in Naperville, Ill., at the time of the Civil War. Records of that state show his enlistment and discharge on account of disability. He died in 1866. It seems that he had lived in Southern Michigan as well. Children:

1. John McQuiston was in Washington County, Pennsylvania, in the 1790 Census, five in the family. This county was cut off of Westmoreland in 1781. Later Allegheny County was cut off of Washington, and we find some documents regarding John were recorded there in 1791. These and his will in 1802 are the only evidence we have of him. By the time of his death his settlement has been thrown into Beaver County and there his children and their families grew up. Though many of the descendants have scattered, a number of them still live in Beaver and the adjoining county of Lawrence. A summary of the deeds and a copy of the will follow.

Allegheny County Deed Records Vol. 5, p. 479. On the 8th November 1791, James Ross and Ann, his wife, sold to John McQuiston for 75£ lawful money of Pennsylvania, in hand paid, all that tract of land called "James Fancy"; being on the north-west side of the Ohio River in Daniel Leets' District No. 2, formerly in Westmoreland now in Allegheny County, beginning at a white Oak Thence by lot No. 192 North

61. Sampson McQuiston (2 William), born Mar. 5, 1828, in Beaver County, Pennsylvania; lived and died on the land which his grandfather bought on coming to this part of the country. Sampson's son says that his grandfather (William) was two and one-half years old at that time and that the land was 500 acres at two and one-half cents an acre bought from the Indians; he says they landed in New York, coming from Ireland. Sampson married in 1859, Mary Onstott who was born May 11, 1834. Sampson died Jan. 26, 1885; his widow died May 24, 1914. Child:

62. i. Adam, b. Aug. 24, 1860; m. Jan. 1, 1884.

62. Adam McQuiston (61 Sampson), born Aug. 24, 1860, in Beaver County, Pennsylvania, is a farmer in North Sewickley Township; married Jan. 1, 1884, Emma Wylie who was born Feb. 28, 1858. Children:

65. Margaret McQuiston (2 William), born 1830, in Beaver County, Pennsylvania; married Samuel Freed, a brother to Mary Freed, wife of John McQuiston; married second, Mr. Smart, and died in Michigan. No record of children.

66. David (Davidson) McQuiston (1 John), born 1790, possibly in Washington County, Pennsylvania. The most we know about him is gathered from the census. He is one of the two sons with his father in 1790, in Washington County, Pennsylvania; in 1800 is with the father in North Sewickley Township, Beaver County; in 1810 is in the same township with his mother (father is deceased) and a girl born 1800-10. Evidently he has married and lost his wife leaving him with this child; in 1820 he and daughter are living with his brother William; in 1830 he has a wife and four children, two boys and two girls; he evidently married in 1820 after the census was taken. The eldest daughter has died or married. The second wife was born between 1790-1800. A letter from Mrs. Bloom written in 1898 relates that Davidson married Ibbie Magaw and had two sons and three daughters. Mrs. Bloom's aged mother had given her the information. Children:

i. MARY, b. 1800-1810.
ii. JOHN, b. 1815-1820.
iii. EUNICE, b. 1820-1825.

1. JOHN MCQUISTON, born in 1767, in County Derry, Ireland, received the following Church Demit:

> That the bearer, John McQuiston, was bred from infancy in this Vicinity and has behaved himself Soberly and Honestly is certified by the Minister and Session of the Congregation of Dungiven this 19th of August 1792. Signed:
>
> Robrt Hale, V D M
> James Lowrie,
> Robert McConnaughey,
> Oliver Hamilton.

He arrived in the United States in 1793; spent three years in the neighborhood of Philadelphia; removed in May 1796, to the western part of the state and settled in what is now Butler County, then Allegheny County, and purchased land from Robert Morris, the celebrated financier of the Revolution. The transaction is verified by the following Document:

> ARTICLES of AGREEMENT MADE and CONCLUDED between Robert Morres of the City of Philadelphia Esquire by his Attorney John Cunningham of the one part and JOHN McQUISTON of Allegany County of the other part. WITNESSETH [the following is a shortened account of the actual document]. Whereas said Robert Morris on the 4th of March 1793 obtained a warrant for a certain tract of land situate on the waters of Big Connaughquenessing in Cunningham's District, requiring settlement and improvements for five years, including the building of a house, for fencing etc.: Said Robert Morris now agrees to Deed one hundred acres of land (including improvements) to said John McQuiston at the end of said five years "As a gratuity" in Consideration of his settling on said tract before the 3rd day of March next and making said required improvements by end of said five years—at which time said John McQuiston agrees to buy another hundred acres of said tract at Two Dollars per acre with lawful interest from the date hereof and said Morris agrees to execute Warrantee Deeds for the said 200 Acres. The parties bind each to the other for faithful performance in the penal sum of 500 pounds. Signed March 1, 1797.

Allegheny County, to wit:

Be it known, That at a Court of Common Pleas held for said county in the Borough of Pittsburgh on Wednesday, the twenty-ninth of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and three before Honorable George Thompson and George Wallace, Associate Judges of the same Court, John McQuistion, a native of Ireland came into Court praying to be admitted a Citizen of the United States and having to the satisfaction of the Court made proofs and complied with the requisitions prescribed by law was allowed to take the usual oaths and made the requisite renounciations which he forthwith did and thereupon was admitted by the Court a Citizen of the United States.

Certified at Pittsburgh, under my hand and seal of Office as Prothonatary of the same Court this twenty-ninth day of June in the twenty-seventh year of Independence, A. D. MDCCCIII. W. BATES.

John McQuiston cleared and improved his tract, built and operated a tannery and resided there in a stone house which he erected, now torn down. This part of the land was bought by the county for their farm. He afterward bought an adjoining tract which is partly embraced by the city of Butler. The brick house, erected by his son William in 1825 in the heart of Butler, is still standing; also that of his son James on Breeze Place, a mile south of Butler. He was a man of energy and enterprise and became a prominent and influential personage among the early settlers. He belonged to the Masonic Lodge in Ireland; was one of the founders of the U. P. Church and also a liberal supporter of it.

After 1800 his brothers, Robert and Thomas, followed him to the United States. According to a letter by Henry McQuiston to George Dowe McQuesten in 1898, Robert removed to Butler County in a few years, while the other brother remained in Philadelphia. The letter said that the brothers came from Tobermore, Derry County, Ireland; that the second of the brothers stopped in Philadelphia and died there; that he had a son and a daughter; that the former went to sea and was never heard from and that the daughter married, had several children, and is probably dead.

This letter, in possession of a member of the family in Butler, is the only proof we have of the brother:

John McQuiston married, in Ireland, 1792 Barbara Simpson Arthurs who was born 1769; died Mar. 5, 1837. After the wife's death he lived with his son, John. Their tombstone reads: "In memory of John McQuistion, who departed this life May 18, A. D. 1841, aged 74 years. In memory of Barbara McQuistion, who departed this life March 5, A. D. 1837, aged 68 years. The Deceased as above were natives of Ireland, emigrated to the United States in May 1793, and settled in May 1796 within one mile of this borough where they resided until their decease. Reader: Prepare to meet thy God for ye know not the hour when the Son of Man cometh." The tomb and bodies of the parents and some of the others were removed from the original Presbyterian Burying Ground, now the site of the Old High School in the heart of Butler, to the South Cemetery. All the children except John are buried in Butler, some in the newer North Cemetery. The births are computed from their tombstones, no family record being found. About 1800, the Butler County families began to spell the last syllable of their name "tion" and almost all continue to do so. Children, born in the United States:

2. Joseph McQuistion (ton) (1 John) was born in Pennsylvania, Jan. 18, 1793. One of Joseph's grandsons tells an interesting story of how Joseph tanned his own leather, boxed his shoes, and made trips to Philadelphia, consuming six weeks on the trip. The stencil he used in marking the boxes is in possession of his grandson, Benjamin B. McQuistion, who tells also that land for United Presbyterian Church was donated and the church built by Wm. Gibson. In 1828 the property of Mr. Gibson, including the church, was seized and sold by the sheriff. The church property was bought in by Joseph, an elder of the church. Joseph married May 7, 1818, Isabella Harper, born in County Tyrone, Ireland, Jan. 26, 1795, died Aug. 7, 1869. Her father, Daniel Harper (died Oct. 19, 1838, aged 84), and his wife Catherine (died Mar. 31, 1834, aged 81), came to this country from County Tyrone, Ireland, prior to 1812. While crossing their ship was boarded in mid-ocean by men of a British Man of War, and thirteen young men were taken off. The oldest son, Thomas Harper who died Mar. 29, 1846, aged 61, escaped by a mistake in calling the names and by hiding under a barrel. The dates are from the family Bible of Joseph and were contributed by his granddaughter, Mary Ellen, since deceased. Joseph died Aug. 24, 1855. Children:

3. i. Mary Ann, b. Sept. 15, 1819; m.; d. Sept. 5, 1889.

42. JAMES LIVINGSTON MCQUISTION (35 William), was born Mar. 16, 1849, in Butler, Pa., and lived there all his life. Educated in the public schools, Witherspoon Institute, and in the law office of the late L. Z. Mitchell; admitted to bar June 10, 1870, he at once engaged in active practice, soon acquiring an enviable reputation for ability, integrity, and devotion to his profession. An eloquent orator, mentioned as the silver-tongued member of the Butler bar, he was always in demand for public, political, and social occasions. He was always a loyal Democrat and during his career received from his party all the honor and preferment it had to offer; but being the minority party in his county, he was prevented from attaining the political goals that otherwise would have been his. In 1874 he was elected District Attorney and acted with marked ability and success. Twice he was his party's nominee for Congress and once for Presiding Judge of the county. He was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention in 1880 which nominated General Hancock for President, and he frequently represented his party at county, state, and national conventions. Like his father and grandfather, he was a member of the United Presbyterian Church of Butler.

"Lev," as he was generally and affectionately called, had prominent fraternal connections. He was Past Master of the "Blue Lodge" No. 272, F. and A.M. of Butler; charter member of Lorraine Commandery 87 K.T.; Past Exalted Ruler B.P.O.E.; and was a K.P. His demise of Bright's disease, Friday, May 13, 1910, at Butler, Pa., was an event deplored by all who knew him. Eloquent eulogies were written by the newspapers and the Butler

Bar Association, the latter engrossing a copy of their Resolutions for the bereaved family, as well as spreading it on the Minutes of the Court and furnishing copies for the newspapers. "Lev" married January 1874, Sue Beam who was born Jan. 16, 1852, and died Sept. 3, 1924, daughter of George Beam of Harmony. Child:

i. CREASAP L., b. Feb. 24, 1876; educated in the Butler common schools, Kiskiminitas Academy, Statesburg, Pa., U. S. Military Academy at West Point, was graduated from Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., class 1899, read law with his father; admitted to the Bar in 1902, Butler, Pa.; m. Jan. 3, ——, Myrtle Galbreath of Woodlawn, Calif.; is always known as "Chris" or "Chrissy."

1. Robert McQuiston, born 1777 in Tobermore, Derry County, Ireland; came to this country soon after 1800. The following is from the New England Genealogical and Historical Register: "A list of persons who intend going to Philadelphia in the Ship Mohawk of and for Philadelphia, burthen 500 tons, John Barry, Master. Sworn at Londonderry, 23 April 1803. Robert McQuistin, age 26, Dungiven, laborer." He lived near Philadelphia a few years, the oldest son and daughter being born in Chester County; then went to Butler County, Pennsylvania, about 1806, where his brother John had preceded him several years. Robert was first in Slippery Rock Township, then in Brady Township. It is said he was in the War of 1812. The earliest record of him in Butler County is in 1815. He married Isabel Wallace, born 1770-80, tradition says in Scotland, who died in 1835. He died in 1866; buried in Slippery Rock Cemetery. Children:

Nancy McQuiston (1 Robert), born 1805, in Chester County, Pennsylvania; married in 1824, Samuel MUNNELL, born 1795 in South Strabane Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania; died Dec. 3, 1880, in his 87th year. Nancy was from Butler County; died in Canonsburg, Washington County, Mar. 26, 1891 (aged 86). Samuel's father was John who married Jane Wallace in Ireland and came to America, settling in South Strabane Township, Washington County in 1783. The year of the settlement in the county may be fairly established by the fact that John Munnell bought of David Finley 102 acres of land with four per cent allowance on the 14 Sept. 1783. The dates are from their tombstones and notes from History of Washington County, Pennsylvania. Children:

i. Isabella, b. Jan. 10, 1825; m.; d. Apr. 29, 1913.

12. HIRAM McQUISTON (11 Robert), born 1837, in Ohio, went to Philadelphia. The directory of 1880 gives his residence as 1510 Lukens Street. In 1896 he was at 1611 Wharton Street; in this same year Wm. J. McQuiston appears at this same address. In 1900 Hiram was at 527 Wolf Street, carpenter; in this same year Hiram, Jr., appears at the same address, painter. In 1910 he was designated cabinetmaker, living at 1733 Chadwick Street; married his second cousin, Lavinia Johnston, granddaughter of Thomas, brother of Robert and John, and whose letter written in 1803 is found in the introduction to this group of settlers. There appears in the Philadelphia directory: Thos. J., 1844-45; Thos. G., 1849-50; Thos. 1851; also 1854, 1855, 1857, 1859, 1879-80 after which year he disappears and Hiram appears.

This Thomas, nor any of them, has been identified, though he may have been the grandfather of Lavinia Johnston. It is said her occupation before marriage was to put the last coat on silverplate. Children:

34. Margaret McQuiston (1 Robert), born about 1815 in Butler County, Pennsylvania; married Feb. 5, 1835, James WIGDON who was born Mar. 20, 1811. They had five children and lived on his farm in Slippery Rock Township, Butler County, Pa., until the last day of June 1843, when one of Wigdon's horses died, causing him to arise early next morning to borrow a horse from his father, who lived some two miles distant, leaving his family asleep. He was persuaded to remain at his father's for breakfast. He returned home about eight o'clock to find that during his absence, and presumably soon after daylight, a drunken Indian called Sam Mohawk had murdered his wife and children by crushing their skulls with a stone. A detailed account of this horrible affair can be found in the History of Venango County, Pennsylvania; but we may add that the Indian, while under the influence of "firewater," had strayed from his "cornplanter Tribe" in Cattaraugus County, New York, to the town of Butler and had started on the return journey via Franklin, Pa., in an ill humor because of having been refused more liquor by the landlord of the "Stonehouse." The Indian was captured on the day of his bloody deed, and, after due process of law, was hanged 20 March 1844, for the crime which he readily confessed, giving all the terrible details. He said he killed Mrs. Wigdon first as she knelt in prayer, and the baby last. He said, "When I went to the crib, the baby looked up and laughed and I had a mind to not kill it but finally decided if I did not, he would be a saucy white man some day. So I lifted it and struck it on the back of the head." The baby was still alive when his father came home and apparently had not been injured, but died immediately when his crushed head was raised from the pillow.

Mr. Wigdon never fully recovered from the terrible and shocking experience. He moved to Salina, Venango County, Pa., where he married again and reared a family, some of whom still reside there or in the vicinity.

South Carolina Families

David, James, and Hugh McQuiston made the third group of early settlers. The first two came before the Revolution and the third, soon after. In history we again readily find the cause which led to "The second great wave of emigration from Ulster, which occurred between 1771 and 1773 and grew out of the Antrim evictions. In 1771, the leases on the estate of the Marquis of Donegal in Antrim expired. The rents were placed at such a high figure that the demands could not be met." (From the Highlanders in America by J. P. Maclean.) Extensive emigration was the result. As has been noted before, whole or parts of congregations migrated to America, under the leadership of their pastors.

The State Records confirm the fact that two of the three brothers came in this period with Rev. William Martin. Before giving the evidence contained in these records let me give a few facts gleaned in County Antrim. Rev. William Martin was pastor at Kellswater before Rev. Staveley who organized that congregation in 1772. Before that, conditions in the churches had been very chaotic.

The Church of Connor is at the village of Kells. A very old session book for the church enrolls John McQuiston as present at almost every meeting from April 1700 to October 1715. The records of the session continue up to 1733 or 1735, but become very hard to follow. A minister who died in 1702 was Rev. Robert Murdoch. Before him was Rev. David Cunningham; both these names are found in the old South Carolina families, and no doubt Connor was their old church home before they left for America in 1772.

In the Parliamentary Returns of Protestant Householders of 1766, County of Antrim, Bundle 80, No. 1170. Down and Connor, Parish of Ahoghill, Dissenters: under Diocese of Connor is the name, Dan (Dav?) McQuiston. He was possibly David of the above brothers.

The immigrants arrived at Charleston, S. C., in December and at the first meeting of the Council Chamber, on Wednesday, 6th January, 1773, they presented their petitions. There were present: His Excellency the Governor, the Honble. Sir Egerton

"Old records of the Alexander family show that they landed in New York in 1768, coming to South Carolina in 1770, tarrying in Pennsylvania for two years; also that James Alexander, Sr., David or James Morton, and James Peden came first with their families settling in Pennsylvania, while Thomas Peden with his father and five younger brothers, and William Gaston, his wife, Elizabeth, came later in 1770, direct from Philadelphia to South Carolina, making no stop in that state. Among their fellow emigrants were these names, Lee, Garett, McQueens, Hughes, White, Brown, Hemphill, Jackson, McQuestion, McDonald, McClintock, McDill; These found homes in Chester and comprised almost an entire congregation."—Hon. Hooper Alexander, Atlanta, Ga., in The Pedens of America.

1. David McQuiston, born 1735, in County Antrim, Ireland; married there, Betsey Brown. His arrival in this country shortly before the Revolution is recorded in the preceding pages, also his settlement in Chester County, South Carolina. There is no record of his having been in the Revolution, but mention is made of him in Mrs. Ellot's Women of the Revolution (Vol. 3, p. 231), along with mention of the Browns.

The McQuistons were members of Old Hopewell Church in Chester County as the Elliotts were of Union Church in the same county. David McQuiston, James Dunn, and Thomas McDill having been elders in Ireland, acted in this capacity in Hopewell from its organization. The following is from the Associate Reformed Presbyterian of Oct. 19, 1921:

> "About 1790 there was called to the pastorate of the church, a Rev. John Boyse, whose pastorate lasted but a few years. He died March 18, 1793, aged 35 years. His mortal remains were buried in Hopewell graveyard. An unpretentious stone marks the spot. It is probable he did little preaching during the year 1793. He boarded with David McQuiston who lived on Little River in the bounds of what is now New Hope congregation. There is a tradition that one of David McQuiston's daughters and Mr. Boyse were engaged to be married and during his last illness she tenderly nursed him and soothed his brow on his dying pillow. A short time after the death of Mr. Boyse, Miss Margaret McQuiston died, and her mortal remains were buried by the side of Mr. Boyse."

Rev. John Boyse, in the Centennial Associate Reformed Presbyterian, summed up the family thus: "The name McQuiston stands for integrity and solid worth." Another summary by a connection in the descendants of Hugh: "Mostly a well-to-do set of people; mostly in religious faith Presbyterians, either Reformed or Southern, as commonly called Old School Presbyterians. A large number of these men filled offices in their church. A number, even to the present generation, are and have been teachers. Some of the men and also some of the women have received college educations. A small number are preachers, not many doctors and only one lawyer among the descendants. Some are merchants, mostly in connection with farming. All own their own homes. Domestic happiness reigns; there are few cases of separation and none are drunkards and no criminals." A. J. of Monticello, Ark. to R. J. then in New Orleans, "So far as I know the McQuistons are Presbyterians, mostly Psalm-singing Presbyterians. So far as I know we have no reason to be ashamed of our ancestry. I have never heard of any one of the name being guilty of even a dishonorable act. Neither have I heard of any having acquired great distinction in Military or Civic Life."

In 1806, it was decided to leave their South Carolina home and migrate to the new State of Ohio. This copy of a letter in possession of Mr. Stephenson gives a picture of their travels.

Kentucky, Garret County, Decr. 18, 1806.

Dear Son / After having been 7 weeks upon the road 2 of which we were detained by Rain Snow and High water; we took 2 Houses about 33 Miles from Lexington 2 miles from Lancaster, in which we design to stay through the Heart of winter, as provisions can be got Very reasonable, we have purchased corn at about 3/10½ per Barrel, and Fodder at 1/7 per hundred South money, and Pork at 2½ Dollars per hundred Likewise. Our horses has stood the journey Very well considering the road we have had. Old settlers in Kentucky say that they have never known as wet a fall as this has been. And we never had 3 dry days together from we started to we stop't. You need not be afraid of coming with too Light Loads for we thought each wagon was 4 or 5 hundred too heavy and we have scarcely seen one waggon as heavy as we are it is our opinion that neither the dun coult nor the Roan'd mare will be Sufficient for the Journey unless the Roads are much better than they are now, the highest we paid upon the Road for corn was 3/2 and the Lowest was 11d per bushel, our days drive was from 5 to 17 Miles a day but our common drive after we came into the bad road was 9:10:11 & 12 Miles a day. Our Journal of the Road is as follows

Mr. HUGH McQUISTON, Little } river & to the care of Mr. Edward BlackStocks, Chester District, So. Carolina

They arrived at their new home in what is now Preble County, and was then a part of Cincinnati District, State of Ohio. They found there their old neighbors, the Elliotts, McCrearys, McDills, Douglasses, and other families. All were devout church members and soon established a church—Hopewell.

David's wife died 1794-1800 in South Carolina. David died Feb. 16, 1823, and is buried in Hopewell Cemetery, Preble County, Ohio. Children:

2. i. ARCHIBALD, b. Feb. 1759; m. twice; d. Oct. 2, 1827.
4. ii. HUGH, b. Dec. 1765; m. Apr. 21, 1796; d. June 21, 1845.
48. iii. JANE or JENNIE, b. 1769; m. 1793; d. June 30, 1844.
iv. MARGARET, b. about 1771; unm.; d. Jan. 1, 1794.
49. v. ISABEL, b. about 1773; m. Jan. 17, 1788; d. Aug. 6, 1829.

2. ARCHIBALD McQUISTON (1 David), born February 1759, in Ireland, owned land in Chester County as early as 1785, as deeds show. He was later a merchant in Charleston as may be seen by the directories: 1803—Murdock & M'Quiston, shopkeeper, 141 King Street. Archibald to brother (in-law) Andrew, Aug. 25, 1804. 1806—Archibald M'Quiston, store, 79 King Street. 1807—Archibald M'Quiston, store, 79 King. 1809—Archibald M'Quiston, Shopkeeper, 79 King Street. He disappears in the 1813 directory (Almanac) and the records of Chester District show that he returned there about that time. See the Revolutionary record in preceding pages. He married twice; first, a daughter of James McQuiston; therefore she was his first cousin. The data concerning her are very vague. She was born about 1771, married 1793, and died 1794-95. It is thought she died in Charleston. Archibald was married second, Mar. 26, 1811, by Dr. Furman, to Mary McQuiston, a daughter of William, granddaughter of Hugh McQuiston, so she was his first cousin once removed and bore the same relationship to his first wife. She was born Aug. 3, 1773. She had been married to a Mr. (Robert?) Murdoch.

Archibald's gravestone in Hopewell Cemetery, Chester County, South Carolina, reads: "In/ Memory of / Archibald McQuiston / who died the 2nd of / October 1827 / in the 69th year / of his age." His widow died May 23, 1832, and she, too, is buried in Hopewell, S. C.

In Chester County, South Carolina, Probate Court, Roll 51, package 808, is Archibald's will:

> In the Memory of God Amen. I, Archibald M'Quiston of Chester Destrict, South Carolina, being very sick and weak in body But thanks be to God, in the full possession of my sense and reason. 11. WILLIAM JOSEPH MCQUISTON (10 William H.), born July 19, 1858, in Warren County, Illinois; owns the controlling interest in the Elmwood, Peoria County, Ill., Telephone Company. March 19, 1932, Telephony printed a history of this company and its owners. It says: "And speaking of pioneers, W. J. McQuiston, president of the Elmwood Telephone Co., probably qualifies eminently as a telephone pioneer. About 1890, when he was living in Monmouth, Ill., he bought two 'Phonetic' telephones, connecting his residence to that of his father about three blocks away." The article goes on to detail the improvements installed and says that the line was extended to include the other members of the family—six stations in all. William J. was then in the book business with his father. He was one of the organizers of the Monmouth Telephone Company in 1901, and the family party line was then connected with the City Switchboard. In a few years he became manager of the company and remained with them until he purchased the Elmwood Exchange in 1918, and moved to that city.

William J. married first, June 10, 1886, Mary N. Holmes who was born Oct. 5, 1860, and died Mar. 22, 1908; married second, June 5, 1909, Gertrude Margaret Beard who was born May 18, 1879. Children:

15. Dr. James Argus Carmichael McQuiston (10 William H.), born June 29, 1862, in Henderson County, Illinois; was reared in Monmouth, Ill.; was graduated from Monmouth College, 1886; received his theological education in the Seminary at Xenia, Ohio; married Jan. 11, 1893, Minnie Elizabeth Harsha who was born Aug. 8, 1866. His doctor's degree was conferred on him by his Alma Mater, 1917; his first pastorate, of almost eleven years, was in the United Presbyterian Church at Cherry Fork, Ohio. Then for about six years he was pastor of the Fairview Congregation, Butler County, Pennsylvania. Receiving a call from the Struthers Congregation (Youngstown, Ohio), Dr. McQuiston began the pastorate Apr. 1, 1907, continuing nearly eight years. The nice stone church, in which the congregation worships, was erected under his supervision; also the funds to meet all indebtedness were provided for before dedication. Later he was business manager of Westminster College, for more than three years. Dr. McQuiston's fourth and last pastorate was the United Presbyterian Church at Cochranton, Pa., continuing almost nine years. This completed forty active years in the ministry; he retired and now lives in New Wilmington, Pa.

Dr. McQuiston was moderator of the Second Synod in the United Presbyterian Church for the year 1900; outlined and illustrated, some years ago, the Westminster Confession of Faith and published it in book form. 1. JAMES MCQUISTON, brother of David and Hugh (tradition only), born 1730-35 in County Antrim, Ireland; landed in South Carolina, in 1772, with David. The information from the State and County Records regarding him is found in the introduction to this group. He was one of the Trustees of the Brick Church in Chester County, South Carolina, in 1791. In this same county are recorded bonds, dated Jan. 23 and May 6, 1799, which are equivalent to a will. The bonds concern sums to his granddaughters. He probably died in 1799 and is buried in Hopewell Churchyard, South Carolina. He married and the children were born in Ireland; he is in the Census of 1790, Camden District, South Carolina; three females, two boys over sixteen, both born before 1774. We have no information of his wife. In the family of his son Andrew in the 1800 Census is an elderly woman, possibly his mother. Valuable data have been furnished by Mrs. Emma Hayes Pope, Mrs. Edward C. Rader, Miss Margaret Jane Reynolds, and Mrs. Myrtle Wilson Rankin. The entire South Carolina families have been substantiated by a search of State and County Records, old letters, old burying-grounds, and available family records. Children:

2. i. ANDREW, b. 1761; m. 1793; d. June 20, 1821.
12. ii. MARGARET, b. 1762; m.; d. May 26, 1834.
iii. DAUGHTER, b. 1763; m.; d.
13. iv. DAUGHTER, b. 1765; m.; d.
14. v. HUGH, b. 1769; m. twice; d. Nov. 1, 1836.
vi. WILLIAM, no record.
25. vii. DAUGHTER, b. 1771; d.

The 1790 Census indicates that there were other daughters following Margaret. The Meek Genealogy says that Jean, born about 1778, daughter of James Meek, married Mr. McQuiston and lived in Macoupin County, Illinois. The Meek Genealogy goes on to say that another daughter, born in 1780 in South Carolina, married Mr. Chestnut and moved to Kentucky.

2. ANDREW MCQUISTON (1 James), born in Ireland in 1761; came to America with his father in 1772; married in 1793, in South Carolina, Jane or Jennie McQuiston (1 David), his first cousin who was born in 1769, in Ireland. This was verified by a letter from Hugh to William Hugh, the letter being in the possession of Dr. J. A. C. McQuiston, all of whom are in the family of David. Andrew made his last deed in Fairfield County, South Carolina in 1805; he took his family to Ohio in 1806, the same time his Uncle David and the Caldwells removed there from South Carolina. They settled in what is now Preble County, then a part of Butler County, and all a part of what was once known as Cincinnati District. He died June 20, 1821, aged sixty years; she died June 30, 1844; both are buried in Hopewell Churchyard, Preble County, Ohio. The birth record was sent by Mrs. W. H. Rankin; other records are from individuals, tombstones, and from a copy of the Bible record in Matthew Henry's Exposition and Commentary, dated 1828, owned by John Sloan. Children:

8. Jane (Jennie) McQuiston (2 Andrew), born May 12, 1802, in South Carolina; was married Aug. 20, 1820, in Preble County, Ohio, by Alexander Porter, V. D. M., to Nathan B. CALDWELL who was born 1798, near Newberry, S. C., son of William and Martha (Brown) Caldwell. He was drowned, June 21, 1823, in the Miami River, three miles north of Hamilton, Butler County, Ohio. He had been working on the roads and went into the river above the dam for a swim. Another man bantered him to swim across the river. He started but sank when about halfway over. She married second, also in Preble County, Aug. 13, 1827, Thomas McDill, born 1802, in South Carolina. She died Feb. 20, 1849. Children:

i. Andrew "McQ.," b. Sept. 30, 1821; unm.; d. Oct. 12, 1844.

ii. Mary, b. Feb. 21, 1823; m. July 9, 1845, in Preble County, Richard Sloan, M.D., who was born Dec. 28, 1808, and died Feb. 14, 1884; she d. Jan. 19, 1908. Their oldest daughter, Jane E., born July 4, 1846, married Dr. J. W. Harris and died July 27, 1937, in Los Angeles. A son, Richard E. Sloan, an attorney, was Governor of Arizona, having gone to that state in 1884; he died Jan. 15, 1937.

9. DAVID MCQUISTON (2 Andrew), born Feb. 24, 1806, in South Carolina; was taken to Ohio that same year; was known as "Little Davy or Little Uncle David." He married Sarah Elizabeth McDill who was born June 19, 1809, and died July 27, 1846; was married second, Oct. 24, 1850, by John T. Scouller, M. G., to Nancy G. Foster, widow of John G. Foster. She was born Feb. 2, 1819, and died Jan. 16, 1870. He died Oct. 1, 1872, having lived practically all his life in Preble County. He named one son for his father and one daughter for his mother. Their fifth child, William McKee Rankin, born Jan. 20, 1868, married May 14, 1908, Myrtle Wilson, great-granddaughter of Archibald Wilson and Martha McQuiston (2 William).

12. Margaret McQuiston (1 James), born 1762 in County Antrim, Ireland; was brought to America when about ten years old; married in Chester County, South Carolina, James BLAIN who was born in County Antrim. Their tombstones in Hopewell, the Covenanter Cemetery, Chester County, read: James Blain died Nov. 1, 1832, in his 73rd year. Margaret Blain died May 26, 1834, aged about 73 years. Children:

i. Jane, b. 1793; m. James Strong; d.; buried in Hopewell, Chester County.
ii. Margaret, b. Feb. 12, 1795; m. Samuel Sterling; she d. Dec. 18, 1871; buried in Hopewell.

v. Elizabeth, b. 1803; m. Robert Boyd; d. 1882.
vi. Andrew, b. 1805; m. Jane Sterling; d. 1892.

13. Daughter McQuiston (1 James), born in 1765, according to deductions from the family of James in the Census of 1790. Hearsay says she married William Stevenson, and probably he was the one in Xenia Township, Greene County, Ohio, in the 1840 Census. This man was born 1750-60. Tradition goes on to say that there was a son, William Stevenson, who died at Oxford, Ohio. The census records William Stevenson born 1790-1800, in that county.

14. Hugh McQuiston (1 James), born 1769, in County Antrim, Ireland; was but a few years old when his father landed in Charleston, S. C.; married twice, the name of the first wife being unknown. There were two sons and two daughters and we have a partial record of them. He married second, Mrs. Agnes King, maiden name unknown, widow of Rev. William King who arrived in South Carolina in 1792, and died Aug. 24, 1798, aged about fifty years, and is buried in the Brick Churchyard, Chester County, South Carolina, along with three other ministers who had been pastors there. On his arrival, Rev. Mr. King settled on the south side of Beaver Dam, near Mt. Prospect Church, on the plantation now (1922) owned by Mrs. Backstrom. Rev. and Mrs. (Agnes) King had two daughters: Agnes King, born Jan. 3, 1797, died Sept. 4, 1868; she married John A. Cooper who died Feb. 18, 1854, in the 64th year of his age; they are buried in Tarbox Cemetery, Cedarville, Ohio. The other daughter, Sarah King, born Sept. 2, 1798; married Archibald McClurken; they went to Illinois. Hugh and his family left South Carolina for Ohio in 1832 with the Rev. Hugh McMillans. This date has been given by some of the family. "Notes by the Elders" says: "Rev. Hugh McMillan was born three miles west of the Brick Church and in 1828 he and a portion of his people went to Xenia, Ohio." At any rate, Hugh McQuiston either went with Rev. McMillan or joined him a few years later. Dr. Lathan in his History of Hopewell wrote: "Many members held demits signed by Peter McMillan, the pastor in Ireland."

Hugh died Nov. 1, 1836; Agnes, born before 1775, was living with her son, William King McQuiston, in Xenia, in 1850; both are buried in Tarbox Cemetery, Cedarville, Ohio; her grave is not marked, tradition says she requested this. Burials in Woodland Cemetery, Xenia, began about 1851, some earlier, and bodies were moved there later. We could find none belonging to this family; some of the name may be buried in Massie's Creek, an old Seceder Cemetery beyond Wilberforce, Greene County, off the road. Children, from Bible record:

i. JAMES, b. Apr. 20, 1794; unm.; d. as a young man.
ii. JANET, b. June 12, 1796; d.

Bond recorded 3 Mar. 1803. Book 3, p. 126. Fairfield County, S. C.

William married, about 1791, Jane Chestnut who was born in 1770 in Ballymena, County Antrim, Ireland. She was the daughter of Jeanette Brown and David Chestnut who served all through the Revolution. Her tombstone in Hopewell Cemetery, now known as Union, south of Sparta, Ill., reads: "Jane McQuistion Died July 31, 1852 Aged 82 years. Her husband Wm. McQuiston Died 1800 Fairfield County, South Carolina."

In the 1800 Census for Fairfield County, South Carolina, is Jane McQuiston, born between 1755-74; a man same age; a woman born 1774-84; and a girl and a boy born 1784-90. Jane, widow of William, migrated to Christian County, Kentucky, probably with the Chestnuts, Meeks, Stephensons, and Wilson. The following was extracted from the records by the compiler and checked with Kentucky Land Grants by Jillson. State Land Grants—1797-1861. South of Green River: McQuestion Jane 100 A, Bk. 6, p. 366. Date of Survey 10-10-1807. Christian County.

Elk Fork of Red River No. 8587. McQuestion Jane 150 A, Bk. 8, p. 447. Date of Survey 9-1-1807. Christian County. Elk Fork of Red River No. 8222. Kentucky Land Warrants: McQuiston William 14 A, Bk. M, p. 44. Date of Survey 12-28-1822. Todd County. Rameslick Creek No. 7936. McQuiston William 4½ A, Bk. Y, p. 310. Date of Survey 5-29-1823. Todd County. Rains Lick Creek No. 14115. Part of Christian County became Todd County in 1814. Todd County Grantor Records: A 53. Jane McQuistion to John G. Hollingsworth being the contents of two patents granted to Jane McQuestion Afs. of William Stanard bearing date 1809 & 1810 as may be seen by recourse to the patents—250 Acres June 12, 1820. Wits., James McQuiston, Jeftha Hollingsworth. Book F, p. 157, shows that on 19 Oct. 1829, she sold the "land where she now resides." Page 158, same book, same date. William sold his 14 acres on Rains Lick Creek; both sold to Garland McAlester. A few days later the records show a transfer of land from James McQuiston.

Christian County Deed Records: Bk. C, p. 180: Sarah Chestnut and James Chestnut were appointed administrators of the estate of Alexander Chestnut, deceased. The property involved was 400 acres on waters of Elk Fork of Red River. He was, presumably, the same Alexander Chestnut who was one of the administrators of William McQuiston's estate in South Carolina. The records of the county name the Meeks, Cunninghams, and Matthew Wilson. Several of the family marriages are recorded in the county.

Jane and her sons joined the colony in Preble County, Ohio. In 1829 Jane with part of her family left Ohio for Randolph County, Illinois. Her son, William, went to the state of Mississippi later.

The Atlas of Randolph County, Illinois, by W. R. Brink, in the account of its Old Settlers, gives a history of the McQuiston Family and mentions both William and his wife who "was formerly Miss Jane Chestnut." The history also says that William served all through the Revolution.

A lengthy recital of relationships by a descendant indicates that William was a son of James of the preceding line. Mrs. Pope sent a chart showing a William as the youngest of the family. William must have been of a different family or not the youngest, if a son of James. Children:

2. i. James, b. Feb. 15, 1792; m. Feb. 1, 1816; d. Dec. 13, 1855.

13. MARGARET MCQUISTON (1 William), born Oct. 18, 1798, in Fairfield District, South Carolina; was married Mar. 10, 1835, in Preble County, Ohio, by Nathan Brown, J. P., to Archibald McDill who was born Nov. 23, 1798, in Chester District, South Carolina; he died Aug. 26, 1878; she died Aug. 11, 1879, both in Randolph County, Illinois. Margaret had no children but Archibald had been married first to Miss Brown, sister of Joseph and John Brown. They are buried in Union Cemetery, near Sparta. It celebrated its one hundredth anniversary, May 30, 1930. Archibald and Rev. David McDill, pastor of Union from 1849 to 1856, were sons of David McDill and Isabel McQuiston (1 David). Archibald had a son Nathan B. who was born Aug. 14, 1852, and died May 2, 1893, whose son Everett has been helpful in gathering dates from the tombstones in Union Cemetery. Everett wrote that his grandfather migrated from Morning Sun, Preble County, Ohio, in 1844, that they traveled with two wagons; lived in log houses, and neighbors were far apart.

14. William McQuiston (1 William), born about 1800-1; received warrants in Christian County, Kentucky, for two small parcels of land which he sold before leaving for Ohio at the time his mother and brother sold theirs in 1829. The Todd County Records, Book H, p. 106, show a transfer to the firm of McQuiston & Scott, namely William McQuiston and Samuel H. Scott, July 12, 1833. A Todd County History says that he was in business there in 1832 and after a few years he received an appointment as inspector of tobacco for the Port of New Orleans and marshal of the Aberdeen District of Mississippi by Zachary Taylor. At this time he sold his business and moved south; resided at Pontotoc, Miss., where he was married to Miss Malinda Clark, daughter of Solomon and Sally (Watkins) Clark of Nashville, Tenn. She had two children, and died.

After the death of his first wife, Col. William McQuiston, as he was known, removed to New Orleans; was appointed marshal of the Northern District of Mississippi under President Pierce; removed to Aberdeen, Monroe County, Miss., where he bought a prairie plantation and went to live in a house made of logs hewn out of native timbers; his crop was cotton. Later he built a commodious home called "Prairie Lea," famed for its hospitality. In this home his children were born and the daughters were married in the big double parlor, the wedding breakfast or supper, whichever it happened to be, following. He married second, May 1, 1845, probably in New Orleans, Mrs. Sarah Sophia (Holder) Herndon who was born Sept. 22, 1819, in Richmond, Madison County, Ky. She had one son, Prentiss Osborn Herndon. William died Feb. 28, 1857; his widow died Feb. 24, 1875, both at Prairie Lea. Children:

18. Harriotte Jane McQuiston (14 William), born Mar. 20, 1850, Prairie Lea, Monroe County, Mississippi; taught music before her marriage, which occurred about 1875, to Capt. Samuel J. Shields (Army) who was born in 1846 at "Sherwood," Lowndes County, Mississippi, son of Commodore Shields of the U. S. Navy. Capt. Shields was the author of a book and several short stories. They went to live in Vernon, Ala. He died Feb. 5, 1921; she died Sept. 6, 1928; buried in Columbus, a town near Aberdeen, Miss.

19. Dunbar Holder McQuiston (14 William), born Apr. 24, 1852, at Prairie Lea, Monroe County, Mississippi; was educated in the schools available, and began his business life in Aberdeen, the county seat, about the time of the overthrow of the carpetbag rule in Monroe County. In this he played his part.

He was successful in his business career as cotton buyer, planter, and fire insurance agent, being patient, resourceful, and tireless; yet he held of more account than material wealth, God, the Church, his family, friends, and the large clientele who depended upon his fidelity and business ability. He was unyielding in principle, original and forceful in thought and action. He hated cant, triteness, and confused thought; loved music and beauty and grace in nature, literature, and art; was a racontuer and delighted in repartee and the bonmot. He liked best a dies sine cura out-of-doors with dog and gun or fishing rod. He served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Public Schools for twenty years or more, and as president of the board for five; as member of the vestry and treasurer of St. John's Church for thirty years.

The following words are engraved on his tombstone:

> Honor he lived and duty; life he loved
> And all the beauty of home and field and sun;
> God's finger touched him; now he dwells where beauty,
> Honor and duty, life and love are one.

He married Feb. 23, 1881, Mary Louise Haughton who was born Oct. 11, 1857, daughter of Chancellor LaFayette Haughton (Major C. S. A.) and Sarah Pricilla Brownrigg. She died Apr. 19, 1904; he died Dec. 17, 1919; both in Aberdeen. Children:

i. CLAUDIA BROWNRIGG, b. Nov. 18, 1881; m. Apr. 2, 1918, George William Edgerly who was born Nov. 5, 1880, near Gilmanton, N. H. He was a Major in the U. S. A. Regulars of the World War. In 1930 he entered Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C.; she has a position in the Library of Congress.

1. Hugh McQuiston, born about 1731 in County Antrim, Ireland, was the third of the South Carolina group who were believed to be brothers. The age at death is the only means of reckoning the date of birth, Hugh evidently being the oldest. In 1896, Dr. J. A. C. McQuiston compiled a chart in which he said the three brothers arrived in 1772. The records show that David and James arrived that year. If Hugh came then he did not petition for land, though he was entitled to do so. We find in the same records—the State Grants of South Carolina—that William and Andrew received Grants in 1786-87.

They seem to be sons of Hugh, though there is nothing but circumstantial evidence to show that William was a son. Proof that Andrew was a son is shown in the Deeds of Fairfield County, Vol. N, pp. 160-2, when he sold his 100-acre Grant to William's son, Andrew. The signatures and witnesses were sworn to on the 19th Nov. 1799. Andrew and his family left South Carolina in 1801 for Crawford County, Pennsylvania. The Crawford County family says that Andrew arrived in Charleston in 1794 and that his son, Hugh, was born eight miles from the city that year.

In Old Hopewell Churchyard, Chester County, South Carolina, is an old tombstone reading: "Hugh McQui- / ston Departed / this life Augt. 18th / A. D. 1794, Aged / 63 Years. / Martha / McQuiston / Departed this / life August 17, / A. D. 1794, Aged 61 Years."

Possibly they arrived that year, the sons having come earlier, and the date of their death has been confused as the date of arrival of Andrew. Martha, daughter of William, arrived in 1778, according to Mrs. Rankin. This would mean that William arrived that year. William and his wife died in South Carolina, and his descendants began to go west into Tipton County, Tennessee. It is thought that there were other brothers.

There is a tradition in the Cumberland-Westmoreland County family that some of the early comers migrated to South Carolina and that they are our (the compilers) distant cousins. There is a corresponding tradition among the family of William; namely, that their ancestors traveled overland from Greencastle, Franklin County (once a part of Cumberland), Penn.

A letter from 136 Andrew J. said: "They were Scotch-Irish and Presbyterians and settled in South Carolina. All were slave owners and, being Covenanters, came to the conclusion that it was wrong to traffic in souls whom God had created as free as they were themselves, so freed their slaves." He wrote further: "the different branches of the name in Western Pennsylvania resemble each other in looks, actions, and given names." The assumption that William is a son of Hugh is open to correction. Children:

2. i. William, b. 1753; m. 1772; d. Oct. 1797.
78. ii. Andrew, b. 1763; m.; d. Nov. 19, 1830.

2. William McQuiston (1 Hugh?), born 1753, in County Antrim, Ireland; married there in 1772, Ann Murdock who was born in 1756, a daughter of Robin Murdock (Mrs. Rankin). She, Ann, had a brother Andrew, who was drowned just before he was to be married (Mrs. Castles). The story of the marriage of Archibald to his first cousins, who were first cousins to each other, as told by Mrs. Castles in a letter to Ed. H. McCuistion in 1896 was followed by the comment: "So great grandfather had two brothers who were married." However, if William was a son of Hugh (and not a brother of Hugh, James, and David), Archibald married his cousin once removed, not his first cousin, when he married Mary (McQuiston) Murdock. Mrs. Castles continued: "Archibald had only one daughter, she was by his first wife. She married and moved to Tipton County, Tennessee, nearly seventy years ago. I saw one of her daughters, too, recently and she told me about the relationship of his first and second wives." William's age does not lend to the idea that he was a brother of David and James but a nephew as he would be if he were son of Hugh.

We have already stated the occasion of the first appearance of the name of William in the records. His name was on the first bench of elders, 1791, for Hopewell Church.

William died October 1797, in his 45th year; Ann died June 9, 1829, in her 74th year; both are buried in Hopewell Churchyard, Chester County, South Carolina, their graves being marked. William died intestate, Andrew, Archd., and Ann were administrators. Ann's will, Roll 40, package 620, follows:

> 'Chester District, South Carolina. In the name of God Amain. I ann McQuiston of the district aforesaid being weake of body but of Sound Judgment do make my will and Testament in the form and manner following—first Bequeathing my Soul to God and my body to be decently interred at the Discretion of my Executors . . . 2nd I leave and Bequeath to My sons Hugh, William, and Andrew at my deseas all my right, part, or claim to the Estate I am now Invested with and also all money, Debts, goods, Chattles or heredittements whatsoever. 3rd I leave my body cloths to be divided Amongst my daughters at the Discretion of my Executors. 4th I leave to any other person or persons claiming or to claim one dollar. Lastly I appoint Mr. Robert Strong and Mr. Alexander Jamison both of little River as Executors of this my last will and Testament and I do Revoke and Renounce any other will or wills, acknowledging this my last will and Testament whereunto I have set my hand and Seal this third day of July one thousand Eight hundred and twenty nine. AN McQUISTON.

In presence of us James Mordock, James Strong, Robert Strong.

The old grand-aunts whom Mrs. Castles interviewed before she wrote her letter repeated the information given by A. J. of Pittsburgh, that: "They were strict Covenanters and their views on slavery caused them to leave the South." Most of the descendants of William went to Tipton County, Tennessee, all having left South Carolina by 1857. Children:

3. i. Mary, b. Aug. 3, 1773; m. twice; d. May 23, 1832.
4. ii. Martha, b. May 1776; m. Jan. 1796; d. July 12, 1838.
5. iii. Jennet, b. 1778; m.; d. in Indiana.

52. vii. Andrew, b. 1790; m. twice; d. Oct. 25, 1867.

3. Mary McQuiston (2 William), born Aug. 3, 1773, in County Antrim, Ireland; married 1795-1800 Robert Murdock. She was married second, Mar. 26, 1811, by Dr. Furman, to Archibald McQuiston (1 David) who was born February 1759, and died Oct. 2, 1827. She died May 23, 1832. He, too, had been previously married to a cousin who was also a cousin to Mary. The wills of Archibald and Mary in the Probate Court of Chester County, South Carolina, left money to Baptist Churches. They are buried in Hopewell Churchyard. Mary had no children.

4. Martha McQuiston (2 William), born May 1776, in Ireland; was brought to the United States in 1778 (Mrs. Rankin); married January 1796, in Chester County, South Carolina, Archibald WILSON who was born May 16, 1766. His tombstone in Chester County, S. C., reads: "In Memory of Archibald Wilson who died 5th July 1820, aged 54 years, 1 month, and 19 days." He was a son of John Wilson who was born 1738 in Belfast, Ireland, and Jennie Guy. Archibald, with the Rev. William Blackstock, embarked Sept. 25, 1792, on the "Irish Volunteer," landing, Dec. 25, 1792, in Charleston, S. C. John Wilson came to the United States later; died in 1812, in South Carolina, and was buried in Old Hopewell. Archibald was buried in the same cemetery. All were members of Hopewell Church.

On Nov. 20, 1836, Martha, with her two younger daughters, her sons John, Hugh, and Robert began a journey to a new home in Tipton County, Tennessee. The son, Rev. John Wilson, had been called to Salem Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church as its first pastor. They reached their destination, Jan. 3, 1837. Martha died July 12, 1838, was buried in Salem Churchyard, and presumably her funeral sermon was preached by her son. Children, born in South Carolina:

i. William, b. Mar. 23, 1737; m. Margaret Jamison who was born Jan. 25, 1804, and died May 28, 1872; m. second, Lydia Baird who was born May 1, 1824, and died Mar. 18, 1896; he d. June 11, 1890.

43. Robert McQuiston (34 William), born Feb. 7, 1820, in South Carolina; moved to Tennessee with his father probably; was a farmer; both he and his eldest sons were deacons in Salem A. R. P. Church. The following narrative is by Mr. S. O. Huey: "Robert was a man of more than ordinary piety, as is illustrated by the following incident. In the neighborhood where Robert lived most of his life, there lived a widow of moderate circumstances, who one season found herself in need of a few bushels of corn for horsefeed to finish her crop. Knowing Mr. McQuiston had corn, she sent her son, a lad in his 'teens, to see if she could buy or borrow the needed corn. Mr. McQuiston told the boy his Mother could have the corn but could neither buy nor borrow it. When she sent for the corn, insisting that she either pay for it or return corn for it in the fall, he positively declined to allow her to do either—saying it would be inconsistent with his morning and evening devotions to the Almighty Giver of all Blessings wherein he was accustomed to remember the Widows and Orphans and he thought it a duty as well as a pleasure to GIVE the Widow the corn—which he could spare."

He married in 1851, Mrs. Mary (McLister) McHenry who was born May 17, 1826, in South Carolina, and died Jan. 28, 1887, in Tipton County, Tennessee. The older sons were born in South Carolina. iv. GERTRUDE, b. Nov. 20, 1896; m. Rufus Arch'd Little of Corsicana, Texas; has twin sons, Arch'd and Arthur James Alva.

77. MARY LYNN MCQUISTON (75 Andrew J.), was born in 1878, in Drew County, Arkansas. "As a student at Due West, S. C., Female College, about 1898, she left South Carolina for her home. She made arrangements for her father to come to Nashville to attend the Centennial and accompany her home. They were to meet at the Maxwell House. Mary arrived from South Carolina in the morning. Uncle McQuiston should have arrived an hour later, but his train was delayed and he did not arrive until late in the afternoon. Mary waited all day long in the Hotel and in the afternoon met friends from her home town, joined them and left for home, passing her father's train on the outskirts of the city. Mary left no note at the Maxwell House office and as she had not registered, there was no record of her ever having been in the hotel. Mary was unaccustomed to travel and knew nothing else to do. Uncle McQuiston was just as ignorant of the ways of the world and sent no telegram home. He reported the whole thing to police headquarters, it got on the Associated Press wires, hence the report that a McQuiston girl had been 'spirited away'. Mary's remark on the occurrence was 'Didn't I get into the newspapers!'" (Account by Mrs. Mary Hemphill Greene, Abbeyville, S. C.)

Mary Lynn married J. G. WHITE, a contractor at Longview, Texas, now deceased. She died in 1917, at their home. Child:

i. JESSIE MAY, m. Rolla Abernathy.

78. ANDREW MCQUISTON (1 Hugh), born in 1763, in County Antrim, Ireland; came to the United States in 1794, as tradition has it. It may be proved that he was Andrew of the 1786-87 South Carolina Grants. He left South Carolina for Pennsylvania in 1801, arriving in Crawford County, which was then Allegheny County. They traveled in wagons to Pittsburgh and on horseback to the McLanahan place near Adamsville. C. W. McQuiston wrote that Andrew was naturalized in 1801; also that he was accompanied to Pennsylvania by a brother who settled in Westmoreland County. This has not been verified as the Westmoreland settlement had been made some thirty years earlier while it was still Bedford County. Andrew received his title to 200 acres, section 817, West Fallowfield Township, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, June 19, 1805. This land was first granted to William Campbell, Oct. 1, 1797, deed delivered to Andrew McQuiston, assignee of William Campbell.

The Census of 1790 does not record an Andrew McQuiston in any state; the 1800 records Andrew in Fairfield County, and, also in Fairfield County, Alexander who cannot be identified. Alexander may be an error and Andrew was intended to be recorded, the families do not check. It will be remembered that James of Fairfield County had a son, Andrew, who went to Ohio about 1806. The Census of 1810 shows Andrew in Crawford County, Pennsylvania. There is nothing for Ohio or for that part of the state, until 1820, and Andrew is in Preble County.

The Murdocks were closely associated with the family; it will be remembered that Ann, wife of William McQuiston, buried in Hopewell, Chester County, S. C., was Ann Murdock. In the old cemetery at South Shenango, Pa., is a headstone reading: "Hugh Murdock / died Oct. 15, 1842 / aged 79 Years." A note on the margin of David Steel McQuiston's old Bible reads: "Hugh Murdock born in Ireland about 1757—in 1771 married Mary Bonner."

Andrew married Elizabeth McClurkins who was born, 1770, in Ireland. Tradition says the first two children were born in Ireland and the third, Hugh, about eight miles from Charleston, S. C. There are Guys, Elliots, and Chestnuts in the early records of Charleston County, so perhaps Hugh was born there. Andrew died Nov. 19, 1830, in his 68th year; Elizabeth died Aug. 29, 1844; buried in South Shenango Cemetery. The dates of birth of Andrew and his wife and of most of the children are computed from the headstones, no family record being found.

79. i. MARY, b. 1788-89; m. 1809; d. Sept. 21, 1853.
80. ii. MARTHA, b. 1791; m. 1810; d. 1877.
81. iii. HUGH, b. 1794; m. 1821; d. Feb. 13, 1867.
100. iv. ISABEL, b. 1796; m.; d. Apr. 13, 1838.
101. v. ROBERT, b. 1798; m. 1826; d. Aug. 24, 1870.
110. vi. JOHN, b. Sept. 1800; m. 1829; d. Mar. 16, 1883.

154. xi. Nancy, b. Sept. 14, 1813; m. 1840; d. Oct. 27, 1854.

79. Mary McQuiston (78 Andrew), born 1788 or 1789 in Ireland; married 1809 in Pennsylvania, John BLAIR who was born in 1779; she died Sept. 21, 1853; he died Oct. 8, 1853, in his 74th year. There were six sons and five daughters born in Pennsylvania. We have the record only of those who are buried with their parents in South Shenango Churchyard, Crawford County, Pennsylvania. Children:

i. Elizabeth, b. Dec. 27, 1809; unm.; d. May 30, 1879.
ii. Hugh, b. 1812.
iii. Margaret, b. 1814.
iv. Jane, b. 1820.
v. William, b. 1825.
vi. Robert, b. 1828.
vii. Andrew, b. 1832; d. July 8, 1844.

80. Martha McQuiston (78 Andrew), born 1791, in Ireland; married in 1810, in Pennsylvania, Robert Blair who was born in 1785 in Ireland, and died Mar. 4, 1854; after his death she lived with her brother, Hugh; she died in 1877. No children. Dr. Hugh Hervey preached at Hartstown for over thirty years with South Shenango as one of his charges part of the time. Andrew J. of Pittsburgh, wrote: "Dr. Hugh Hervey, who was from the same county in Ireland as Andrew came from, when officiating at the funeral of Martha, remarked that the McQuistons, the McClurkins, and the Blairs were the best people in or out of Ireland."

81. Hugh McQuiston (78 Andrew), born 1794, in South Carolina; went to Pennsylvania with his parents in 1801. This is the Hugh said to have been born eight miles from Charleston, which seems to be an error as his father's land was in Fairfield County. He married in 1821, Eliza Guy who was born Apr. 23,

1792, at Nettlebush, County Antrim, daughter of James who died Jan. 18, 1853, aged 83, and Margaret Guy who died Sept. 26, 1821, aged 56, who are buried in the Churchyard along beside Hugh and Eliza who died Feb. 13, 1867, and July 4, 1868; buried in South Shenango, United Presbyterian Churchyard. Children, born near Hartstown, Crawford County:

82. i. Hugh Murdock, b. July 15, 1823; m. twice; d. May 1, 1867.
ii. Andrew, b. Dec. 21, 1824; unm.; d. Feb. 1, 1850.
92. iii. Mary Ann, b. Mar. 29, 1826; m. Oct. 4, 1866; d. Sept. 26, 1909.
iv. William James, b. Nov. 9, 1827; unm.; d. Dec. 30, 1837.
93. v. John B., b. Oct. 9, 1830; m. Apr. 15, 1861; d. July 17, 1912.
vi. Infant Son, b. and d. 1831.
vii. Robert W., b. Feb. 1, 1833; unm.; d. July 17, 1855.
95. viii. David Steele, b. Nov. 11, 1834; m. Oct. 28, 1858; d. Nov. 15, 1915.

82. Hugh Murdock McQuiston (81 Hugh), born July 15, 1823, near Hartstown, Crawford County, Pa.; married June 1850, Elizabeth Elliott who was born in 1830, and died Sept. 22, 1864, aged 34 years. He married second, Jan. 3, 1865, Mary Jane White who was born Sept. 25, 1837. Hugh Murdock died May 1, 1867. After his death Mary cared for his family until Mar. 4, 1875, when she married David L. Barackman who was born Apr. 28, 1830. He had children by a former wife and his daughter became the wife of James Guy McQuiston, thus Mary Jane became stepmother to both James Guy and his wife. Mr. Barackman died Jan. 11, 1921; Mary Jane in 1932. Children, born to Elizabeth:

83. i. James Guy, b. Mar. 12, 1851; m. Sept. 16, 1875; d. Dec. 24, 1913.
ii. Charles, b. Mar. 13, 1852; unm.; he went to Los Angeles in the middle 80's and died in California; was a builder; ran a sliver into his wrist which caused his death, Sept. 1918.

Other Lines

1. THOMAS MCQUISTON, born 174—, in County Down, Ireland, is the earliest in this line for whom we find dates. Tradition carries him back three generations, viz.: "Two brothers, Bryce and Thomas, left Scotland on account of religious troubles in 168—. Together they bought the halftounland of Ballyskeagh, Barony of Castlereagh, Estate of Lord Hartford, County Down, Ireland." Ballyskeagh is eight miles from Belfast and three miles from Lisburn on the old Malone Road, in Lambeg Parish. The river Lagen runs through the farm. "The families of the original brothers continued to hold the farm, sometimes together, sometimes separately, until it came into the possession of the above Thomas." A chart compiled by Sarah Ann, Bryce, Thomas (born 174—), brings the descent through Bryce of the original brothers, the next generation being Thomas, the next Bryce, and then Thomas. If we had the record of the three earlier generations, it would add greatly to the lineage, and in time the data may be found which will identify the original Bryce as one we have already located in Scotland.

Thomas, born 174—, had a brother Bryce, and sisters, Isabella who married J. Stuart, and Martha; married in 177—, Agnes (Nancy) Fulton of Mossvale. She was born in 1756, and died 17th Oct. 1785, aged 39 years. He married second, Sarah Turner by whom he had two children. "Sarah McQuiston died on the 3rd Aug. 1843, at Ballyskeagh, near Drumbridge, in the ninety-second year of her age" (from the Banner of Ulster). Thomas was still living when his grandson, Bryce, was born on the farm in 1826; is buried in "Drumbridge (or Drumbeg)," in the parish churchyard which was once a part of the farm. The dates, which could be deciphered, were transferred to another stone by his son Bryce. The farm was divided between the two sons, after which Bryce, being the older, bought out his brother Thomas, and the latter came to the United States in 1843. He was followed in 1848 by the children of Bryce. Children, born on the farm:

2. i. BRYCE, b. 1775; m.; d. Jan. 22, 1848.
28. ii. THOMAS, b. 1781; m.; d. Sept. 28, 1851.

v. John, was killed Aug. 1826, by being thrown from a horse.
vi. Maria, bapt. July 16, 1790; date is from the parish register of "Drumbo"; m. John Shaw; no children.

2. Bryce McQuiston (1 Thomas), born in 1775, at Ballyskeagh; married Martha Margaret Thompson. The register for Drumbo, a neighboring parish to Lambeg, contains the record: "Jas. Thomson (Bhatty), daughter Margaret Baptised Apr. 8, 1789." Bryce died at Ballyskeagh, 22 Jan. 1848, aged 73 years, and is buried at Drumbeg. His widow came to the United States with her son Bryce and the other children; is buried in Pittsburgh, Pa. The date of her death is on the stone with her husband—"Also his wife / Martha McQuiston / Died 8th February 1859 / Aged 70 years." Children:

1. WILLIAM MCQUISTON was born Nov. 30, 1787, according to the date on his monument. He told the census-taker in 1840-50 and 60, Decatur County, Indiana, that he was born in Tennessee and the ages he gave make his birthyear vary from 1785 to 1789. A granddaughter wrote, "My Father and his family lived in Grandfather's home until I was twelve years old. Grandfather died about this time, and I have heard him say that he was born in Ireland, and came to this country when he was eight years old, with his parents and a little sister, and his Father's two brothers. Soon after he arrived, his father, mother, and sister died, and he became separated from his uncles. He was taken to Tennessee, Kentucky, and Indiana." He married Sarah (Samantha?) Gullion who was born in Kentucky Jan. 28, 1794, and died May 11, 1869. He died Sept. 18, 1872, in Decatur County, Indiana. His grandson, John S., contributes this summary of the family: "They have been pioneers, not a roving gypsy type, but when once settled in a real home were community builders. Ever industrious and unmilitary, not over-pious, but strong for justice and law. Only the rarest exceptions committing any unlawful act, yet they would stand in self-defense. Their pioneer migrations until recent years often or almost entirely handicapped education which was no doubt neglected seriously for one hundred years after the Revolutionary times. Their word of honor in business always at par, a resourceful financier, yet a good spender." Children, and one died in infancy:

1. Thomas McQuiston, of "Lark Hill", Kiltinny, Coleraine, County Derry, Ireland, born in 1768, probably on a farm called "Cave Hill" on Port Rush Road; once owned this farm and probably inherited it from his parents, whose names are not known. His grandson, Matthew Black McQuiston, is authority for the statement that his ancestors took part in the siege of Londonderry, having gone to Ulster with the "Plantation" of that territory. Thomas married Martha Black who was born in 1772, and died the 2nd of August, 1844, aged 72 years. They were members of the Presbyterian Church, either First Coleraine or that of Ballywillan, which is in the Parish of Aghadewey.

Martha had a brother, Matthew Black, whose property was inherited by his sister's children. Thomas died the 14 Nov. 1843, aged 75 years. He and his wife and seven of their children are buried in the neighboring graveyard, "Ballyaugherton", Parish of Coleraine, Derry County. The grandson, Matthew Black McQuiston, wrote also that William was a family name among the McQuistons, that he had an uncle and also a granduncle, William. Not any of the dates of birth of the children are known, after William, Paul, and Robert, the other seven are given in order as they appear on the gravestone. John died in the East India Service. Children:

2. i. William, b. 1792; unm.; d. 1852.
3. ii. Paul, b. 1799; m.; d. July 9, 1854.
iii. Thomas, d. aged 25 years.
iv. Sally, d. aged 38 years.
8. v. Matthew (on stone), b. 1804; m. 1836; d. aged 34 years.
13. vi. Robert, b. 1806; unm.; d. Nov. 6, 1881.
vii. Mary, d. aged 3 years.
14. viii. Margaret, m. Mr. Orr; d. aged 32 years.
ix. John, d. aged 35 years.
x. Martha, d. aged 84 years.

2 and 13. William and Robert McQuiston (1 Thomas) were men of high character and religious disposition. They controlled the property inherited from their mother's brother, Matthew Black. Their country home was "Adelaide Lodge" near Randalstown in County Antrim, where William and Robert lived as country gentlemen until the death of the former, which occurred about 1852, at the age of sixty years, according to old family letters.

The old letters state that Robert then went to Belfast, because he had uncles there. He appears in 1852 and 1854 directories, at 4 Cumberland Pass. John, Thomas, and others of the Ballyskeagh McQuiston family are in the directory for this year. We have no record nor further tradition to trace relationship. The earliest directory in the Public Library of Belfast is for 1819 and in it is James McQuiston, Joiner, Hamilton Court. The next directory is for 1835 and there is James McQuiston, Upholsterer, 61 Green St. He is not identified. The next directories are for 1842-43 and in them appears Bruce (Bryce) McQuiston who can be identified as the Ballyskeagh Bryce. Next are the 1852-54 and from then most every year's book is in existence.

In 1868, Robert's residence until his death is given in the directories (also family letters) at 2 Colin View Terrace, in Balmoral, off Lisburn Road. This section is now a part of Belfast. Neither Robert nor his brother William were married. The old letters state that the latter is said to have had red hair.

Robert used most of the fortune in religious work, his will states that he was carrying out the wishes of his brother's will. Very small bequests were left to members of the family. At his own request he was buried in the vault with his pastor and the tablet states that he had been a member of Dr. Knox's Church, Linenhall, nearly forty years. A current clipping from a Belfast paper reads: "Robert McQuiston resided in Belfast many years. The church at the Spa and its manse and schools were built in part and maintained entirely at Mr. McQuiston's expense. He erected schools in Donegall Pass for the congregation of Linenhall Street (now known as Crescent Presbyterian Church) with which he was connected."

The following, copied from the tablet in Windsor Church, Belfast, completes the story of his work. "This Church was erected by the trustees of the late Robert McQuiston, Esq., a member of Linenhall Street Congregation, who besides bequeathing various sums to other religious and charitable objects, left the residue of his estate amounting to over £6000 'to build a church in Belfast, in connection with the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Ireland.' Mr. McQuiston was an humble consistent Christian, and during his lifetime a generous supporter of the Presbyterian Church. He died 6th November 1881. And this Church was opened for public worship 27th March 1887."

3. PAUL MCQUISTON (1 Thomas), born in 1799, was a farmer living at "Lark Hill", Kiltinny, near Coleraine, County Derry, Ireland, and there all his children were born; married Jane Miller who was born in 1800, and died August 1872, aged 72 years. Paul died 9th of July 1854, aged 55 years. Their daughter Sarah and son Thomas and his wife, are recorded on a stone next to that of the elder Thomas. Dates of births of the children are from the family Bible. Children:

7. ELLEN MARY MCQUISTON (3 Paul), born May 16, 1843; married first, Robert Reid of Ballylease, who "fell asleep on Sabbath morning, July 21, 1878, aged 51 years." She married second, William Porter who died Sept. 8, 1920, aged 77 years. Ellen Mary died May 23, 1921, aged 78 years. The record is from the gravestone in Ballyaugherton.

8. MATTHEW BLACK MCQUISTON (Matthew only on stone) (1 Thomas), born in 1804, as near as we can compute; owned and conducted a stage-coach line from Belfast to Coleraine; married in 1836, Margaret Courtenay, who was born in 1816, in County Antrim, the third daughter of Sampson Courtenay and Ruth (Freeman) Courtenay of Randalstown. The Courtenays were a Devonshire family of French descent. Matthew B., died aged 34 years is what is on his tombstone. Old letters say that Matthew Black McQuiston died nine months after the birth of his son, which would make his death in the year 1838. In 1850, Mrs. Margaret McQuiston married Dr. Thomas Hesketh Bently by whom she had a daughter. Mrs. Bently died in 1873, at Adelaide Hospital in or near Dublin, aged 57 years. Child:

1. Andrew McQuiston, born about 1770, is buried in the Churchyard of Connor which is in the village of Kells, near Ballymena, County Antrim, Ireland. Seven of the old graves can be located but no stones mark them. The Misses Armstrong tell that it was he who built the old home at Appletee, which is near the town of Slaght; they tell also that he married Mollie Crochart. Andrew was a farmer. John, born 1857, says that his great-grandfather was a cattle raiser and took fancy cattle to the fair in Ballymena for prizes. Children:

The members of this group, consisting of William, John, Alexander and Robert, were born in the Townland of Lislane, Parish of Balteagh, County Derry, Ireland.

There is no knowledge of the parents other than that they or their ancestors were born in Scotland and were among the first to break away from the Church of England; that the father belonged to the County Yeomanry and that the mother lived to be one hundred and four years of age. The county records at Wilmington, Del., U. S. A., show that in 1797, in the town of Carrick, same townland, parish and county as above, lived William McQuiston and his wife Mary who had been Mary Hutchinson.

County records of Wilmington, Del., give these facts: "On the 10th of June, 1797, William McQuiston and his wife Mary of the town of Carrick, parish of Balteagh, executed a power-of-attorney to her brother, John Hutchison, of Lislane, parish of Balteagh, County of Londonderry, Esq., giving him authority to take charge of and settle the estate of her brothers James Hutchinson and Robert Hutchinson who died during November and December 'who died within five miles of Newcastle in America, leaving behind them sundry goods and effects to a considerable amount.' The document is signed by William McQuiston and his wife, Mary, and witnessed by Jeremiah Andrew and John Boyle on the above date.

"On the 16th Sept. 1797, Jeremiah Andrews appeared before Jacob Broom, Notary and Fabellion Public for the State of Delaware at Wilmington, with the above Power of Attorney and made affidavit that he saw William and Mary McQuiston sign, seal, and deliver said power of Attorney, that he saw John Boyle sign it as witness, that he is well acquainted with Mary McQuiston and believes her to be sister of said James and Robert Hutchison. This document is signed by Jacob Broom, Notary, and witnessed by Jeremiah Andrews and Quod Allestor. Recorded Nov. 28, 1797."

The following history from the Irish Presbyterian throws a little light on the settlers of Balteagh: "Balteagh Congregation celebrated its Centenary, May 20, 1924. In the part of North Derry known as the 'Roe Valley' the parish of Balteagh covers an area bounded on the west by the River Roe, on the east by the mountain chain which links Ben Bradagh and Keady, and extends northward to within less than three miles of Limavady. In the eighteenth century the Scotch and English Puritan settlers of this district went to Limavady and worshipped in Drumachose Church, one section of which is still known as the Balteagh Wing. They were first under the care of the Presbytery of Route and then under that of Newton-Limavady when that Presbytery was formed in 1834." The second minister of Balteagh was Rev. Wm. D. Wallace, B.A. Names of others who held positions as elders, percentor, etc., were Loughery, Smith, and Douglass, these names being common in this group. To Rev. Joseph McKee, the present minister, the compiler is indebted for help.

It is thought that there were other brothers in this family and that two of them migrated to Canada and went into lumbering and ship-building. Tradition says there was one brother Edward (Adam) who remained in Coleraine and lived to be ninety-three or ninety-four years old.

Of Hugh, another brother, who settled in Philadelphia, nothing definite is offered. There is in the old Philadelphia directories, Hugh, a weaver, who appears in 1846 to 1851 inclusive. He lived on Amber, above Phoenix, which was in Kensington, a textile district. Hugh appears in the Census of 1850, probably the same Hugh, born 1812 (see Appendix). We take up William first.

1. James McQuiston migrated to Butler County, Ohio. His grandchildren say he was born in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania; that he had worked on the canal in that county; that he had been a carpenter and cabinetmaker; also that his children were born in Westmoreland County. He and his wife died in 1819 in Butler County, Ohio, of cholera or yellow fever. The fact that Butler County was once a part of Cincinnati District, which embraced a considerable part of the state, has probably given the idea that James once owned land which is now the heart of Cincinnati. The following documents were copied from the records. Testamentary Records of Butler County, Ohio:

> Book 1, p. 442. November Term, 1819. Peggy McQuiston, an Orphan Minor. Be it remembered that on application the Guardianship of the person and estate of Peggy McQuiston an Orphan Minor of the age of 12 years one of the daughters and heirs at law of James McQuiston late of the county aforesaid deceased is hereby committed unto James Cummins until that the said Minor shall arrive at the full age according to the form of the statute in such case made and provided the said Guardian with John Cummins and David Bigham his surities having given bond in the sum of one hundred dollars.

Book 2, p. 157. March Term, 1825. Butler County, Ohio. Eli McQuiston an Orphan Minor of the age of 16 years on the ninth day of Nov. last a son and an heir at law of James McQuiston late of the County aforesaid deceased is hereby committed unto Robert Jones until said Minor shall arrive at the age of twenty one years . . . the said Guardian with Aaron Jewell his surity having given bond to the State of Ohio in the sum of one hundred and ten dollars.

AMOS McQUISTON

On the 30th day of April, 1898, Amos McQuiston was found dead a short distance from his residence which was located about one and a half miles from the little town of Heidenheimer in Bell County, Texas. It was clearly evident that he had been decoyed from his home for the purpose of robbery and then had been brutally murdered. The assassin had used a shot gun which had been heavily charged with buckshot.

The harmless old man had lived the life of a hermit in that neighborhood for a period of twenty-seven years. When he first located in that community he followed the occupation of a country mason, or a chimney builder. By industry and economy his savings accumulated until he was able to purchase the splendid farm home of 200 acres where he lived and died. During all the twenty-seven years he lived on that farm, he made no effort to cultivate friendships or to invite intimate acquaintances. He kept his own counsel and, beyond vague references to North Carolina as his native state, incidental allusions to a son who was living in Galveston or at some other point, so far as his associates know, or believe, he had never been in communication with either family or friends.

A temporary administrator in the person of Judge R. A. Baggett was appointed to take charge of the home and farm until rightful heirs could be found. Notices appeared in the public press which were widely copied in neighboring and even more remote states. Amos McQuiston at once became a "mystery man." His life, habits, and reticence, together with his property interests, which were grossly exaggerated, had the effect of setting all the old ones among the McQuistons to guessing and prophesying as to who Amos was and to what branch of the numerous family he belonged.

This discussion brought to light many very interesting and even romantic stories which abundantly manifested the prevalence of the Highland spirit of individualism which is still breaking out ever and anon, even in the now far off branches of the family.

Suggestions of heirship came from several sources, but generally the disappearance of some erratic ancestor or collateral kinsman was the basis. There were two claimants that seemed to stand out in somewhat bolder relief than the others.

One of these was Robert Lee McQuiston, who succeeded in establishing his claim with a degree of certainty that made him an easy victor. The other claimant, if he could have established his heirship, would not have excluded Robert Lee, a known son, but would have established the existence of another son by a previous marriage. There were many circumstances that point to just such a conclusion, but the task of connecting these up with facts, which were essential if a valid claim was established, became seemingly hopeless. If Amos McQuiston was the father of an Iowa claimant as well as of Robert Lee, then he was a member of a branch of the McCuistion family who lived in Dandridge, Tennessee, though their forebears had lived in both Pennsylvania and North Carolina. To have belonged to this family would also have involved a change of name from Andrew Jackson McCuistion to Amos McQuiston. If on the other hand, Robert Lee was the one and only son of Amos, then the old man probably belonged to one of two North Carolina families who spelled their names just as he did. (See Appendix.)

There is such a general propensity among people everywhere to grope after mythical fortunes and lost estates that the writer now and here takes occasion to say that he was personally cognizant of many of the facts and circumstances connected with the death of Amos McQuiston and can give his personal assurance that all property rights in connection with the winding up of his estate were duly adjudicated by a court of competent jurisdiction and there is no unclaimed estate over which future claimants or litigants need think nor contend. The mystery life led by Amos was not only the cause of the man's death, but also the confusion which arose in connection with his estate. How much better it would have been if he had settled all these questions by a frank, full, and explicit will made years before the call of death.

Sometime after Amos McQuiston was murdered, an indictment was returned by the grand jury of Bell County against a man toward whom the finger of suspicion pointed from the beginning. Upon a final trial a conviction was had and a sentence of life imprisonment imposed. After only a few years in prison the alleged assassin followed his victim across the river of death.

APPENDIX

JOSEPH MCQUISTON appears in the 1790 Census in Mechlingburg County, Salisbury District, North Carolina. No data of family nor age. He entered 82 acres of land in the above County and State 17th day of Nov. 1790, "on the waters of Twelve Mile Creek." Recorded in the State Grants at Raleigh in Book 76, p. 216. He sold it to John Secrest, 30th June 1798, for 65 pounds lawful money of North Carolina, recorded in Book 15, p. 143, of the County Records at Charlotte. He entered also, 4th Mar. 1794, 100 acres of land in consideration of the sum of Thirty shillings, "on the waters of twelve mile Creek joining his own land," recorded in the State Grants, Book 114, p. 202, and in Book 17, p. 89, of the County Records; he sold this to the same John Secrest the 29th July 1802 for 30 pounds, recorded Book 18, p. 10, of the records. The latter deed names wife, Hannah; both deeds are signed

Joseph X McQu*e*st*o*n.

He is not in the Census of 1800 as the head of a family.

Marriage Bonds, Mechlenburg County, N. C.:

Joseph McQuiston Isbel McWilliams	2 day Feby. 1797.
Thomas McQuiston Sally Stephens	11 Dec. 1815.	David McCullum James Dennis Wm. Minson Jess Alexander.

The Census of 1810, Mechlenburg County, North Carolina, Capt. Bozzel's Company. Joseph McQuesten and female, probably wife, both over 45 years old; 1 male child 10-16 years old; 1 female child 10-16 years old; 2 females 16-26 years old; one slave. This male child was possibly Thomas who was married in 1815.

There is no further trace of the family.

WILLIAM MCQUISTON of Hillsborough, Orange County, North Carolina, is listed as head of his family together with one female, probably his wife, and one slave in the first and second United States Census, and in both 1790 and 1800 he is said to be "between 26 and 45." He was therefore born between 1745 and 1764. We find no records of any children and none of him after the Census of 1800. He was on a marriage bond in 1789 which seems to be the earliest date referring to him.

The County Records indicate that he was a merchant in the town of Hillsborough. He received a land warrant from the State dated Feb. 28, 1795, for 165 acres in Orange County on waters of Newhope, for which he paid the State "50 shillings for every 100." The warrant specified that it would be void if not registered in the Registrar's office of Orange County within 12 months from date of patent which was granted 13th June 1798, Book 7, p. 445.

Also in Book 5, p. 620, we find that on 21 May 1795, William sold John Strayhorn 85 acres in Orange County off a "tract entered by said McQuiston in 1794 for consideration of 7 pounds and 10 shillings."

Then in Book 7, p. 284, we find William sold to James Watson 100 acres of land for 100 Spanish Milled Dollars and the right to freely cut firewood on lots 2 and 44 in Hillsboro, owned by Watson and where McQuiston then lived. This deal was dated 10th June 1798, and two months later: Book 7, p. 246. On 26th August 1798, William bought above mentioned lots Nos. 2 and 44 from James Watson, Jr., for $1000 cash (These lots contained one acre each).

In Book 8, p. 99, we find: William sold his "Messuage" containing 85 acres to John Strayhorn for Seven Pounds, North Carolina currency, on August 24th 1799. Also in Book 13, p. 320, we find William sold a Negro Boy to Hugh McAdams on 15th Sept. 1798.

Above sale to Strayhorn of his home seems to have been his final business transaction in Hillsboro land. Before that we find he became indebted to Robert and Walter Colquhoun of Petersburg, Virginia, in the sum "330 pounds Virginia money" and as documents show that William was a "Merchant" of Hillsboro and that Robert and Walter Colquhoun were Merchants and Partners of the town of Petersburg, Virginia, we readily surmise that William was indebted to them for goods, such as he sold in Hillsboro. And William seems to have reached about the end of his resources early in 1799 for in Book 7, p. 469, we find he gave his Bond, whatever that may have meant at that time, to the Colquhouns and at the same time 19th April 1799, he turned over his Hillsboro 2 acres—Lots 2 and 44 to one Callet (Caleb) Campbell to be later sold by him at auction to satisfy said debt of 330 pounds to the Colquhouns and, having paid William McQuiston 5 shillings to legalize said deed of trust, it was stipulated that should there be a residue after payment of debts and costs and 6 per cent interest, such residue was to revert to said McQuiston.

NOTE: The Hillsborough settlement was from Pennsylvania and they were from County Down; the town was named for the Earl of Hillsborough. North Carolina was once a part of Virginia.

EXPLANATION

After the record of the head of the family, is the record of his oldest child; then the oldest of his children and so on; as each branch is finished the next younger is taken up, thus keeping each branch of the family to itself.

The record of the male line is traced as far as possible; the female lines end with the children of the daughters and whom they married.

The name printed in parenthesis, after the head of the family, shows the father of that person.

With a few exceptions, only those who have children are given a number and carried forward; the repetition of their number identifies them.

Only family names are indexed.

Last names of the children are not printed; surnames of husbands of the daughters are printed in capitals.

The following abbreviations are used:

b.	born
bapt.	baptized
bur.	buried
d.	died
div.	divorced
dau.	daughter
l.	lived
m.	married
ph.	parish
res.	resides
unm.	unmarried
